THE TINY PORT already has dealt a body blow to its nearest California neighbor, San Diego, and has sliced sizable chunks from revenues at Long Beach and Los Angeles.

Ensenada, it appears, will be the export port for most of the Mexicali-area cotton from now on. Until the past several years, this cotton was divided among the three Southern California ports, with San Diego getting the lion's share.

For example, Long Beach and Los Angeles together handled 217,000 bales of Mexican care of 195,000 bales.

By 1958-59, the L.B.-L.A. share had dwindled to 37,000 the bales-while San Diego clung to 100,000 bales. Even this is far more than any of the

L.a.C. Says: Is It a Slave Law?

The Taft-Hartley law is called a slave bill by some labor leaders. Walter Reuther has accused the President of strike-breaking because the law has been inyoked to delay the waterfront and steel strikes.

It is doubtful many of the steel workers will feel as bitter about it as do the labor leaders. It means the President will appoint a board of inquiry and that the attorney general will ask for an 80-day injunction to send the workers back to their jobs. Sixty days later if an agreement has not been reached, the two sides must put their positions in writing. These statements will be made public.

If no agreement is reached the NLRB calls for a secret ballot of workers in each company as to whether they wish to accept the last company offer. This the law and go back to work can take only 15 days. Within the next five days the jif ordered by a federal court his action in invoking the ing position when the time dling and of desecrating a President must certify the results of this election to to do so. the Attorney General. If no agreement is reached the injunction will be dissolved and the strike can be resumed.

Union leaders call this-the Taft-Hartley law-a slave law. But when a deadlock occurs which is endangering the whole economy and the welfare of the union members, it is clear it is needed. It provides a cooling off period and above all, it permits the members to express themselves through a secret ballot. It takes the decision out of the hands of a few union leaders and places the decision where it

Many other union-management contracts are being held up awaiting settlement of the steel strike. The nation is facing a critical period when millions of other workers will be unemployed. The steel shortage is showing up in construction projects, appliances, and automobiles. Any product that uses a piece of steel may be put out of production at any time.

Use of the Taft-Hartley law is a test. If it does not work in these strikes it is evident some much more drastic law must be enacted. The whole free enterprise system is at stake. This applies to unions as well as management. If it is found necessary for government to step in and set the terms of settlement it will be the end of our system. It has been done during war periods as a temporary measure. But if it is adopted as policy during a peace period it will never be relaxed.

The American people are facing one of the most serious economic crises in history. Unless management and unions settle the present strike without government making the settlement, we may be faced with a serious recession. If government makes the settlement we are faced with government operation of unions and industry. The T-H law is the last hope of workers and industry to settle their issues without one or both of these disasters.-L.A.C.

Egg-Hurling L.A. Monkey Plaquing Boston Airport

BOSTON (AP)-Hope was abandoned Saturday night for the early capture of an egg-throwing monkey that fund, whiled from the nose of a DC6 air-freight plane into the building. steel framework of a huge hangar at Logan International Airport officials said the sprightly little critter has quieted down some but still is taking an occasional potshot at hangar employes with pigeon eggs. It bombarded everyone who came in range Friday night.

The monkey was discovered Friday in the nose of the $2,725,000,000 apportioned toair-freighter from Los Angeles. It fled into the hangar after evading capture in the plane.

Efforts were made to love it down from its lofty perch with bananas and other choice tidbits, but the little beast seemed satisfied with its diet of eggs stolen from pigeon nests in the hangar.

Hunters finally gave up the quest and placed a baited cage in the hangar hoping the visitor would walk in.

Sam Rodia Built Well, i'is Towers Defy Torture Test

The Waits Towers successfully passed their "torture test" Saturday afternoon.

The tallest of the seven structures withstood a 10,000-pound lateral pull at a specified height above the ground, thus meeting the requirement set by the city's department of building and safety.

A cable was attached to the 104-foot tower and a truck pulled away as a stress indicator showed the load being applied.

The test revealed that the tower could stand up against the pressure of a 70-mileper-hour windstorm.

THAT WAS ENOUGH for the building and safety men who had promised they would drop their attempt to have the towers torn down if they could withstand Formal action to drop the condemnation proceedings is expected Oct. 19 when a hearing on the towers, built over a 30year period by Italian immigrant Sam Rodia, is scheduled.

The tower, built of broken bottles, cement, steel, dishes, seashells, and pieces of tile, underwent the tests earlier Saturday, but after five or six preliminary pulls, a on the seven towers at 1765 E. 107th St., Corp., of Decatur, Ala., sent continued.

An estimated 1,000 persons lined the had remained closed since streets to watch the test, which was con- early Friday when the autoducted by Norman J. Goldstone, with representatives of the city present.

Jack Davis, of 1758 E. 10th St., said he and most of his neighbors were happy with the result of the test, because they felt the towers should be permitted to stand.

"Mr. Rodia put real good steel and cement in those towers," said Davis, who has lived in the neighborhood since 1945.

"HE ORDERED CEMENT by the ton while building the towers. They've lasted through some pretty good carthquakes since they were built.

Rodia, 81, now living in Martinez, built the towers as a tribute to America. He came here from Italy and spent nearly 30 years on the project.

Nicholas King and William Cartwright, the present owners, contend the towers are good examples of "folk art" and intend to open the structures as an art exhibit.

Drug Used to Detect Addicts

Program Designed to Keep Parolees From Return to Heroin

State parole officers, using a drug to fight a drug, last week ordered Nalline shots for 100 Southland narcotics parolees. Nalline injections expose heroin users.

Officers singled out parolees from Los Angeles County to serve in an experimental test group. They thus launched the first phase of Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown's pilotmodel program to prevent the re-addiction of former drug

The injections, first of a series to be given by doctors to narcotics parolees, brought immediate results, including:

—A tipoff as to which of the parolees were using heroin again. Two of the tested parolees were being hooked again, and confessed taking heroin when con-fronted with "positive" Nalline test results.

-Sent sickly shivers down the spines of the South land's needle-and-dope set. Nalline can make an addict violently ill. Nonaddicts are not harmed.

-Spurred hopes that the injections may be the key and prelude to a breakthrough to an effective statewide narcotics addiction control program.

LONG BEACH POLICE and other law enforcement agencies in the past have ordered Nalline injections for narcotics suspects. But this marks the first time state parole officers have used the drug.

The two parolees who flunked the injection test were exposed when Nalline caused their eye pupils to grow wider. The pupils should contract if no heroin has been

The two re-addicted parolees were whisked off to the Chino Institution for Men in San Bernardino County for specialized treatment and therapy

They will be hospitalized until side effects of heroin have waned, then placed in a special narcotics therapy section under counselors and a psychologist, Psychiatric help also will be summoned if needed.

A 40-bed section of the Chino layout has been reserved for narcotics parolees who flunk the Nalline shots tests. The parolees will get treatment for up to 90 days

WHY THE EMPHASIS on parolees?

The governor's plan assumes the crucial time for rehabilitation of an addict is right after his release from prison. If he can be watched closely, given psychiatric help and Nalline treatment he is less likely to resume the

Before earmarking $125,000 for the experimental program, state lawmakers studied the operation of an Alameda County program of Nalline shots in Northern Califorma. Only 5 per cent of the Alameda patients violated parole, compared to a statewide rate of 33 per cent.

Los Angeles has the second highest narcotics addiction rate in the country, but only one-fifth of those arrested are convicted. The constant headache of parole and narcotics officers; detecting whether a former addict has gone

One other obstacle to strict supervision of addicts in California has been the heavy caseload of parole officers Most parole officers are assigned 70 to 75 active cases. and have to budget their time carefully to give extra attention to former narcotics addicts and other problem

Under legislative provisions for the experimental narcotics parolee control program, specially-trained officers handle only 30 narcotics parolees.

Robert E. Seabridge, narcotics project administrator, said the first control unit was set up Monday in East Los Angeles, and 100 cases assigned to it. A second control unit later will be based at Huntington Park.

Ten parole officers completed a special one-month training course before being assigned to launch the new program in East Los Angeles. "It will be some time before ce can appraise the full effectiveness of the new program, but frankly we are optimistic," said Seabridge.

"No other state to my knowledge has tried such an extensive program with Nalline injections," added Sea-

If the pilot-model program scores a success, it is expected to be extended to the entire state. No parolees from the immediate Long Beach area are involved yet.

Heat Hits 600 Degs.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) Scientists who trained special telescopes on a space rendezyous between two heavenly bodies a few months ago reported Saturday night they've learned how warm Venus is.

About 60 to 100 miles above the planet's surface, the temperature averages around 30 degrees fahrenheit while it may be as warm as 600 degres at the surface.

Harvard University astronomers and other scientists figured this out after recording the second eclipse of a star by a planet in the 350year history of the telescope

THE ASTRONOMERS scat tered throughout the world in special teams last July 7 to watch the eclipse of the bright star Regulus by the planet Venus. It gave man his first direct look at what the upper atmosphere around Venus is like.

They used special telescopes to observe the rare event from points in Europe, Africa and the Middle East.

The eclipse lasted about 11 minutes and observations made at the Peridier Observ atory in France were espe cially helpful.

The scientists, led by Prof Donald H. Menzel, also made some discoveries about the density of the atmosphere surrounding Venus. They learned that the density-be ginning about 60 to 100 miles above the surface—decreases outward about 10-fold every 9 miles, as compared to earth where the atmosphere diminishes 10-fold about every 12

SOME WITH THEIR OWN BUILT IN SPONGE OR FOAM RUBBER PADDING

By BEN ZINSER

What causes aging? The underlying factor, one researcher believes, is that less oxygen reaches tissues later

The theory is that of Dr. Ross A. McFarland, professor of environmental health and safety of Harvard School of Public Health. He says studies of mountaineers and highaltitude fliers show many similarities between behavior of healthy individuals suffering from temporary oxygen lack and those who are experiencing sentlity.

The similarities include slowing of muscular responses and reaction times, impairment of sensation and the loss of memory and insight.

WHEN AN ATHLETE grunts or groans, he may be improving his performance, says Dr. Michio Ikai, professor of physiology at Tokyo University. Explanation: the athlete cracks the psychological barrier.

Reporting to the Pan American Congress of Sports Medicine, Dr. Ikai said performance of strength may be restrained by psychologically conditioned inhibitions. These inhibitions, he says, result from an association of pain with the expression of strength. One example: warnings of danger imposed by overprotective parents in childhood.

A shout or grunt sometimes may relieve the athlete's inhibitions and thus improve his performance.

ECLAMPSIA IS A CONDITION marked by convulsions and coma and occurs in some women who are pregnant or who have just delivered. Its cause: unknown.

Migraine is a severe periodic headache, accompanied by nausea, chill and disordered vision. Cause: unknown. It appears now that among women patients there may be a connection between the two conditions.

A team of researchers reports in Obstetrics and Gynecology that among 221 women patients with migraine, almost 7 per cent experienced eclampsia. In another study of 88 women with eclampsia, 17 per cent were found to be migraine sufferers. Conclusion: Women with migraine may be predisposed to eclampsia if they become pregnant.

UNUSUAL GRANT: $200,000 from National Institute of Mental Health to California Department of Public Health to develop scientific methods of determining the drinking habits of Californians. The study is the first of its kind in the nation.

WHEN A LITTLE ALCOHOL is added to the drinking water of laboratory rats, the level of cholesterol (fatty substance) in the blood decreases significantly, the American College of Physicians has been told. Does this mean that a nip a day might keep the heart doctor away? (High cholesterol is believed to play a role in the onset of heart attack.) Unfortunately the study has been restricted so far to animals; results in man may be different.

SMOKE-SMOKE-SMOKE that cigarette, and you'il reduce your lung capacity, lock in more stale air. That's the finding of University of Minnesota physicians who checked 221 middle-aged men, 47 to 57 years old, in Minneapolis and St. Paul. Annals of Internal Medicine reports details of the research project.

SO YOUR BABY eats like a pig. Think nothing of it. The Journal of Nutrition reports that baby pigs eat like human babies.

NEW DEAL FOR WHEELS

How About Bikeway?.

WASHINGTON (UPI)-Sen. Strom Thurmond, somewhat of a fanatic on physical conditioning, would like to impart some of his robust health to the rest of the country.

The South Carolina Democrat likes the fact that the United States is a nation on wheels. Only he would prefer to see more two-wheel bikes.

"I might introduce a bill in the next session," Thurmond said, "to recommend that states establish bicycle paths next to the highways to encourage exercise.'

The 56-year-old senator likes to bike himself but at the present considers it a hazardous undertaking. "People get killed now riding on the highways,"

Riding a bike is only one form of exercise for Thurmond, who goes all out to keep in shape and a distance of three miles. "Recently," he said, "I decided to see how far I could jog. I wound up jogging the whole distance."

For instance, the senator walks to work every day,

Veteran Leader To Be Back in Ranks With Salvation Army Band Tonight

By HERB SHANNON

There will be a slight change in the parade order when the Salvation Army band marches up to 4th St. and Pine Ave. for its weekly street corner concert tonight. Bandmaster Charles R. Newman won't be out in front as

Saturday night Newman marked his 69th year of volunteer musical service by retiring again.

"I quit about 12 years ago in Scattle, but it didn't take," the veteran band leader explained. "They couldn't find a steady replacement."

This time the retirement was complete with ceremony, including a testimonial dinner in the Lafayette Hotel, a tribute by Lt. Col. William J. Parkins, Southern California Salvation Army commander and other honors from some 100 bandsmen who have played under Newman's direction.

MAJ. HOWARD SLOAN, commander of the local corps, noted that the occasion was the second time the bandmaster has laid down the baton in Long Beach.

Newman was leader of the Salvation Army band here from 1928 to 1934, when he in 1947. Previously he had a bricklayer. been baritone horn player and

Birth control and legalized abortions are turning the tide. Abortions cost only 80 ents to $3, or sometimes $5. More than a million are performed each year. Last year, for every three infants born, we wives had abortions. Many Japanese are not appy about the high abortion ate, says Minoru Tachi, diector of the Institute of Population Problems in the welfare ministry. It's hoped many abortions can be avoided through greater spread of birth control information, TODAY JAPAN is the only nation in Asia, and one of the few anywhere, which has hecked its fast-rising birth rate. Worldwide, population still is increasing by about 100,000 daily, Zooming population created particularly serious problems for Japan, a nation of already crowded islands hard hit by war devastation and unemployment.

In 1945, Japan had 72 million people. Today it is 92 million, a 30 per cent inrease. Total population would perhaps be 100 million or more if it were not for birth control measures adopted seven to eight years ago, ľachi explains.

Now Japan's population is rowing at the rate of only per cent a year, and Tachi your invitation ...

THANK YOU!

please accept ours...

We recently asked you to write for an invitation to the opening of our new bookshop on Saturday, October 24th. Frankly, we're just astonished at your response. Although we had decided to open our second bookshop, THE BIXBY KNOLLS BOOK FAIR anyway . . . we simply never dreamed that your interest would be so wonderfully satisfying and exciting.

We're delighted, of course.

We consider this response a bona fide community invitation, a warm way of saying "Glad to have you with us." We are very happy to accept this invitation.

In good neighborly fashion we want to invite you, all the residents of Long Beach, Lakewood, Artesia, Los Alamitos, Bellflower and other surrounding communities to our shop-warming on Saturday, October 24. We'll be open all day, from 9 A.M. to 6 P.M. at 4228 Atlantic Avenue in Long Beach.

Come visit with us for a little while . . . we want to meet each one of you personally . . . come and see our new store (and our intriguing stock) . . . have a refreshing drink with us . . . meet our visiting guest authors . . . browse awhile, visit with old friends . . . but above all, COME IN and let us thank you for "inviting us into your community."

There will be books by the thousands, big and little books . . . hardbacks and paperbacks . . . picture books and books without. Children's books and books for adults. Serious books and ones to laugh with . . . you'll find books here for every taste and at

And finally, there'll be us. We are pretty nice folks with an especially warm feeling for books (and people who love books). When you feel like a friendly browse session, come have it with us . . . you'll be very WELCOME.

EX-MISS INDIANA-Mrs. David Tallichet Jr. now teaches third grade at Buffum School.

If your grade school teacher was about as pretty as an eraser, you should have waited.

Many of today's blackboard belles combine beauty with scholarship. Here are two fascinating examples from the rosters of Long Beach Unified School District.

AT LEFT is the blonde Miss Indiana of the 1954 Miss Universe Pageant. Cecelia Ann Dennis of Miland, Ind., is wed to David Compton Tallichet Jr., manager of the Lafayette Hotel. She teaches third grade at Buffum School.

Bending a neat knee at right is the former Judith Ann (Judy) Ware, Miss Welcome to Long Beach of 1955, whose pageant assignment was to make lovely visitors like Cecelia Ann feel at home. Judy last summer became the bride of James W. Edson, son of Mrs. Winfield Edson and the late Dr. Edson.

City Leaders Think Threat Not Critical

By GEORGE WEEKS

Flooding of back-beach areas along the city's recreational strand is more an occasional nuisance than a critical

Its solution will require some long-term planning and probably a vote of the electorate as well as approval of the state,

These are the conclusions of city officials responding to a Chamber of Commerce proposal that the beach level be elevated prior to construction of parking lots and other shoreline improvements.

Some flooding occurred as recently as Oct. 2, particularly in the section east of Rainbow Pier, including the narking lot between Linden and Alamitos Aves. The damage was small, City Engineer Jess D. Gilkerson reported.

Generally, the east beach is filled near the shoreline to an elevation of plus-9, which means nine feet above the average of low water over a 10-year period.

THE BACK-BEACH area is some two or three feet lower, but under normal tidal conditions it is protected by the shoreline embankment.

Occasional flooding occurs from a combination of extremely high tide and heavy ground swells. Along the back beach the water rapidly soaks away.

A tremendous amount of sand would be required to fill all the back beach-reaching at many points as far as 500 feet from shoreline - to the plus-9 elevation, Gilkerson said. He could not immediately estimate the cost because it is not now known where suitable material could be found.

"It is oblivious that this project would involve considerable cost both from the Tideland Oil Fund and the General Purpose Fund," said a report by City Manager Sam

"Furthermore, the project would no doubt require a ote of the people authorizing the expenditure of tideland funds for this purpose, as well as approval by the State Lands Commission.'

AS FOR the immediate installation of a parking lot east of Cherry Ave., Vickers pointed out that the plan contemplates a plus-10 elevation, along with the construction of a sheetpile barrier protect against crosion.

The Cherry Ave. lot is the subject of a public hearing set for 9 a.m. Thursday before the City Planning Commis-

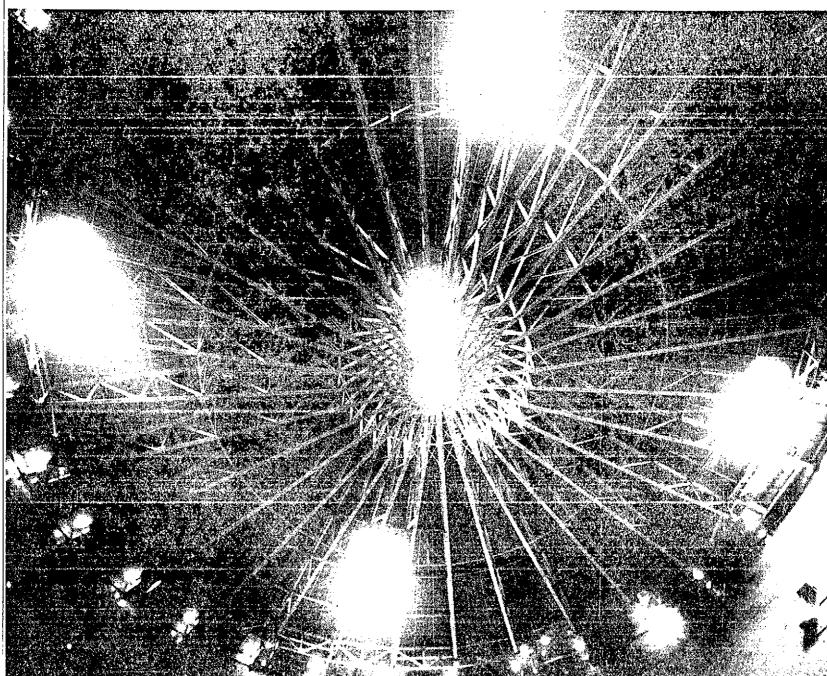

The city manager's report also commented on another hamber recommendation that arrangements be made for proper disposal of surface water from streets bordering the beach.

Three storm drains carry upland water to the northerly edge of the beach at the foot of the bluff. They are oppoisite 9th Pl., Molino Ave. and Redondo Ave. Only during periods of heavy rainfall is any appreciable amount of water deposited on the sand, Vickers said,

"TO EXTEND these drains beyond the water line would necessitate supporting the drains across the sand area on piling," his report added. Such a structure would be both unsightly and hazardous o swimmers. Furthermore, the drains would always be subject to clogging by sand deposits."

Carrier Hornet

The support aircraft carrier USS Hornet arrived Saturday at Berth 23, Pier 2, of the Long Beach Naval Shipyard from a six-month deployment in the Western Pacific. The carrier, commanded by Capt, M, W, White, will remain at the shipyard until Nov. 9 for repairs to gas tanks and other equipment.

A giant wheel of steel which will help to compress gas in a record-sized holder under construction by Long Beach Gas Department provided this unusual camera angle for Staff Photographer Chuck Sundquist. The holder-214 feet in diameter and 171 feet high-will have a capacity of 5 million cubic feet of gas. With an accompanying compressor plant, the project south of Carson St. near the Honor Farm will cost $2,500,000, with completion scheduled at year's end. A control panel will open and close gas valves up to two miles from the plant as an operator dials coded signals.

Triumph for Moderation

THEIR POST-WAR taste of socialism was enough, apparently, to last Britons indefinitely.

For the third straight election, they have affirmed their confidence in the Conservative government and turned aside the ultra-liberal Labor party.

This week's election was, in fact, an overwhelming victory for Harold Macmillan in the tradition of the landslide victories for moderate Republican Dwight Eisenhower in this country in 1952 and 1956.

THE CONSERVATIVE victory is significant to America because it means that the government of America's chief ally in the cold war remains a friendly and agreeable one with aims and methods similar to

In the grand design of world politics, it is a triumph for moderation and a defeat for radical concepts that lead down the road to communism and into the hands of Nikita Khrushchev.

BRITAIN SINCE THE WAR has given a fair test to two opposing philosophies of government. The Labor party's Socialists were allowed to show what could be accomplished through nationalized industries and generous welfare programs. The nation grew hard up and went on the financial rocks. The Conservatives took over and brought back stability and good times. Since the Conservatives came into power, Britain has built 2,000,000 new homes and increased its flow of TV sets, refrigerators, and other consumer goods. The Macmillan government in the recent campaign promised further industrial expansion and prosperity but not at the cost of inflation.

IT WAS HARDLY an exciting program, but it made more sense to British voters than Labor's promises to renationalize the steel industry, nationalize other industry, take over key industries which fail to perform satisfactorily, and provide more pensions, more free medical treatment and, believe it or not, free prescriptions, All of this with a reduction in taxes, of course!

But the voters were having no more of the pie in the sky.

A LABOR VICTORY would have meant some radical changes in foreign policy, Laborites favor military withdrawal from Central Europe and, consequently, a weakened North Atlantic Treaty Organization. They want Red China in the United Nations. They advocate a "give and take" attitude toward the

British voters apparently thought that the Labor party put a bit too much stress on the "give."

Politicos Sounding Out Potential V-P's

By ROBERT E. LEE

WASHINGTON - Kocha Popovich, Yugoslavia's Foreign Secretary, who is visiting Washington, has been the butt of some good-natured kidding about both his surname and his early career as a poet in Paris. As for the name, which is far more common than Smith is in Anglo-Saxon countries, he only smiles at estimates that there are 16,000 Popovichs in Belgrade alone - quite a fair-sized family constituency for a political figure. As for the poetry, he admits he was "avant-garde" but denies he was "far out avant-garde," as one American acquaintance described him.

NOW THAT THE IDENTITY of each party's presidential nominee is apparently all settled (it'il be Brown, Humphrey, Johnson, Kennedy, Meyner, Stevenson, Symington or a dark horse for the Democrats; Nixon, Rockefeller or a dark horse for the Republicans) the vice presidential soundings are being taken. The Kennedy forces are looking admiringly at such liberal midwestern governors as Freeman of Minnesota, Loveless of Iowa and Docking of Kansas. All the other Democrats are looking longingly at Brown, who doesn't seem to be interested. Californian Nixon and New Yorker Rockefeller are looking inland, where Republican Rep. Charlie Halleck (Ind.) has declared himself available and Republican Rep. Jerry Ford (Mich.) has friends who say he is, too.

Many self-styled experts think able, young Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon would fill second place on the GOP ticket nicely. But Hatfield's geography is against him if Nixon is nominated and his liberalism would appear to rule him out if the equally liberal Rockefeller comes through. However, at 37, Hatfield can afford to sit out next year's election and wait for the future.

THE NAVY IS STILL SCRAPPING quietly with the Army and the Air Force over roles and missions in defense strategy but its Secretary, William B. Franke, staged an imprecedented display of bi-partisan political teamwork last week. Franke invited all the living former secretaries and assistant secretaries of the Navy to a meeting to discuss his own plans for the service and solicit their advice. He sent out 23 invitations and received 15 acceptances-from Democrats as well as Republicans. Six men had served in the Truman administration and two in the Hoover administration. The remainder had been in and out under

The Hoover assistant secretaries were Ernest L. Jahncke of Mississippi and David S. Ingalis of Ohio. Ingalls, former publisher of the Cincinnati Times-Star, doubtless would have had a much bigger job than an assistant secretaryship had the late Sen. Robert A. Taft ever become President. He was a cousin of Taft and his chief political adviser. The assumption was that he'd have been the Sherman Adams of a Bob Taft administration.

What is happening on Capitol Hill, however, is unlikely to satisfy the author of the drive to force the regulatory agencies to do the jobs for which they were created. Water Fight in Legislature: Mere Prelude to Big Bout?

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) - From all indications, legislative battles over Cali-fornia Water conservation and distribution were merely a warming up series of struggles for the real fight, which will come at the general election in November, 1960.

For the past 10 years, the Legislature has attempted to work out a satisfactory solution for Northern and Southern California's satisfaction. Agreement never has been reached, but Gov. Edmund G. Brown presented a program calling for the enactment of a bond issue total-ing $1,750,000,000 to get the conservation program under way. The bond issue must be voted on by the people in November, 1960. Although more than a year away from the date, lines already are being drawn for campaigns to defeat the program, or change

it materially from what the Governor sub-

From a statement issued recently by the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California, it is indicated that unless certain changes are made in the Governor's program, this powerful district, which controls distribution in the South, will exercise the prerogative of opposing the Brown program.

The district has revived the controversial issue of a constitutional amendment, but in its policy statement, indicated it might go along without the amendment, provided the area is given contract assurances for a continuing supply of water.

THE POLICY STATEMENT contained a request for a "thorough engineering, legal and financial appraisal;" specific projects to be outlined in the bond issue; determination of the potential ability of the water users to pay for the operation, maintenance and bond servicing costs during the life of the bonds; creation of a California Water Authority to direct construction and operation of the development system; firm contracts for delivery of water to Southern California and assurance of financing for completion of the project should the bond issue prove insufficient.

GOV. BROWN SAID the district is "completely unrealistic, and not familiar with the things we can do without any legislative changes or anything else." He said firm contracts are being worked on at the present time, but he doesn't know yet whether he will put a special legislative session call on to revise the legislation calling for the bond issue to bring it more in line with Southern California

The Governor said further that "everyone is getting a little less than they have asked for, but they're getting more than

Landrum-Griffin

Apparently W. D. Graff read some meanings I never intended in my recent letter, Perhaps this will clarify my viewpoint. (1) I didn't intend to imply the McClcllan Committee was sponsoring "right to work" forces. The committee disclosures merely set the stage for what the "right to work" forces thought was the ideal time to accomplish their ends! (2) While the Landrum - Griffin Bill will act as a check on the relatively few chiselers and grafters who hold a union office, and certainly this is a desirable effect, there is more to the bill than just that.

GRAFF asked: "What is there in the bill that is punitive?" Here is a brief outline. The bill places new restrictions on picketing, particularly on the number of pickets in a given area. Generally, in a labor dispute the fewer pickets there are, the less effective a picket line. Harmful? Also the bill restricts, if not altogether prohibiting, any use of a secondary boycott. This is a rather unpublicized and involved side of labor negotiations. But it is important in some fields, such as new construction. The damage this section will do to labor organizations won't be accurately measurable for a time, but it will be considerable. And it is punitive.

terest in their profession on the part of all members, problems would become more complex. It is this attitude that contributes to the happiness and efficiency of any organization.

Again thanking you for your continued interest and support, I am FRANK SANDEMAN, Chief

Bar Assn. President Criticizes Editorial

The editorial "The Continued Story" on Oct. 6, starts out:

"A reader wants to know what happened on Sept. 17, the day Robert I. McCarthy, director of the State Department of Motor Vehicles, was supposed to appear for a contempt of court hearing in Long Beach Municipal Court," and then answers the reader by saying,

"Nothing happened."

IT GOES on to say that Judge Charles T. Smith had signed an order for Director McCarthy to apear on Sept. 17 and "To the surprise of nobody in the legal profession, the hearing was continued to Oct. 8. This was to permit McCarthy to try to block any local court action." The editorial concludes, "Well, all of this is just getting started, of thing about the case may be settled, maybe. Meanwhile, if you want to put your son in a profession with a future, make him a lawyer."

THIS answer to the reader, we are afraid, puts him on the wrong track. We would like to try to set him straight.

The legal problem which underlies the order which was issued by Judge Smith is the doubt which now exists about the power of the Director of Motor Vehicles to suspend the license of a person who has been convicted of drunk driving when the trial court recommends against the suspension. Until quite recently, the Director uniformly followed the court's recommendation. Now he does not. The doubt which has been mentioned arises out of an ambiguity in our drunk driving statutes. To date that doubt has not been resolved by our appellate courts and, until it is resolved, the judges of the municipal courts, as well as the Director of Motor Vehicles, are free to put their own interpretation upon the statutes.

The order to show cause which was issued by Judge Smith was conceived by the attorney who represents two persons whose driver's licenses were suspended by the Director, contrary to the recommendation of the judge before whom they pled guilty of drunk driving, as the quickest and least expensive way to get the problem before our appellate courts. What has happened was just what was contemplated; namely, that the Attorney General -acting for the Director, as the law requires-would get a writ from the Superior Court which would prohibit the Municipal Court from proceeding with the order was issued on Oct. 7. The effect of it is to take the problem from the Municipal Court to the Superior Court and open the way for an appeal through our highest appellate courts. These appellate courts are not open to direct appeals from the Municipal Court, where the drunk driving cases were heard.

OTHERWISE stated, the purpose of the order which Judge Smith issued was not to get Mr. McCarthy before the court to see whether he was in contempt, but to get an imporant problem of statutory construction before our appellate courts with the most speed and least cost. On Oct. 7 the problem got under way to hose courts.

Notre Dame Crushes Weak Cal

I, P-T WRITER ANALYZES '60 EDITION, SAYS: Dodgers to Repeat for Pennant! Stringers PROCESSES TO REPEAT OF PROCESSES IN THE SET TO BE S

With the pennant and World Series wrapped up and stored at least a year ahead of schedule, the Dodgers' next problem is to keep the moths out of the attic.

Difficult as it may be to improve on a winner, the Dodgers cannot afford to stand still. They must, and undoubtedly will, enter what promises to be the most active winter trade market in history.

The biggest hole to be patched in 1960 is the bullpen. The rest of the club is basically sound. It is well balanced between youngsters and veterans. Gil Hodges, at 35, is the oldest of the regulars. Duke Snider is next at 33.

If Hodges and Snider, plagued by injuries this year, can hold up for another season or two, their eventual successors will have time to mature in the farm system. In fact, the farm is so well stocked with future major leaguers that, if some outside bullpen help can be found for 1960, the Dodgers should rank 1-2-3 for the next 10

An inventory of each department:

Sherry, the Dodgers need another reliefer, preferably a "long man." The starting pitchers finished 43 games but 54 times they were belted out in the fifth inning or earlier.

The need is for a reliefer who can work about four or five middle innings until Sherry, the late man, can be brought in without much strain. If Sherry is used no more than an inning or two at a time, he will be able to work more often and thus become more valuable.

Given the proper amount of rest, Chuck Churn might be able to fill the bill. He was in 15 games and had only three bad ones, each time when he was overworked,

But the rest of the bullpen is questionable. Clem Labine and Johnny Klippstein don't figure in next year's Labinc, once the best reliefer in baseball, worked only three innings during the September stretch drive. He won his last game on Aug. 1.

Klippstein, troubled by a bad back, didn't win a game

No other club has five young starters the caliber of Don Drysdale, Johnny Podres, Roger Craig, Danny Mc-Devitt and Sandy Koufax, They were responsible for 60 of the Dodgers' 88 wins.

INFIELD

Now that Maury Wills has blossomed as a shortstop, there isn't a change in sight. Scouting director Al Campanis maintains that Wills can play in the majors from six to eight years if he is able to hit .250. He hit .260 after a slow start and even outplayed the White Sox' heralded Luis Aparicio in the World Series.

Utility infielder Don Zimmer, injured early in the year and in the doghouse later, expects to be traded. He may be offered to an American League club in exchange for a relief pitcher.

Star, 28-6

By HANK HOLLINGWORTH

MEMORIAL COLISEUM, BERKELEY -- Notre Dame's Fighting Irish, living up to their name during and after actual action on the field, crushed startingly weak California, 28-6, here Saturday before 68;500 equally-flattened fans.

Last year's Pacific Coast Conference champions were no match for the ferocious men from South Bend, whose new coach, Joe Kuharich, promised to inject some professional uggedness into the Irish this season,

He did. Notre Dame was penalized 15 times for a mons-trous total of 158 yerds, while two of the Irish, Patrick Heenan and Nicholas Buoinconti, were ejected.

Heenan was bounced on a unique play wherein Notre Dame was charged with both roughing the passer and interfering with the receiver. You won't find that one re-peated even when the Rams and Beers collide today. The tariff was high, too-25 yards, the point where the receiver

TD for Izo on First Pass

Izo and Mack played only briefly. Izo's 1959 debut-he was missing from Notre Dame's first two games because of injuries-was brilliant in that he threw a touchdown pass on his first attempt this season. Mack was no knife here Saturday as he was injured in the first quarter and saw only

Crotty, the bruising fullback, was burt early, too, as was Notre Dame's best lineman, Myron Pottios, who's probably out for the season.

But the sophomores-and junior Bob Scarpitto, who demobilized SC's troops last season in the Coliseum-were something to behold.

The Irish scored so easily and so early-with only 7:07 gone in the second quarter they boasted a 21-0 edge-that you had an idea they might run it up to 100-0. However, Kuharich used everybody on the Notre Dame bench—even his fifth string quarterback-so the adding machines weren't Notre Dame had its first points on the board in 1:42 of the first period, thanks to a collossal Bear blunder. On Cal's first scrimmage play, quarterback Wayne Crow hurled a pitchout somewhere in the direction of downtown Oakland and Notre Dame recovered it on Cal's 22.

After one play lost four yards, Izo riffled a sizzler to Scarpitto on the 13 and the New Jersey swiftle streaked into the end zone.

Irish Drive for TD No. 2

Notre Dame's second touchdown was recorded after 2:32 of the next period, No. 2 quarterback Don White slithered into the end zone from one yard out after a 68-yard drive mounted on nine plays. Dabiero, a product of Stan Musial's home town of Donora, Pa., was the key in this drive with three runs totalling 26 yards.

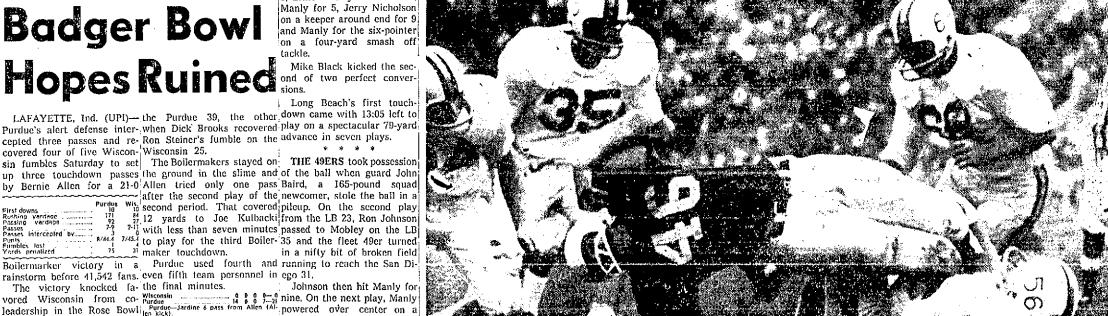

The third touchdown was posted less than five minutes later, thanks again to another Golden Bear miscue. Aggressive Mr. Heenan pounced on a Bear fumble on the Cal 40 and eight plays later, Gray nudged into the promised land from nothing less than the one-inch line.

At that point, Kuharich began shooting every green shirt on his bench into the fray and the audience was kept yawnng until midway through the last quarter.

Then the fun began. Heenan got the hook first, then was followed by two chaps wearing No. 64—Buoncionti and Cal's Doug Graham, who staged the best on-field brawl since

Sports Merry-Go-Round

'We Coulda, too,' S.F. Boast

BERKELEY-Sunday morning shots from the Bay Area: The magnificent World Series triumph of the Dodgers has most San Francisco-Oakland area baseball fans up in arms because, they reason, if the Dodgers took the Chisox so easily, so could have the

"With all due credit to the Dodgers," snorted a San Francisco sports editor," the Giants should be the ones basking in the World Series spotlight today. After all, we had a comfortable lead with just a few weeks to go and needed only to play .500 ball to win the title. I place all the blame for the Giant's downfall on Horace Stoneham.'

The sports editor claimed general manager Stoneham ordered field boss Billy Rigney to play Andre Rodgers and Willie McCovey, even though Rigney balked furiously.

"It was on Stoneham's order that Rodgers stayed in the lineup and lost so many games before July 4," raged the newsman. "When Eddie Bressoud came in at sportstop our whole defense perked up.

"McCovey gave the Giants a real lift his first two weeks at first base, but he outlived his usefulness. Mc-Covey will be great, but he hurt the Giants horribly on defense and his .250 hatting average for the last month didn't compensate for his failings in the field.

"Rigney may get canned," the sports editor stormed, "but it'd be a crying shame. What do we need? A Larry Sherry in the bullpen—that's what we need."

I WASN'T AWARE OF IT, but San Francisco apparently is "in" as a member of the new American Pro-Football League. The information was gleaned from Notre Dame radiocaster Harry Wismer, who owns 50 per cent of the New York club in the circuit.

"San Francisco is definitely in our planning." said Wismer. "We'd also like to play our games in the Giants' new Candlestick Park. It's beautiful and ideal for foothall. We might even play here in Berkeley at Cal's stadium, but we'd rather not go to Kezar. We want to give the fans something new and Kezar is old hat."

Wismer touched another interesting point: "Our new football league isn't worried about players. We're dealing all the time. In fact, you'd be surprised at the Ram players we've talked to so far and the interest they've shown."

Not me. After that ridiculous 34-0 lacing across the bay at San Francisco last Sunday. I wouldn't be surprised if the whole Ram club jumped the league.'

THE RAMS' PITIFUL SHOWING against the 49ers opener before 4,096 fans on fast weekend actually shocked some old-line newsmen around here. "I've seen some miscrable games by the 49ers and the college clubs," declared one, "but the Rams' showing last Sunday was the worst. They all played as if they owned the world's biggest hangovers."

'It looks as if Cal is in for another tough game today," one scribe said before the Bears' brush with Notre Dame, "but who knows? Even Bert Bell couldn't believe the Rams were losing last Sunday

Wismer claims also that his New York pro club already has a coach, but he won't reveal the name until sophomore passing whiz, gave after the season because "he's now coaching a college team. He's blg." The names of LSU's Paul Dietzel and Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson immediately popped up they're BIG and also excellent friends of Wismer.

Some Notre Damers claim their ousted young coach, however, and batted down 10 Terry Brennan, is set for a major college post next season. of Long's tosses. He'll replace, they say, retiring Ray Eliot of Illinois.

This is being written before the Stanford-Washington outcome, but one press box nester said if it rains in Seattle, the Indians will triumph, Why? "Because Stanford's coach, Jack Curtice, says so, that's why," the man replied. "Curtice said the 16-14 Stanford loss in a driving rainstorm at Wisconsin was the greatest game a Stanford team's played since he's been there. Jack said also that Dick Norman's pass receivers, Chris Burford and Ben Robinson, caught the ball better when it was soggy as a fraternity house bath lowel." And that's pretty soggy.

PASSES PROVIDE PUNCH

Hawkeyes Roll Over Michigan State, 37-8

IOWA CITY (P)-Jowa bounced back into the Big Ten title picture Saturday with quarterback Olen Treadway's passes providing the punch in a 37-8 victory over Michigan State before a record crowd of 59,300.

The defending champions stunned the Spartans with a 23-0 halftime lead based on a flurry of passes from Treadway to end Don Norton. The combination accounted for two first-half touchdowns on 31 and 17-yard plays. Interceptions and penalties hobbled the Spartans and they never seriously threatened. Quarterback Dean Look capped a 64-yard drive with a 13-yard touchdown toss to fullback Carl Charon late in the third period for their only scoring gesture.

A 95-yard runback by Bob Jeter with the ensuing kickoff permanently erased any threat. Although Jeter was pulled down on the one, Wilburn Hollis got the touchdown a couple of plays later.

The Hawkeyes added-another fourth period touchdown on reserve back Jerry Mauren's 31-yard run.

"'Hey, coach,' the guy said, 'there's a microphone taped

"Sure enough, that Halas had bugged our room and piped Hamp's pep talk into the Bears' dressing room. Man, those Bears came out fighting mad that day. But Papa Bear saves his best shots for the field.

"Wrigley Field, you know, is primarily for baseball and it has a gentle, but definite slope. If you don't know which team always travels uphill in the first quarter, you haven't been listening to me at all. "After you warm up, you have to fight for a seat on the bench. You see, Halas sells seats to rabid Bear fans right on the visitors' bench. These customers amuse themselves by throwing snowballs or popping peanut and popcorn sacks behind our backs.

But the real crusher is the one official who always seems to work our games in Chicago, a chap named Fred Downs. I have heard that Downs is, by marriage, a relative of Halas'. I believe it.

"Somehow the Bears always seem to win the coin flip and on their first scrimmage play they invariably throw down and out to Harlon Hill. "Hill always manages to

No improvement needed. The Dodgers led the league in fielding and in stolen bases.

Although they lacked a 100-RBI man and Snider and Moon were the only regulars to hit over ,300, the Dodgers proved that they have all the tools necessary to win a pennant.

In the absence of one outstanding slugger, the Dodgers pooled the talent of five. Snider (88), Charlie Neal (83), Hodges (80), Moon (74) and Demeter (70) formed a unique RBI circle. No other club had five men who each drove in 70 or more runs.

Wills Is Real Laner Among Dodgers:

CHICAGO—On arrival here, I was told that Maury Wills had not stayed around for the Dodgers' victory BECVESS party Thursday night. Instead, he had grabbed the first plane in the direction of Spokane.

Wills especially made Aparicio look like a 270-pound tackle. Earlier in the week at the Coliseum, Wills had three unbelievable plays behind the mound in a single game.

Whether Maury's feud is solely with Neal, I don't as yet know. However, the fact that he prefers riding alone would seem to indicate he is somewhat of an outsider, in general,

Of course, you can say it for several of the Dodgers, but without Wills, they'd never have won the pennant. His flareup at the plate in the final San Francisco series was contribution enough.

Interest in Football Dwindling

In past years, the Southern California sports public was regarded as the most football-minded group of fans in the country.

No other stadium in the country presents more major football attractions each year than the Coliseum, but the interest of previous seasons has been lacking It was the large crowds that first attracted the attention of baseball's Walter O'Malley, and now it's O'Mallev's Dodgers who are cutting in on football.

Of course, this is an exceptional year due to the Dodgers' sweep to the world championship . . . but there will be others just like it. SC and UCLA got a taste of what was in store for them in the future by the slim attendance at the three intersectional struggles in the Coliseum during the past three weeks.

The UCLA-Purdue clash, featuring the teams voted most likely to meet again in the Rose Bowl, drew only 38,582. It should have drawn at least another 20,000.

Duck hunting, so far, is very poor for Southern California. And, if this bluebird reather continues throughout the state, there's little chance that it will

Most of Southern California's lakes were blanks for hunters at the opening. Some teal and ruddies were fly-ing, but it took only a few shots to send them winging out of danger.

Best reports came from the state-operated shooting grounds in Imperial Valley and the lower end of the Palo Verde Valley along the Colorado River.

Opening day at the state's Wister area, which now embraces the old Hazard ponds, produced 600 ducks and 2 coots for 148 hunters, an average of 4.1 per man. The Finney-Ramer Lake area, six miles south of Calipatria, had only 15 hunters and they bagged 28 ducks. There is no fee at F-R and shooters must be in their own boats.

Wister is situated off Hwy. 111 near Niland. There are two ways of hunting at Wister: (1) Make applications through the Department of Fish and Game, of (2) Be there by 3 a.m. on a shooting day and take your chances of getting into the blinds on a first-come, first-served basis. Saturdays are rough; Wednesdays and Sundays are

MOST OF THE SUCCESSFUL hunters on the opening day found that decoys made the difference in a partial limit and no birds at all. There are 2,000 acres of ponds at Wister and you can either sit it out, or stand up and scare the few birds away.

Twenty-one hunters tried Henshaw Lake the opening day and were rewarded with an average of three birds each. Only two of the total were mallards. There were scattered flights of teal and ruddies at Isabella Lake, but hunter success was too little to be counted. Most of the nimrods turned to catfishing for their kicks before the dny ended.

There are a few blinds available on hunting days at Sutherland Lake. You may make reservations by writing "Duck Reservations, Utilities Dept., Water Division, 1970 B St., San Diego 2." But your chances are exceedingly slim.

Even the clubs, private and public, in the Bakersfield-Wasco-Lancaster areas reported slim pickin's and there is no improvement in sight unless the weather changes and drives new flights from northern areas of the state.

Just in case you get lucky and find a good flight of birds, remember that the daily limit is five, of which not more than two may be ruddies, canvasbacks or redheads in the aggregate of all three of those species. You may bere double that number in possession, provided one limit was shot on the previous day.

Trailer Meeting

If you have any questions about travel trailers, circle Tuesday on your calendar, That will be manufacturers night at Long Beach Trailer Club, and all travel trailerists are invited.

George McPheters, club president, said:

"We thought it would be a good idea to get travel trailerists and manufacturers together, so we've arranged a panel discussion starting at 7:30 p.m. at Recreation Community Center, 4900 E. 7th St.

"The panel will be made up of top executives from about a dozen Southern California trailer manufacturing plants. They'll answer specific questions about their products, including 1960 models, as well as general questions about travel trailers.

DOOR PRIZES

Several valuable door prizes, donated by the manufacturers will be awarded, and refreshments will be provided by Long Beach Trailer Club.

"Our hall can accommodate about 500 people, so we want all interested travel trailerists to come, whether they're club members or not," McPheeters said. The affair is free.

Other manufacturers will be on the panel, but those already signed up are Art Cospresident, Airstream; tello. Weis, vice president, Kenskill; Roy Clayton, president, Terry Coach; Don Herfter, president, Oasis; Don Boles, president, Boles Aero; Harold Slater, president, ideal; C. T. McCrary, presi-Aljo: Dave Jacobs, president, Santa Fe; Frank Polito, co-owner, Silverstreak; and Pat Patterson, co-owner, Streamline.

Clubs are asked also to bring folding chairs.

License Fees for Trailer Homes High

License fees from the sale of mobile homes and travel trailers and in-lieu taxes collected for the first half of 1959 totaled $2,959,357 and will be divided between the" cities, counties and school districts in California where the trailers were registered, according to the Trailer, Coach Association.

Los Angeles County benefited with the largest collection of $904,991.26, San Diego! County was second with $289,017,93 and Orange County third with $198,415.28.

This payment of taxes collected from trailer owners to local governing bodies was made possible through legislation sponsored by the Trailer Coach Association, said John O'Conor, executive director of the association.

By BERNICE MAY

Many living at Long Beach Trailer Estates, 6541 Atlantic Ave., have not only chosen mobile home living for a leisurely and pleasant way of life but have also chosen travel trailers for the same kind of a vacation or a care-

For instance:

Mr. and Mrs. James Kingdom took their travel trailer to Hitchcock, S. D., and then on to the East Coast. They covered over 8,000 miles during their vacation before coming home.

Gladys and Leslie Berry have their travel trailer up at Mono Lake. Leslie broke his foot at the beginning of their vacation, but Gladys took over the job of driving. The Clarks took their travel trailer for a weekend vacation in the desert.

Frank and Francis Langley took their travel trailer to Ensenada, Mexico, for a fishing vacation. The fishing was fine and Frank caught a 45-pound and a 35-pound yellowtail. He is really entitled to brag.

Lucille Hoffman entertained the Thursday P. M. Grand Slam Bridge Club. Matilda Sapp won high score and Mrs. Hogenson was second high.

Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Brussow, parents of our Mrs. Grace Dunn, were visitors at our Saturday night dinner and bingo party.

PARK AVALON LODGE By ANN RILEY

Dale Olson, Fred McMullen, Gerald Vandevort, Mr. Reese and Clarence Meyer, who served on the all-male committee for the breakfast in the recreation hall on Sunday, Oct. 4, were given a real workout-when 52 residents of Park Avalon Lodge, 750 E. Carson St., Torrance, and their guests attended the event. This is the second all-male breakfast event and they have proven so popular it is hoped that they can be continued on a monthly schedule. Future events include a shuffleboard tournament, potluck dinner on Oct. 10 and a Halloween party.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Tucker and son, Robert, of Azusa visited with Mr. and Mrs. Dobbins.

Mr. and Mrs. Nix entertained Mr. and Mrs. Hunter and Helen Finkles over the past weekend,

Mr. and Mrs. Moxie Basch of Gardena Trailer Lodge, and Bill Beddington were guests at the Tuesday night bingo session.

Park Avalon lost two families and gained three during the past, week. Mr. and Mrs. Orin Green moved Thursday to Yuciapa for the winter months, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Keil moved to Chris' Mobile Village. New tenants include Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin McMaster, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Reed and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Young, Mr. and Mrs. Young are newlyweds and are establishing their first residence in a mobile home

AUTONETICS'

Field Engineering forecasts show an expansion of more than 10 times present size in the next 5 years.

Our products are: Digital Computers Armament Controls Inertial Guidance Automatic Checkup Controls Flight Controls

If you have several year of field engineering ex-perience on any of the above systems, but now wish an in-plant job that doesn't require travel then you will definitely be interested in the ex cellent positions avail our Field Engineering Training Depart-ment. We will train you on our systems and you will then instruct now engineers, customers, etc. Supervisory potential is good (degree preferred but not re-auired). If you prefer field engineering assignments, we offer either Navy or Air Force assignments, liberal per diem, and thorough training on digital computers, and the various systems shown above. Field assignments involve systems rather than components, on new longrange contracts such as:

MINUTE MAN HOUND DOG GUIDANCE FOR THE POLARIS LAUNCHING SUBMARINE

If you want to associate yourself with an outstanding, aggressive, rapidly expanding operation that offers a chance for you to grow beyond your present ceiling

"Well, Mr. Jones, I'll tell you, I certainly wouldn't live in the middle of smog, like others do, and here's why: according to a Los Angeles County Medical Association survey, 60 per cent of physicians specializing in chest ailments had recommended that patients leave the smog area. So had 51 per cent of internists and 50.6 per cent of general practitioners! They advised this because their patients were suffering from eye irritation, chest pains, cough, shortness of breath, nausea, headache-and so on. Not good for adults-and assuredly not good for children. Now, why not move your family out where I live? Clean ocean air, smog-free, water sports, golf, tennis, plenty of shopping facilities. ## Lighter, Brighter Look for California Homes

Colors Are All-Important in This Fresh, New Trend

By ELISE EMERY

Southern Californians(?)!

From 49 states and almost every nation newcomers swarm to this area. A statewide population of 22 million is forecast within a few years, with most of the gain in Southern California.

This influx has created interesting developments in home decoration and furniture preferences.

According to Floyd M. Spurgin, manager of a large Long Beach furniture store, Californians are more willing than easterners to accept new and different styles.

''Maybe its our more vivid colors. Maybe its a quest for the new and exciting—that's probably why they came to California in the first place. Whatever it is that makes people adopt casual sportswear seems to influence their home decoration."

This is not to say that their taste is not as good as that of easterners. Indeed, it shows a freshness and flexibility that produces original, beautiful, and creative results.

"BUYING HABITS are changing; people are better informed and more exacting. They won't accept mere fads and are reluctant to change for change alone. They demand good quality and seek competent advice. Some customers simply say, 'Decorate this room for me,' but most of them originate ideas and want suggestions within their own choices."

The abundance of glass in California bouses leads to the use of lighter, semi-transparent draperies. Growing popularity of the family room for informal gatherings has returned the living room to more elegance where less hardy furniture may be used with grace. Spurgin likens this situation to the living room and parlor of vesterday.

Furniture designers place

increasing importance on

"In the early 1950s we imported furniture by Danish designers, Hans J. Wegner and Finn Juhl were creating an honest, sculptured look in furniture; they, and other Scandinavian designers treated wood as wood, They developed the beauty of the materials they worked with, rubbed Siamese teak or oak with linseed oil to develop a satin smooth, but dull finish that gave full importance to the grain pattern.

"SOME OF our customers would say, 'Why don't you send it back to the factory for a finish?' Some loved it from the first. But even those who objected, subconscinusly began to look for the honest, basic effect in other things. Now, for the past five years we haven't been able to sell a single piece of shiny furniture?'

American manufacturers, too, favor the duller finish, though they achieve it by sealing the wood with lacquer rather than by linseed oil.

McDougall and Stewart, working in Santa Barbara, were among the first in the United States to produce fine contemporary designs. They, too, adopted ideas of earlier days turning back to the Shakers for inspiration, just as the Scandinavian work was rooted in old European peasant functional furniture.

Both American and Scandinavian pieces today let the "wood remain close to the tree," rarely use stains or pigments to make walnut look like mahogany or mahogany look like walnut.

Lines are slim, of lighter scale and always suited to the room's proportion. Most important, pieces must be in proportion to each other. Today's designs have no place for the over-heavy "elephant" look of pre-war years.

THE ONCE-RIGID rule of not mixing woods or periods in a room is ignored—provided there is a dominant theme or mood and furniture and accessories are happily married.

Color is all-important,

"We are in a predominently beige cycle now," explains Frank, "There are trends in color, but people don't decorate in certain colors simply because it's the thing to do. They are more aware of the effect of color; the beige phase has developed because they wanted the warmth earth tones provide. White, persimmon and blue show up as accent colors and blue is increasingly popular.

"Off-white is showing up in high-style decoration, but for many families it is not practical. Color combinations once considered impossible are winning acceptance: blue and green for cool effects, pink and orange for warmth. The decorator bases his color choice on the physical conditions of the room—whether it's sunny or shaded,

Glamour's a Delusion Turned Into Reality

By MARY LOU ZEHMS
L.P.T. Women's Editor

What is glamour? Why do some women have it and others not? Webster's dictionary defines glamour as: "A delusion wrought by magic spells; charm; enchantment."

It means many things to many people. To a man, it might be the way a lass walks; to another, the way she tilts her head, or to another, the way she laughs.

other, the way she laughs. But to the woman who looks in her mirror each day, wishing for glamour, how does she get it? It would he a dull world if all of us were cut from the same bolt as Rosalind Russell or Marlene Dietrich (or would it?); certainly there's no doubt as to their charms; but the rest of us can try to do the best we can with what possible if it is to we passed!

WATCH AN attractive woman walk down the street... the one who draws everyone's eyes. A born beauty, you'd say...a gal with a certain "chemistry"... someone with a rare gift from nature.

That could be. But, perhaps it is brains or "know-how," rather than native beauty that gives her an exciting appearance.

Few and far between are the women who have all the natural endowments, no shortcomings. There's a real art in knowing how to dramatize the former . . . while subordinating the latter. Often, the difference between glamour and a very ordinary appearance is scarcely more than a few "alterations."

A recent survey pointed out that 70 per cent of the American women do not know how to dress or shop according to their figure personality. Women shopping for beauty aids and fashions do not take into account sufficiently their own individual characteristics. More often, they shop for things that are "in" fashion, or currently popular, rather than things which are fashion-right for them.

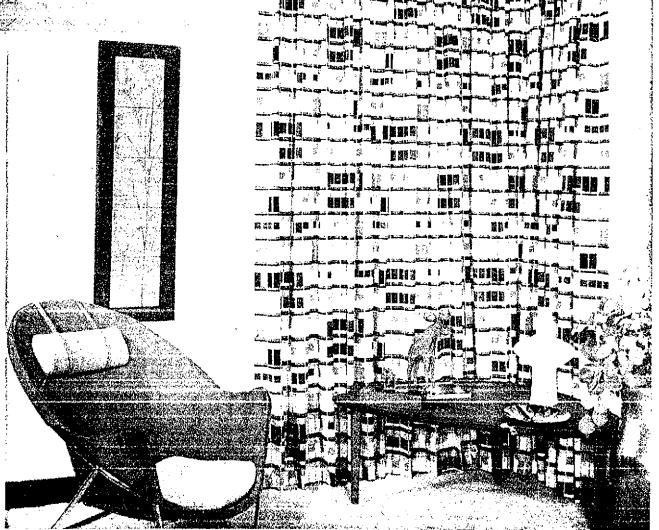

SAYS A WOMAN who made a husiness of beauty counseling, "The first rule of wisdom in becoming glamorous was uttered several thousand years ago by Socrates when he said, 'Know thyself.'"

Begin by studying yourseff—your physical and personality characteristics. Posture, facial contour, figure, complexion, etc., should be analyzed carefully. Then make the application—correct and emphasize by the wise choice of clothing, accessories, hair style and cosmetics.

There are many women who are not beautiful, but who have that indefinable "something" that makes them glamourous. She is the one who has improved her relationships with all her fellow human beings, women as well as men, old as well as young, casual business contracts as well as regular playmates.

SHE FEELS secure in the knowledge that she is desuable to her family and friends, hence, her personality far outshines her actual beauty.

The colors a woman wears can be as much a clue to her personality as the most revealing confidence she can tell you. While certain colors always have had a special meaning ... green for envy, red for anger . . . they have their own significance when it comes to fashion. More brilliant shades generally are worn by women with a cheerful, outgoing personality-women who look the world in the eye and like what they see---while women who pieter more muted tones usually are more re-

New Leader Taking Music Club's Reins

Mrs. G. H. Kretschmer will preside for the first time as president of the Woman's Music Club at the formal opening of the club Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 in Ebell Auditorium The new executive has been an active club member for five years and has served as a group chairman on the executive board as curator of groups, and second vicepresident as chairman of the Ways and Means Committee. She is a native of Denver, Colo., coming to Long Beach 35 years ago.

A distinctive concert program has been arranged for this occasion, presenting Betty Bassett, soprano, and Bill Womack, baritone, in solo and duet numbers accompained by Dorothy L. Christie, at the piano.

The meeting is President's Guest Day and is open to invited guests of members. After the program a reception and tea will be given in the patio, OPERA SECTION will open the current season of opera readings Oct. 19, at 8 p.m. in the YWCA auditorium. Henri Scanlon again will direct the work of the section with Mrs. Adolph Brodbeck, section chairman The purpose of the section is to present a brief but comprehensive understanding of opera. Added to his Sorority Council

October meeting of Beta Sigma Phi Area Council will take place at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday at the Lafayette Hotel. A report will be given on new election procedure and plans will be discussed for a citywide council tea.

Scanlon has consulted the story of the opera, the genhistorical information as may be of interest to the listeners.

THE AIM is to acquaint club members with the prominent operas of the past and present with special appeal to the lover of opera rather than the professional musician. Each opera will be presented with as much thoroughness as possible considering the necessarily brief time allotted.

First performance Wednesday evening will be "Manon Lescaut" (Puccini) and will feature Marthe Mills, soprano, Clayton Ivy,

Everybody Agrees With Ted (for Once)

By TED KREC

I've been writing this column for more than two years now and have covered a variety of subjects. But let me tell you, friends, never have I had a response to equal that occasioned by last week's piece about kids being rousted in restau-

The phone has been hot all week, I have received letters about it and everywhere I went, peowanted to talk about this situation. Oddly enough -This 🎚 and truly IS odd there hasn't been one dissent in g voice. Every OL' TED comment I received has endorsed my position on this.

Many people have asked me to take the subject even further and have given me ample ammunition for another column, so here

One little lady called to tell me about the goingson in her neighborhood. It seems she lives near a small park and the boys who live nearby gather in the park to play. She pointed out that they don't do anything bad-just play with their little cars or kick a ball around the park. Naturally they're a little noisy, but boys need a place to play-they need to make a little noise. But one elderly gent harasses the kids constantly—telling them that if they don't stop making noise he'll call the police. So what happens? The little boys sadly pick up their playthings and go home.

WHAT I'D LIKE to know is what are the boys supposed to do if they can't play in the park? Should they congregate on the street corner and steal hubcaps or break windows? Laugh if you will, but that's how those things get

But even more sinister is the attitude of many store personnel. Kids have to learn to shop. How will they ever make out as adults if they don't learn these things when they are young?

Yet time after time when these youngsters go into stores to select items, they are rousted by the salespeople. Some of the clerks are pretty nasty to the kids and many of them won't give them any help at all.

Another current attitude is to "sell 'em anything—they're just kids!" So, the kids go home with a bunch of junk which their parents either have to return ed in my book, because the parents get angry at the store for selling the kids this stuff, the young people are resentful because of the way they were treated, and the store actually loses in the long run.

WHAT MANY of these merchants fail to realize is that teenagers are good customers. They're not GOING to be good customers - they ARE right now! School children account for a good bit of the clothing purchased in this country-ask any hardworking dad if you don't believe it!

It would seem to be just plain good sense for the stores to welcome young shoppers and help them select items in good taste instead of giving them a bad time and palming off 'dogs'' on them.

My wife works with young people daily, and she says it's always gratifying to her to see them develop into responsible young adults. But this is accomplished by advice, patience and friendliness, not lovers of Southern California have the rare privilege of hearing grand opera in the grand manner. Each autumn the San Francisco Opera Co. brings a threeweek season of grand opera to our very doors, or, to be specific, to the Shrine Auditorium in Los Angeles,

This year, beginning with a performance of Bizet's opera "Carmen" on Oct. 23, the company will present 15 performances through Nov. 10. The list of operas to be given is an auspicious one and there are some stellar names among the singers. The conductors, too, are notable. The season promises to be an outstanding one and those who love music in Long Beach should avail themselves of the opportunity to hear grand opera at its very best.

There will be an American premiere of Richard Strauss' superb opera, "Die Frau ohn Schatten" (Woman without a Shadow) with a very fine German tenor,

CHEF OF THE WEEK

Booth's Stock Up With Pot Roast

By MILDRED K. FLANARY

eas!! But by accent only, Born in Norwich, Conn., today's Chef of the Week Howard T. Booth, took off for Boston, Mass, at such an early age, he could well be mostly Bostonian. He's perhaps best known here as the gentleman who presides over Paine Webber Jackson & Curtis' "score board." With an early interest in stocks and bonds and their end results be poined the National City Bank in New York. When it came time for the bank to expand us security despriment, Booth became associated with that department. It actually was known as the National City

THE YEAR 1933 arrived, however, and the laws were changed. All security affiliates were divorced from their main company, Booth. believing that there was less competition in the Midwest decided it was time to move, so proceeded to Municapolis. He became affiliated with the Paine Webber Co.

While in Minneapolis he served as president of the Twin Cities Bond Assn.; and in Long Beach, has just retired as president of the Long Beach Security Dealers Assn. He is an active. Veterans.

He loves to play bridge and CAN, as his friends will confirm. He loves to cook but wouldn't be caught dead baking.

Today, strangely enough, his recipe is for pot roast, not baked beans.

A BOOTH SPECIAL

Rub an earthenware casscrole with garlic and add 1, cup of bacon fat. Rub a 6-lb, pot roast with salt and pepper and ground ginger. Dredge with flour and brown in the bacon fat, Add one cup thick commercial sour cream, and turn the meat until covered and the cream is brown, Add 2 bay leaves, 2 onions chopped fine, and I diced pecled tomato (or 1 cup canned tomatoes) and 1 quart water. Cover tightly and bake in moderate over (350') for about 3 hours. Remove meat to a serving platter. Strain the juice and thicken for gravy. Season to taste and cat. Serves 6

OUR COVER

It is no accident that the sycamore leaf figures prominently on Southland's Fall Garden Edition cover. You see, a sycamore tree grows on the lawn of staff artist Jean Durant, and when she was commissioned to draw the cover she immediately thought of how she's been spending her weekends — raking sycamore leaves! (That must be Jean at the bottom of the drawing.

tom of the drawing, overwhelmed by the leaf-raking ordeal.) But there's more to fall gardening than raking leaves, as Jean or any other veteran gardener will attest. Southland tells you about these chores, beginning on Page 7, and how well-planned work will result in riots of blossoms this fall, during the winter months, and into the spring. Follow Jean's example and rake your leaves, but spare some of your efforts for putting seeds and plants into the ground for garden beauty.

NEXT WEEK

The California deserts, in which 100-degree-plus temperatures have been simmering for months, are cooling off. Thinking you might like to motor in that direction one of these weekends, Southland takes you on a preview trip to Death Valley and the soft-colored, marsh-lined mountains that cup it. It's a fascinating area, as you will see.

LA REINA RULE

WHAT YOUR NAME MEANS

EAR MISS RULE: Would you please explain DREW. — H.K., Long Beach; S.D. Compton.

S.D., H.K.: Drogo or Dru, a Norman French baron, was a close friend of William the Conqueror. When William seized Britain from the Saxons in 1066 he gave Dru a large estate in Devonshire. The surname Dru was changed to DREW about 1400, still carrying the original meaning lively, skillful one." The Drew cont-of-arms, granted in 1416, has three red roses on a silver chevron across the center of a red shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Kindly analyze CONKLIN. - E.C., E.F.C., Long Beach; L.C., Bellflower.

E.C., E.F.C., L.C.: The CONKLIN ancestors were Dutch. Their surname originated as the Dutch and north German dialectical word "Konke" meaning "king" or "ruler." Later the nickname syllables "-el-in" were added, The complete name Konkelin and Konklin described "Son of the ruler." The Conklin coat-of-arms is not available, Conklin descendants were 18th century residents of Connecticut.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give information on AVERY. - S.A., Long Beach; N.P., Bellflower.

S.A., N.P.: AVERY originated as an early English warrior name. The source, Alberic. meant "noble, brilliant and rich." An Alberic is listed as a Tenant-in-Chief in the 11th century English Domesday Book, a listing of land owners. Ralph Averey is noted in Oxford in 1273. The coat-of-arms of the Avereys of Somerset has a gold stripe between three gold coins on a red shield. Jacob Avery sailed from England for Virginia in

DEAR MISS RULE: What does VAN DUYNE mean?— I.R., MRS. V., Long Beach, I.R., V.: VAN DUYNE, an

Americanized Dutch surname, originated as Van Duyn, a home-location phrase translated as "From the sand dunes." No coat-of-arms is listed for this honorable, noble Dutch family, since most armorial shields were destroyed during the medieval Spanish occupation of Holland. Van Dine is a further alteration of this name,

DEAR MISS RULE: Would you explain CRAVENS, --O.C., Long Beach.

O.C.: Craven is the name of a district in Yorkshire, England. The origin was an early Celtic-British word "Craven" meaning "cleft or hollow in a rocky hillside." CRAVENS, a place-name, symbolizes "Son of the resident at the Craven." The family coat-of-arms, held by the Craven ancestors, has five black fleurs-de-lis formed in a cross below a wavy blue stripe on a gold shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: May we have the analysis of HAN-COCK. — MRS. D.S., Long Beach; H.B., Garden Grove. D.S., H.B.: The HANCOCKS

Let Color Spark Your Fall Garden

By Eleanor Avery Price

For additional tips on how, when and where to plant your Fall garden, turn to Pages 10 to 17.

AUTUMN for the gardener is a season of feverish activities—reconditioning the soil, spading deeply, planting trees, shrubs, flowers and bulbs, seeding and renovating lawns, and carefully pruning decidious fruit trees. This is the time of making the transition from the July and August slowdown to late season color and the advent of spring.

color and the advent of spring.

If you have kept the garden area watered, mulched and groomed throughout summer, your efforts will now begin to pay big dividends in labor saving. But if you have let the long, long dry weather take its toll, one close look will tell you that your No. 1 job will be to rejuvenate the earth by stirring it deeply and bringing it into proper structural balance by flocculation and adding humus to retain food-releasing moisture.

You need not turn under good top-

You need not turn under good topsoil, but rather break the earth to a 10-inch depth, lay on a one-inch layer of mulch, soak deeply, then dig. Remove weeds as they show.

WITH PROPER preparation, color can live in your fall and winter garden with little cost and a minimum of effort. And you can start with chrysanthemums, for there is no denying that mums reign over autumn's floral pageantry. The blooming season of these richly-toned flowers ranges from August through late January, with October and November producing the most spectacular bloom. Buy carefully, keeping in mind the season in which they flower and their susceptibility to cold. Consider the cascade and fountain mums for potted plants which can be moved about wherever color distinction is desired.

There are many other annuals upon which you can depend for lively color splashes. Cinerara is commonly grown as an annual, and the two primulas P. malacoides and P. obconica also thrive in a light, prous, enriched soil in a shady area. Schizanthus, poor man's orchid, needs at least partial shade.

Snaps of many new colors and improved types are easy to grow in a sunny, well-drained bed of rich, loose soil. Annual and perennial foxglove, stocks, delphinum, and calendula can be planted together to bring rich rewards in cut flowers and garden brilliance. Stocks and calendula will bloom all winter and provide support for your early spring blooming foxglove and delphinum.

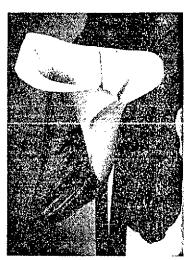

FOR A TOUCH of the old-fashioned, use pansies. They love an acid soil, but no matter how hard you may try you won't be able to get giant pansies unless you start with the giant bred types. Prepare flower beds in advance with liberal amounts of compost and bone meal. If you grew pansies in the same spot before, sterilize the soil with a capsule of ethylene-dibromide (EDB) to each plant. Wait two weeks, then purchase field-grown pansies and transplant as soon (Continued on Page 14)

Warmly speaking of fall are the many varieties of bright chrysanthemums. Mums need all-over light, air circulation.

The beautiful Beaumontia should be planted now for exciting garden adventure.

Calla bulbs should be set in rich, fibrous soil. Select them now for fall planting.

Pansies in a bed of loamy soil enriched with fertilizer and not too deeply planted, will give continuous lovely bloom.

They're Reclaiming the Ocean's Deserts

A sheephead and a calico bass have arrived at their destination and are leaving by the front exit of an old Los Angeles streetcar dumped off the coast with others to provide shelter for marine life in subsea desert.

By Herb Davis

SHOULD SOME power roll back the seas, vast areas of desert would be revealed—areas as barren as any Mojave or Sahara scene, devoid of sea life.

These deserts can be reclaimed for the benefit of man, according to John G. Carlisle Jr., biologist with the Department of Fish and Game of California.

Marine biologists found many places along the Southern California coast where vast areas of sand and mud bottoms have so little animal and plant life, there are almost no fish. These are the ocean deserts.

In other places nature has provided many kinds of shelter—rocks, canyons, crevices and kelp where marine creatures can escape from their pursuers.

THE OCEAN is a place for the survival of the fleet and the fit. Big fish eat little fish. Little fish eat still smaller fish, and so on down to tiny plankton. Sometimes fish have a free-for-all and try to eat each other. This is why shelter or escape facilities are so essential to survival—and to good fishing for man.

Scientists also found that where man had built artificial islands or where ships had sunk, large numbers of marine plants and animals gathered.

This gave state F&G workers the idea of reclaiming the subsea deserts by means of artificial "reefs" to improve the habitat. John Carlisle is in charge of a "Fish Housing Project" on the bottom of the sea.

The California department is assisted with funds from the federal government provided by the Dingall-Johnson Act.

STRANGE DWELLINGS for fish, made of discarded streetcars and old automobile bodies, are being arranged in reefs where fish, squid, lobsters and keln can take up residence.

and kelp can take up residence.

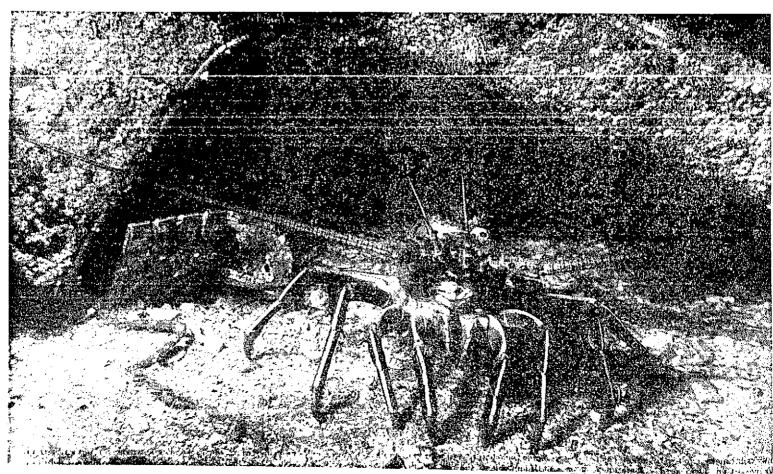

A "reef" of 21 old automobile bodies was built in 50 feet of water off Paradise Cove in Santa Monica Bay. Within two days divers reported more than 100 fish exploring this new situation. A second "reef" was started in 60 feet of water off the Redondo-Palos Verdes shoreline. Here six old Los Angeles streetcars were used. The "reefs" are well marked with buoys for the protection of navigation and fishing gear.

Getting these steel skeletons out to the right places was a sizable undertaking. The resort owners at Paradise Cove bought the auto bodies and barged them to the places designated by the department. A U. S. Navy submarine salvage boat from the Long Beach Naval Shipyard loaded the streetcars and hauled them to the selected areas where they were lifted overboard and dropped in just the pattern wanted. The U. S. Army Engineers were also in the act. They had to approve the sites because of responsibility for navigable waters.

In the ocean deserts where no fish were observed before, sea bass, sheephead, calico bass, lobsters and small kelp plants which have grown 35 to 40 feet and other forms of sea life are now found there.

Witere Value Stors Caams Sim Begins

By Ellen Saunders

7HEN Frank Sinatra bought a home in Polm Springs a few years ago, he took one look at the yard and called for Cactus Slim

Cactus Slim responded just as he has done to phone calls from numer-ous other celebrities including Lily Pons, Bing Croshy and Walt Disney. Grass gave way to wash gravel. Slim moved in huge brown boulders with machinery he had designed for just that purpose, then blended and balanced rock and eactus until he had achieved that state of perfection which has caused his admirers to say, "You can't tell where nature stops and Cactus Slim begins."

But fame came slowly to the man who has not only introduced an easyto-maintain, economical concept of home landscaping to Southern California, but has become one of the nation's greatest authorities on the use of desert plants, particularly cactus. Slim, who now landscapes homes, hotels and shops from Santa Barbara to the Mexican border, says, "Twenty years ago people cried 'you're crazy' when I suggested using colored rock instead of lawn. Today, crushing rock and coloring it for garden and patio is big business."

SLIM WAS JUST plain Chester Moorten in the early 1930s when illness caused him to abandon the character roles he had been playing in the movies and head for the desert. He was mining for gold near Cotton-wood Springs when he recognized the potential value in the colored, crushed rock that lay around him. As his interest in landscaping developed, he scoured the desert seeking huge houlders to crush. Today he buys all the rock he uses, but spurns anything which has been artificially col-

"Cactus Slim's just a born nat-"Cactus Stim's just a born nat-uralist," says his pretty wife and co-worker, Patricia, whose interest in botany led her to a cactus garden where she met Slim 20 years ago. When the Moortens bought their present home, Cactus Casa, they transformed an acre of bare ground into a wonderland of towering palms. into a wonderland of towering palms, night-blooming cactus, rare African plants and weird elephant trees which attracts 5,000 visitors yearly. In the midst of these "Described Gardens" is a nursery containing 20. 000 cacti and succulents—730 varie-ties—including the bearded old man cactus from Mexico.

On the Moortens' 2½-acre ranch at 1735 South Palm Canyon Dr., just outside of Palm Springs, everything that is native to the desert from palm trees to wild flower seed is grown and shipped all over the world. "Seems like everybody is crazy about cactus," says Slim. "Orders for cactus seed pour in from Australia, Japan, England, Singapore, and just about any place you could name. The other day we even got an order to ship some seeds to Moscow. Half the time our customers can't pay us in cash so we often swap seeds. Sometimes they want a plant for medicinal purposes. Just recently we sent some Aloe Vera to Japan to be used in the treatment of radium burns.

SHIPPING SEEDS is a small chore as compared to crating an entire cactus garden but Slim does that, too. "For flower shows," he explains, "both here and in the East." Two of these gardens are now on permanent exhibition in Pittsburgh and New York City.

The man who has never had a formal lesson in botany—"it would just clutter up my mind"—teaches one of the most popular extension courses in plant life that San Diego State College offers. The illustrated talks he and Patricia give at the Palm Springs Desert Museum are rated as high lights of the winter season by tourists and natives. Both Moortens are expert, self-taught photographers. Patricia has been chairman of the Palm Springs Photographic Guild for the past three years.

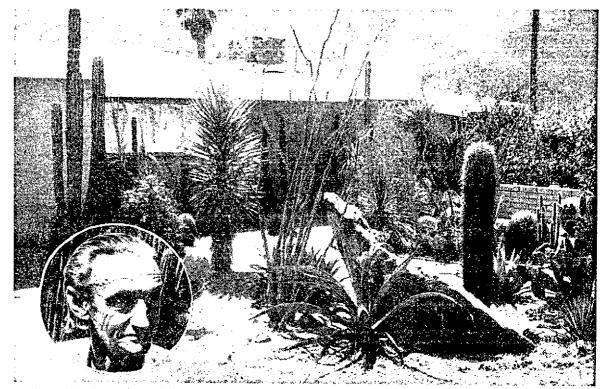

Their photographic skill stands them in good stead each summer when accompanied by their teenaged son, Clark, they depart on cactus chasing expeditions which to date have taken them throughout the Southwest, Mexico, into the wilds of Guatemala and the remote regions of Baja California. There are always a few other chores to be attended to first. Often some lectures to be given in various parts of the country, or Slim may be called up to address a convention. This year it was the International Cactus and Succulent Society which honored him at their eighth biennial convention in St. Louis. Once these bits of business are taken care of the Moortens begin their search for rare cacti. Since they plan these trips very carefully with a definite purpose in mind, the results are usually good. Two hitherto un-known species of cacti they found in Mexico are now being classified by scientists at the Botanical Gardens in Phoenix, Ariz.; and on the Berkeley campus of the University of Cali-of mail that awaits him on his return bome is "what does a complete land-scaping job a la Moorten cost the average home owner?" Slim estimates from $300 to $1,000, less if the customer foregoes rock or gravel and rakes his yard instead. The job can be done in a matter of days unless Slim is working for another Edgar Kauffman, "Take all the time you want," said Kauffman, as they dis-Springs estate, "and don't plant any-thing unless it belongs there." Slim completed the job four years later and the consensus of opinion around Palm Springs is that nature couldn't have done any better.

Cactus Slim (inset) designed this interesting garden at the home of E. Phillip Lyon. He strives for natural settings and uses subjects that fit into the landscaping as if they truly belong there. He has worked for many movie celebrities.

It's Time to Plant Bulbs

Narcissus poeticus, with orange-fringed cup, is less frequently seen in Long Beach gardens than large, yellow type.

By Bob Gilmore

THIS is the time of the year when the international flavor of Southern California's landscapes attains its greatest impetus. Bulbs shipped thousands of miles from ports on the other side of the world are now being unloaded. And once again Southland gardeners will experience the mystery and romance that always accompanies the planting of bulbs from far away places.

Southern California has become a second home for many of the world's most interesting ornamental plants. The mild winter and generally unparalleled growing conditions make this possible. Exotics from the tropics as well as the flora of Africa frequently grow here faster and more beautifully than in their native habitat. Local hybridists, of course, often help them on their way.

THE HISTORY of the tulip clearly indicates its international career. The plant is a native of the Mediterranean area; its name is derived from the Arabic word for turban... which is what the tulip looks like. The Turks introduced the tulip to Europe and it was the Dutch breeders that made the tulip prominent. As a matter of fact, Holland's Tulip Mania during the 17th century paralyzed for a while the finances of that nation. A single tulip bulb, for example, sold for $10,000.

Hyacinths are another big import product from Holland and they are also grown in the Pacific Northwest. The bulk of Southern California's daffodil imports originate in Oregon and Washington. Daffodils in general are extremely easy to grow and may be naturalized throughout the more temperate regions of California. The "paper white" narcissus which are so popular for indoor culture are grown in France and Italy for import to the United States. Japan is also striving ahead in the bulb growing industry with relatively important exports of tulips and lycoris.

Although Southern California is very likely the world's leading producer of top quality ranunculus this product is also grown commercially in Israel and Australia. Interestingly enough the ranunculus, often referred to as a buttercup, is native to Europe and Asia. It is one of the first flowers to appear in spring and thrives to perfection in Southern California. The ranunculus is probably the most extensively sold bulb for fall planting in this area.

THE LILY HAS enjoyed a very long history and it also possesses an international flavor. The Madonna lily, fre-

Proper mowing is one of five keys to maintaining a beautiful lawn. Mower blades should be reset for seasonal usage.

By A. C. MacLeod

USH, green lawns are the pride and joy of many householders, but the maintenance of such landscaping emeralds presents many problems and many pitfalls.

Lawn failure usually is attributable to five major causes which, in order, are:

- 1. Poor and or improper seed.
- 2. Lack of fertilizer.
- Insufficient water,
   Improper mowing.
- 5. Lack of weed control.

THE BEST TYPE of grass seed to shop for is one that is a mixture of grasses, an all-perennial combination that permits all varieties in the mixture to grow year after year. Consult your nurseryman for the best mixture for your location and soil type. Buy quality seed, Thorough preparation of the soil prior to planting new lawns is essential. A correct schedule of enriching soil should then be set up because proper and timely fertilization of the lawn is very important to its uniform growth and success. A fertilizing every two months with a good brand fertilizer is recommended. Here again, sound professional advice from local dealers and nurscrymen will provide the home gardener with the answer. There are fast acting high nitrogen content fertilizers, and those which act slower but produce long-lasting results.

More and more home gardeners are finding out that inadequate as well as excessive watering are extremes that represent a principal YOUR GARDEN

Five Keys to Lawn Culture

cause for the failure of the

THE SOIL should not, at any time, be allowed to dry completely. Bear in mind, however, that this does not mean it should be soaked or soggy all the time, for this will tend to bred fungi.

A soft, saturation watering each day during the seasonal dry spells is recommended. Actually, except in drought areas, one good watering a week where the water can sink down at least six inches, will be adequate. And good water drainage is all a part of watering efficiency. You don't want too fast a runoff, nor a situation where the water collects in depressions.

Mowing can be the key to maintenance and to continuing beauty of a fine lawn. In the warm, dry season, mower blades should be set higher than in winter to leave longer grass to shade roots and conserve moisture. Avoid too-frequent mowings, Different kinds of grass thrive best under different types of mowing. Consult nurserymen about this.

WEED CONTROL once meant long hours on one's knees, digging out the various types of unwanted growths. Today there is a wide variety of proven weed killers available to control almost any weed that may show itself in the lawn. Toughest of the lawn invaders is Bermuda or "devil" grass that seems to creep in constantly despite all means of control. There is no half-way measure with Bermuda—either live with it or fight it. Some new hybrids of Bermuda are gaining favor with those who choose to live with it. Science is developing new chemicals to aid those who prefer to fight it.

Insects and fungus also are a bane to home lawn growing, but control is easily effected with regular spraying. Various sprays may be used singly or in combination. So me sprays already combine insecticide with fungicide.

Homeowners with established lawns, find fall is the ideal time for renovating grassed areas. For tough problems with Bermuda, professional lawn renovaters will offer the easiest solution. Otherwise, mow closely, treat with a good weed killer, work in a good top dressing and reseed with about half the regular rate. Keep lawn moist until new seedlings are established and don't mow until new grass is two inches high.

Landscape With Leaves

By H. G. Riddell

ANDSCAPING with leaves is an exciting and valuable gardening adventure. A complete garden may be created, in fact, through the intelligent selection of foliage plants alone. Or, if you choose, greenery may be employed as a neutralizing backdrop to subdue those flowers that appear over-boisterous or unsightly.

Leaves and bracts which are modified leaves include an amazingly wide range of colors. Poinsettias, for example, provide a lovely red tone. The leaves of the leucadendron are silvery and the Mexican palm appears to be quite blue. Caladium may prove as brillant as a rose with many hues of green, red, pink, rose, white, silver and bronze. The coleus, too, is famous for its leaf colorings of crimson, green, yellow, bronze, purple and white,

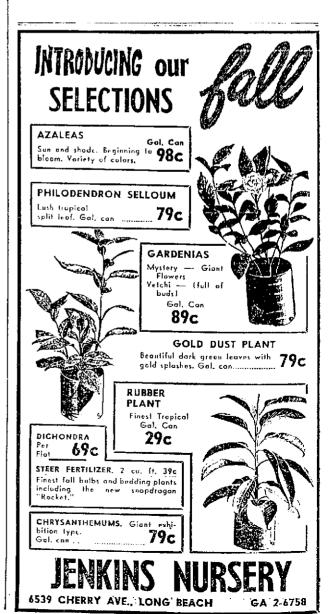

FOR VARIETY in shape and size, foliage plants have much to offer. Some are so tiny a microscope is needed to identify them. Others, such as the Elephant Ear, are frequently several feet long. The gladiolus has been termed the sword lifty because of the shape of the leaves. Foliage of the calla looks like an arrow. Spirea leaves are often wedge-shaped. Some leaves grow hairs and others, such as the holly, are so shiny they appear to be polished.

You can also anticipate a splendid assortment of fragrances in the leaves of plants.

Fruit on the vine are Hawaiian Wood Roses. When dry, pod cover opens showing rose-like center.

By Joe Littlefield

gardener, professional or otherwise, who has successfully bloomed a Hawaiian Wood Rose, in Southern California, and had the pods ripen and burgeon furth into the wood rose. If you or someone you know has accomplished this feat, please let us know.

Luckily we saw some growing on the vine on the island of Kauai. The flowers had long finished blooming and the straw color pods looked like yellow figs. We cut some and brought them back to the mainland. Later the pods slowly opened and developed into the finally brown color wood rose. It lasts a long time in the dry state. Some of the flower arrangers use them extensively in their dry arrangements,

We can't promise you bulb flowers will dry and last like the Hawaiian Wood Rose, but we can specifically state, if you plant Dutch iris, daffodils, ranunculus, anemones, tulips, Dutch hyacinths — to name a few—you'll have a gorgeous array of colors come spring!

There's two ways to plant

Come Spring--Color!

the bulbs. One is to plant them in a bulb bed by themselves, and they're a magnificent sight to behold. The other way to use them is to set them out in groups, with other flowers, remembering that ranunculus and Dutch ris are tall and should be in back of shorter daffodils, tulips, Dutch hyacinths, and anemones.

IT'S HARD TO convince some folks there are hardy outdoor cyclamen. The plants are small, and come in plant bands, or about two and one half inch size pots.

Plant small hardy cyclamen in shade or partial shade. In time they grow into good size plants. They stand lots of cold and some sun. Unless the small plant has some flowers at time of purchase, you may not be getting exactly the color you want. But who cares? They're enchantingly lovely when the butterfly-like flowers, whether coral color, deep pink, rose, light pink, white, or two tone colors, spring forth into bloom!

Like iris, most ferns, and gerbera, you must be careful not to cover the crowns from where leaves and flowers grow. In the case of cyclamen they have no crowns, except the growth sprouts forth from top surface of the bulb. Leave the top area of bulb eighth to quarter of an inch above the garden soil surface. If that area is covered, soil kept too damp, growth rots off.

Fertilize them while they're growing actively.

Let Color Spark Your Garden

equals a lovely row of winter-blooming sweet peas which flower well into spring.

You can enjoy a lot of garden fragrance and beauty by using strong, quick-rooting perennials. Some will bloom now, others will get established for spring. Be certain perennial beds are cleared, fumigated, fertilized and completely replanted about every third year. Gerberas, scabiosa, columbine, statice, coreopsis, daisies, carnations, coral-bell, campanula will provide much lively color.

USE PLENTY OF MULCH around established perennials. Healthy leaves, hay, straw, even enriched soil are suggested. Roses, too, if they are to produce a humper fall crop need mulching as well as some feeding.
You can, if you like, plant permanent evergreen shrubs which will give you flowers as fragrant as any. They usu-ally bloom over a longer period, and the blooming need not be restricted to early spring. Gardenias and camellias are especially nice. If you cannot find space for shade-loving camellias, choose the sun-loving camellia sasangua, a tough, heat-resistant plant with a vigorous root system. Give it acid soil and careful planting, and you will be rewarded all fall with a profusion of bloom.

Don't forget the herrying shrubs, so desirable around Christmas holidays, especially pyracantha, cotoneaster and the hollies

Vines, too, decerve your attention now. Star jasmine, Spanish jasmine, the highly perfumed stephanotis, heau-montia, Distictis lactiflora, Philadelphus menicanus, and many others are greatly desirable plant in the fall for spring glory include hyacinth, crocus daffodil, fressia, anemone, ranunculus, sparaxis, tritonia, watsonia, ixia, gladiolus, all of which thrive in sunny locations. Partial shade is needed for calla, cyclamen, lily of the valley, scilla, tulips.

THIS IS THE MONTH, also, when you should be looking for choice bulbs. Those you

There are some plants that are especially fine for planting over bulbs. The fast-flowering viola Toyland is one of these; another is the new Wee Willie Sweet William, a dwarf that blooms almost immediately after planting. Alyssum remains a constant favorite for the bulb hed. California poppies, both old varieties and new, can be used, and they are also excellent sown in waste places and wild slopes for bloom in January or February, Speaking of poppies, remember that Iceland poppies have an amazingly long-flowering season. Petals are crinkly, and the flowers are pastel. Propagate from established seedings rather than from seed for better results.

Bulb Planting

Some rather interesting new Dutch fris are Blue Ribbon, a large intense Royal Blue and Princess Irene, pure white with deep yellow falls.

Nor should you forget in international garden lachenalias from Africa, crocus from Asia Minor but now grown commercially by Dutchmen, anemones from Southern Europe or callas which are now grown commercially along the shores of the Pacific but whose homeland is along the Nile.

Marigolds Play Many Roles

Harmony marigolds bring color and a long blooming season to the garden. African types are lower in growth than French.

Why wait till spring to buy your new power mower? The 1960 Toro Whirlwind is here now—and you can use it now to vacuum up and bag all your leaves! Next spring, you'll be ready to mow with this rotary that's built to outmow all other rotaries on the market.

ery purpose. The range of colors, texture, size of flower and type of plant is far greater than the amateur gardener realizes. In addition, marigolds are highly productive and will flower from spring through summer and up to the time of the first frost.

For gardening purposes, marigolds may be divided into two main categories: the African and the French. The latter are characterized by relatively large flowers and tall spikes. The African types, on the other hand, possess a much lower habit of growth and the flowers are proportionately smaller. These features, of course, determine the best usage for each group.

For an edging plant, the extra dwarf double French Harmony marigold is a "natural." This subject attains a height of from six to eight inches. An extremely interesting variety in this group is Midget harmony which is ball shaped and thus may be used as a pot plant as well as for edging. Mixed shades are also available in all the more familiar marigold colors.

THE NEXT TALLEST African group is the dwarf Harmony type which grow to about 14 inches. In this class you will find Fandango, generally considered the best red marigold. A worthy companion to Fandango is Tangerine, just two inches taller and a beautiful orange shade.

Single-flowered dwarf French marigolds can, also be used successfully as low border plants. Perhaps the best of these is Naughty Marietta, an All-American Selection and an award winner of the Royal Horticultural Society. The flowers, which are yellow with a mahogany base, measure from two and one-half to three inches across. The plants grow to 14 inches.

AFRICAN MARIGOLD, variety Gigantia, is truly a flower show all by itself. The massive, completely double flowers are almost as large as a dinner plate. They look like a huge peony. This type should be placed toward the rear of the border for the flower spikes may attain a height of more than four feet. The cut flowers will last for days.

Another splendid g a r d e n and cut flower African marigold is the carnation-flowered type. The flowers measure close to three inches across and the petals are loosely placed, like a carnation. The best in this type is Real Gold, the largest flower of its kind —4½ inches across. The flowers are pure gold in tone. Try Frills, somewhat smaller than Real Gold and very compact in growth. Ideal for a border plant.

Even the Poor Grow Orchids

By Joseph Barnes

T'S ALWAYS open season for indoor gardening. The problems are few, and most activities, may be carried on in comfort from an armchair. Growing conditions remain fairly constant, and there will be little trouble from wind, rain, bugs or frost, As a matter of fact, in your own home you can grow orchids that will vie with these of the commercial florist.
Cultural requirements for growing plants indoors are few. This is a universal type of gardening, and can be carried on just as successfully in the east end of town as on the west side. The cost of tools can be kept at a minimum, and you can sell . . . if you want to . . . the lawn mower, the hedge trim-mer, weeders, rakes and hoes.

PERHAPS THE MOST important single factor is proper selection of plant material. Not all ornamentals can exist in captivity; some must have the great outdoors. But the list of house plants is great, including some of our most beautiful and best known ornamentals.

This is a good time to introduce orchids to your surroundings. It is no longer true that orchids are the sole property of the very rich. But make sure again that the orchids you elect will be satisfied growing within your home. It's simply a matter of intelligent selection.

doors when placed near a winwith a northern exposure is Odontoglossum grande. It wants a cool temperature and no hot air. Free circulation of air is also essential. Adequate drainage is another "must," and not too much moisture. Usually the plants are sold in pots. But if you make your own soil mixture, use equal parts of fibrous peat and leaf mold.

THIS IS THE TIME of year then cyclamen are coming into their maximum beauty, Blooming plants do not grow simply overnight; as a matter of fact, a flowering specimen is about 15 to 18 months old. The plants prefer a cool environment, lots of light but little direct sunlight. A few hours of direct sunlight either early in the morning or late in the after-noon, however, should cause no

Pink calles are a splendid subject for potting. This is a miniature calla, the blooms measuring a bout two inches across while the plants rarely ever grow taller than eighteen inches. The color is carmine rose, Yellow callas will also prove an interesting specimen plant for indoors.

Caring for Hibiscus

By Walter Finch

INTIBISCUS, we're told, thrives in parts of Southern California and tolerates much of the rest of our state. The California Association of Nurserymen will tell you, however, that this isn't auto-matically the case. For hibiscus can fail in Southern California and thrive elsewhere, like as not. It depends on how you handle it.

To start off, the man who plants this lovely import from the tropics cannot trust na-ture to bring it on. California —north or south—hasn't a tropical climate with the typical moist warmth from which hibiscus derives. Supplemental watering-in lib-of hibiscus is worth trouble of growing the shrub, no matter what the condition, gardeners say.

eral amounts-is needed to keep the plant happy.

Secondly, in a tropical surrounding, plants get naturally large amounts of decayed organic matter at their roots. In a California garden, this should be simulated with leaf mold, peat and compost, mulched in a good heavy layer at the base of the plant.

As to actual feeding, the need is there, but don't over-

AND FINALLY, as practiced by too few gardeners, the art of pruning pays dividends with hibiscus and should be done in spring, Now, you ask, "what good is all this when you live where winter's breath is a bit too chill for most tropicals?" Simply this—that many a California gardener has known success by contriving protective methods for planting hibiscus, setting the shrubs in tubs and moving them into a greenhouse or other shelter in winter.

By Dorothy Jonson

The vegetables you plant in the fall include beets, carrots, parsnips, lettuce, New Zealand spinach, cabbage and also dwarf garden peas.

The so-called "root vege-tables" like parsnips, beets and carrots are very susceptible to underground insect infestation. It's like taking out an insurance policy on these plants to disinfect the soil in which you're going to plant them with a copper-ether material in order to kill the underground insects without doing any injury to the soil itself.

And here's where your compost pile becomes of tremendous value, because there's nothing better than decomposed compost to use as a mulch in your vegetable garden,

As the vegetables grow, begin dusting them early with a nonpoisonous dust that is safe to use right up until the time you harvest them. To me, the great value of home grown vegetables is that you can practice pest control with products that are safe. And then, they taste so much better!

Hawaii's Nene Fights Extinction

SOUTHLANDERS who vacation in Hawaii from now on will find increasing opportunities to observe and photograph the official bird of the newest state-the Nene —a species so rare that 10 years ago experts placed the number in existence to be less

By Caroline Coleman

These opportunities will exist because the federal government and Hawaii have for the past decade operated a joint project dedicated to the restoration of the nene. Such action was taken after sur veys showed the toll by firearms and the ravages im-posed by wild animals had reduced this spectacular wild fowl from an estimated 25,000 birds in the last part of the 18th century to the point of extinction.

Hawaii's official bird, the nene, exists nowhere world but Hawaii. Above, nene with three week-old offspring.

and Wildlife Service and Hawaii's Board of Agriculture and Forestry is a threefold one. Biologists go into the wildernesses to learn what factors influence the nene's survival in the wild; what its habits are and where it makes its home. So far nine active nene nests have been located and observations indicate that the bird is making a valiant effort to increase its numbers,

AT THE GOVERNMENT breeding center in Pohakuloa, the objective set ten years ago-that of producing some 50 nene a year for release into the wilds—is rapidly being reached. When these young hirds are ready for release, they are placed in a enclosure which has been constructed in the midst of a wild none habitat. There they are kept until they are accustomed to wild conditions.

Recently the government acquired an 8,000 acre nesting sanctuary on Mauna Loa mountain. This is an area which has long been the breeding ground for most of the remaining wild birds. Now plans are under way to protect it from the goats, mongooses and other wild animals which have preyed on the nene in the past. To insure further safety a large area adjacent to the sanctuary will be declared off-limits to hunters,

These are the measures by which Hawaii hopes to restore this bird which is a native of the islands in the truest sense of the word, for the nene exists nowhere else in the world.

Cheeses and crisp crackers to spread them on, spicy fruit in bite-sized bits, and vegetable sticks will give your guests a happy choice of snack partners.

By Mildred K. Flanary

■HOOSE your partners, or rather let your guests choose their own snack partners from a cheese-and-Gacker setup the next time you play the role of hostess. "Cheese on rye" is a culinary team apparently just about as old as cheese itself, so you'll want to include rye erackers as well as corn and polato chips,

You'll feel like a real cosmopolite when you return from your cheese buying tour, It's one of the most interesting ways to tour the world and never leave home. For instance, you will visit France for Roquefort, Denmark or Wisconsin for blue cheese. Switzerland or our own United States offers Emmenthaler or Swiss. Many countries produce the soft, spreadable, process cheese. Tiny rolls of garlic, caraway, or smoked are delightful prodncts of our own United States. Gouda and Edam cheeses originally the exclusive products of Holland, are now being manufactured here at

SPEAKING OF EDAM, how about doing some processing of our own by hollowing out an Edam, whipping the cheese into a dip or spread, and refilling the cherry red shell. Edam, as you know, is the big round red cheese, while Gouda is the little flat red cheese. There is a difference in flavor -the Gouda is milder: but the variation is so slight that you probably will select the type by the size of your party.

Cheese and rye naturally pair off but are not at all exclusive. As a matter of fact, most fruits seem to make a companionable three some. Spiced pineapple is especially tasty and practical, since it can be prepared quickly the Hoagy Carmichael is a magical name in music circles. Now TV is getting to know him as Jonesy in Western "Laramie."

TELEVISION

Hoagy Rides High Again

By Terry Vernon Independent, Press-Telegram TV Columnist

F Hoagland Carmichael had been content to remain an obscure lawyer in Florida, music-loving America might never have sung "Stardust." As a barrister, Hoagland was a dud, but as a composer he ranks right up among the world's biggest stars.

He learned to play piano by ear from his mother, whose ragtime playing was the delight of the Bloomington, Ind., neighborhood where he was born. He played his way through law school at Indiana University with a three-piece orchestra, and in 1924 wrote a tune called "Riverboat Shuffle."

A DANCE BAND recorded his number, a New York publisher heard it and Carmichael has his name printed on a song for the first time. Later Paul Whiteman picked up his "Washboard Blues" and made it a hit.

However, the young lawyer had visions of becoming a big-time member of the bar, so went to work for a New York City bank to get some legal background. Then he decided to hang out his shingle in Florida, but couldn't find anyone needing his talents.

It was back home again to Indiana where he jockeyed around for a year between law and music, then organized his own orchestra and set out for Hollywood.

FAILURE GREETED him and it was back to New York and the publishing business where he resurrected the almost forgotten "Stardust." He vaulted into the limelight and has been there ever since.

Hoagy Carmichael is now an actor-composer-musician and lawyer with the acting occupying most of his time since he signed for "Laramie," the new TV series on NBC. In this Western he is seen as Jonesy, a typical typecasting job, for he is a lethargic, slow-moving individual.

During his career in Hollywood, Hoagy has been seen in a great many feature films and in most of them he has introduced a new song. His "Hong Kong Blues" became an overnight sensation with the release of the movie "To Have and Have Not" made in 1944. Then came "Johnny Angel" with George Raft, in which he sang "Memphis In June." This was followed by "Canyon Passage" in which he created a part similar to the one he plays in "Laramic." He rode a mule, wore a top hat and sang "Ole Buttermilk Sky."

He turned author one time and wrote a non-best-seller called "The Stardust Road." No sensation among book lovers, the tome does contain a graphic picture of his life and the musicians he knew and worked with.

in the Long Beach area open to anyone who likes to draw

/ailer J. Wilwerding

To help fill the need for new artists today all across the country, an Art Talent Hunt is being conducted in this area right now. The Talent Hunt is open to beginners — to anyone who likes to draw or paint. This could be your big chance to be "discovered." Artists are needed for advertising, television, fushion art, magazine illustrating, cartooning, book illustrating, posters, billboards, greeting cards, portraiture, and other fields.

Over $10,000,000,000 is being spent this year for advertising alone — much of that for art. You can see why new talent is needed. Millions of drawings and paintings must be made each year now. Openings in art have increased about 50% in the last five years, according to a large employment agency. Earnings are up. With a scarcity of artists today, men and women in commercial art are being paid more and more highly. Even beginners in the field. Many artists are now earning over $150 a week. Some even earn as much as $50,000 a year and more.

If you like to draw, you may have the talent that's needed for success in commercial art. Here's the first thing to do. Find out if you have the necessary talent. You can, right now — without cost.

Take Talent Test at home. This Art Talent Test is being contributed, free, by a well-known art school to help fill the growing need for new artists. It's a simple test, yet it will tell whether you have natural talent. You take the test by yourself, then mail it back. Professional artists examine and grade it—and if your test shows talent, you get skilled counsel and guidance about a future career in art.

Clip this coupon and send today for a free copy of this Art Talent Test that has started so many towards profitable careers in the commercial art field.

House of Hospitality and Fun

Party house, completely separate from residence, is fun-for-all entertaining area of the Wardlow Rd. home of Mr. and Mrs. Goss which projects an air of hospitality.

By Eileen Ball

THE INSCRIPTION, "Hi! Let's Have Fun!" is posted over the Henry Goss outdoor playroom fireplace. These jovially welcoming words sum up the fun-loving attitude of this extraordinary family home, Located at 5217 Wardlow Rd., the Goss residence projects the kind of hospitality that makes all friends welcome and strangers feel at home.

Because entertaining is such an important facet of living in this home, it was necessary for its actual footage to be substantially increased via the inclusion of a spacious new addition. Before, entertaining on anything but a most modest scale presented a real problem in the 1,100 square foot bungalow. Now, how-ever, the addition of an all-inclusive family room has brought the house's total footage to substantially over 1,500 square feet. All this plus a separate cabana-type party house has endowed the residence with an enviable set-up for fun-time living.

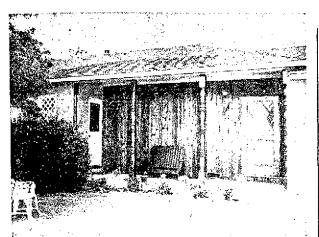

Immense shade trees on the corner lot extend their canopies of shade over a meticulously groomed lawn, flower beds and a walkway which leads to a small porch. This, in turn, adjoins a dining and living area tastefully furnished in French provincial.

BEIGE CARPET, deeper beige walls and sand-toned ribbed silk draperies compose an unobtrusive background for the gracefully styled furnishings. These include a provincial sofa with an exposed frame of fruitwood upholstered in a brown and offwhite toile de joie print. Accessory to the sofa are a fruit-wood cocktail table and grilled-door step end table, both designed with the traditional curvilinear silhouette. Completing this conversational grouping is a modified wing chair upholstered in textured beige and oyster white linen fabric.

A pair of coral chairs flank a fireplace set in a paneled wall. A handsome heirloom sterling silver compote stands on a diminutive fruitwood spinet piano over which hang a pair of original oils that effectively magnify the prevailing color tones of the room.

The Goss' family room is spacious and provides adequate space for informal entertaining. It formerly was a den, but was remodeled and enlarged. Floor is vinyl.

Addition to Goss home blends into garden and increased size to more than 1,500 square feet.

Adjoining the living room is a dining ell sufficiently spacious to accommodate intimate dinner parties (large groups gravitate to the family room). This portion of the room is furnished with a salem maple drop-leaf table the tone of which closely approximates the finish on the window shutters, which were installed by Goss.

A 16 BY 30-FOOT family room (which absorbed and extended out from the area formerly occupied by a much smaller den) is floored in corkpattern vinyl that provides an easily maintained and handsome underfooting. Hand-finished mahogany wall paneling, ceiling and massive exposed beams set an informal, masculine sort of atmosphere congenial with the easy-going manner of enterlaining en-joyed by Mr. and Mrs. Goss and their daughter, Sandy, 16. An enormous tweed sectional sofa faces a marble-topped cocktail table, the arrange-ment strategically located to enjoy the fireplace and an oversized television set. This is ensconced in a pine, louvered-door cabinet which stands on the extended raised hearth of used brick that spans the entire width of the room.

A bank of diamond-paned windows and a glass door relate to the outside patio and party house. Light and privacy are controlled by muslin cafe curtains that dress the lower half of the window sash.

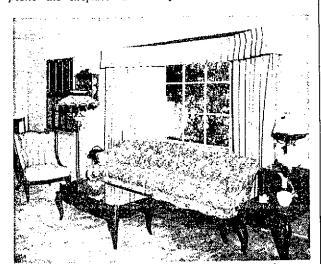

The end of the room opposite the fireplace is set aside for dining. It leads to the kitchen through swinging cafe doors,

THE KITCHEN is strikingly good looking with cocoa walls, sparkling white tile and accessory wallpaper in off-white blocked with cocoa and brown leaf motifs. Cork vinyl flooring and citron yellow appliances are major elements of importance in the kitchen's decorative scheme.

The master bedroom is done in powder pink and antique white. It relates to a bath decorated in tones of turquoise, white, cocoa and pink. Sandy's bedroom, in keeping with the interior's prevailing color scheme, has cocoa walls, cocoa carpet, white spreads and turquoise and white eyelet accessories. This room, typical of a teenager's ideal, has a gigantic bulletin board, desk, triple dresser and high fidelity components built into a good-looking louvered cabinet.

In the back yard, an openfront cabana-type party house is ideally suited for teenage parties. Sheltered beneath a shed roof is an expansive used brick fireplace, its open firebox related to an adjoining built-in barbeque unit and grille. Rough-sawn hoard and batten redwood paneling faces the inside walls; the shed roof is spanned with massive exposed beams. A ping pong table, chaise lounges, picnic table, benches, a television set and radio all attest to the party house's fun-loving propensities.

In all, the Henry Goss home is one dedicated to having a good time. And can there be a happier way for a house to perform?

Living room carries out French Provincial motif. Carpet and walls are beige; drapes are sand-tone.

BOOK REVIEWS

How to Go First Cabin in Life

THE PROPHET David wrote, "As one thinketh in his heart, so is he." Disraeli put it another way, "Life is too short to be little." David J. Schwartz, Ph. D., in his "THE MAGIC OF THINK-ING BIG" (Prentice - Hall, $4.95) adds, "Success is determined not so much by the size of one's brain as it is by the size of one's thinking."

Schwartz then goes on with a terrific pep telk in which he shows that big thinking accomplishes big things. First, you must have faith in yourself; you must think and dream creatively, manage your environment so that it will be a happy one. "Go first class," he declares. You must also be a self-starter and keep in action, and you must use goals to help you grow. He does not stop there; he offers some pretty potent sugges-tions on how to do all these things, how to do the kind of thinking that will take you to the top of the ladder.

Other new self-help books:

"SEALED ORDERS" by Edna Kachele (Prentice-Hall, $2.95); Here is a book divided into sections for daily reading with the aim of starting a healthier, happier life. Fach section contains an Order for the Day, with illustrative material to help in understanding and carrying out that order, plus italicized lines to be remembered; a list of books recommended for additional reading; and a Captain's Log in which to record your own day's journey. Mrs. Kachle is also author of the best-selling "Living With "A NEW LIFE IN YOUR LATER YEARS" by Dr. Heinz Woltereck (Dial, $3.75): This practical book by a biologist-psychologist not only tells how to make the most of life after middle age: It. also presents a comprehensive picture of the entire process of aging-based on latest scientific discoveries—particularly in the fields of geriatrics and psychology, and it explodes many fallacies about old age. There is also specific advice about diet, exercise, work, recreation and medical treatment. In addition, it offers solutions to many of the social and spiritual problems of the older person.

"THE AMAZING RE-SULTS OF POSITIVE THINK-ING" by Norman Vincent Peale (Prentice-Hall, $3.50); In his "The Power of Positive Thinking" Dr. Peale inspired countless Americans to achieve that inner security

Those who enjoyed the book that gave wide renown to Dr. Peale surely will not want to miss this companion volume.

"MASTER YOUR TEN-SIONS AND ENJOY LIV-ING" by George S. Stevenson, M.D. and Harry Milt (Prentice-Hall, $4.95); Why is this the "shook up" age? Because people are kept off balance by the rush, change, conflict, pressure and uncertainty of modern life, say these writers who probably are the best informed men in America on the current state of mental health. They stress that bodily mobilization and tension are really a build-up for action, and that once action is taken, tension is relieved. To help achieve this peace of mind, they suggest tension-breaking actions, and each attacks the problem from a different angle. A book that's bound to help the reader to a better understanding of his own makeup.

Other late books.

"PERISH BY THE SWORD" by Poul Anderson (Macmil-Jan, $2.95): The San Francisco area is the setting of this vigorous whodunit by a San Franciscan, and it introduces a new private eye, Trygve Yamamura, judo sharp and Samurai sword connoisseur. Naturally, swords and judo stab and flip their way through the fast moving plot.

"LAND OF MILK AND OMLETS" by Ken Kraft (Appleton - Century - Crofts, $1.50): A well-known contributor of humorous pieces to the big stick magazines, and his wife decided to buy a farm-something they knew very little about—and get rich quick. They bought the farm, got rich only in experience. Here he relates their human follies in a light-hearted vein, and it's all fun to

SOME PEOPLE collect stamps, others fill their homes with antiques, but Edgar Jones has been collecting magazine advertisements for a good many years. Fifteen hundred of these ads appear in his memorable "THOSE WERE THE GOOD OLD DAYS" (Simon and Schuster, $8.50).

The ads in this glorified scrapbook first appeared from 1880 to 1930—Jones explains that those which might have come out later would not be considered within the realm of "the good old days" to most of us. Each is without commentary because "the man who could top their collective prose hasn't been born yet." Some were selected for their pictorial value, others for their wording, and still others for their "price appeal." And speaking of prices, how would you like to buy a Gramaphone with two records for $10 (1895), a complete set of Encyclopaedia Britannica for $25 (1898) or—dig this—a shiny new Cadillac limousine, f. o. b. Detroit, for $3,250 (1912)? Names like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Premier and Franklin automobiles, the New Companion sewing machines, and many others are there, too. To browse through these pages is like going back, back, back through the years and to discover if you remember what you see—that you are older than you think you are?

J. A. VILLARREAL

A California writer of promise appears on the scene with publication of "POCHO" (Doubleday, $3.95), a well-told novel about a young son of a Mexican migrant worker growing up, bit-ter and bewildered, in a California non - Mexican society. The author is Jose Antonio Villarreal, who was born in Los Angeles and now lives in Los Gatos.

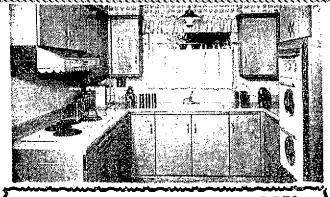

lines, blizzards, party telephone lines, the outdoors . . . it's great!

"THE CRACKER JACK MARINES" by Ben Masselink (Little, Brown, $3.75): Hilarious and light-hearted, this novel recounts a Marine's tour of duty as a lady-killing recruiting sergeant stationed in Chicago.

"YOUR SINS AND MINE" by Taylor Caldwell (The Caxton Printers, Ltd., $3): A novel with a strong religious theme in which is demonstrated the power of prayer at a time when the world is at the crossroads. Originally published in a condensed version in McCall's Magazine.

"ADVENTURES OF ZE-NAS LEONARD, FUR TRADER" edited by John C. Ewers (University of Oklahoma Press, $4); Zenas Leonard went west for adventure in 1831, found it as a mountain man in travels which took him to California's Pacific Coast. This is a reprint from a very rare book published in 1839.

PAPERBACK originals (first time to appear in book form):
"The Joy Boys," reckless pilots who lived and loved as they flew, by Walt Crove
(Dell, 35c); "The Witch Finder," a man who, under guise of religion, tortured women, by Thomas L. O'Brien (Dell, 35c); "Martial Blitz," guide to love and marriage in text and pictures by Stanley and Janice Berenstain (Dell, 35c); "Apache Warpath," a story of the cavalry in the old west, by George Garland (Signet, 25c); "Great Coses in Psychoanalysis," edited and with introduction and notes by Har-Greenwald (Ballantine, 50e); "Wolfbane," a science-fiction by Frederik Pohl and C. ALIFORNIA'S many superlatives include the world's biggest plow according to authorities at Kern County Museum where a ditch-digging giant of the state's early days is now preserved. Eighty oxen were required to pull the equipment which was built in 1374, a forerunner of the earthmoving mousters current today.

As an important tool in the development of the irrigation system which made agriculture possible, this old plow is impressive. Moderns, accustomed to power tools and mechanical monsters, stand in awe of the skill, brawn and sweat which enabled pioneers to handle a plow of such di-

Giff doll is far more than just a gag. She's made from brush, clothes and toiletries.

Guy's Doll

By Jane Hamer

doll for his birthday but the doll pictured on this page would please any guy.

After the first shock of seeing her centering the table on which his packaged presents are arranged, a lucky son, husband or father would find himself fascinated by her attributes. That is because his doll is a cute combination of clothes, toilet articles and a bath brush.

The handle of the long brush acts as dolly's back bone while the back of the brush serves as her face. The somewhat long face is brightened by colored paper features framed by yellow paper hair. Actually, she is much prettier than she seems in her photo for her creator, Diana (Mrs. Frank J.) Hardesty III, of 1923 Pine Ave., spent a lot of time and thought on her invention.

THE GIFT DOLL is dressed in a pair of black and white checked swim trunks shaped with paper stuffing. Red ribbon makes the belt and neck bow while English woollen socks form the arms. The white portions of the sock figures are artfully used for hands which bear gifts of chap sticks and styptic pencil. Any small gifts could be substituted.

The whole idea could be adapted for use at a girl's party by making the doll resemble a boy. The lucky kid would be getting much more than a laugh.

From our first sight of Pike's Peak after the endless Kansas plains more than three weeks ago, to Las Vegas by way of San Francisco and Los Angeles, we've covered 4,000 miles of some of the roughest mountain and desert driving this continent has to throw at us.

There were the mesas and October is a golden month in Californiaparticularly Southern Cali-fornia—with a minimum of rain or fog. Beautiful highways stretch out in every direction so let's see where we might go to get a breather from our workaday life.

A PLEASANT DRIVE that will linger in your memory takes you to Yucaipa for the annual Oak Glen apple harvest. The orchards are red with ripe fruit in mile-high Oak Glen in San Gorgonio Pass, and you may take the loop drive from Yucaipa for a picnic amid the magnificent fall colors and giant firs and oaks. To get there, turn left off Hwy. 26 about midway between Redlands and Beaumont.

OR TRY THE desert, which is mild and balmy these days (with cool nights). Twentynine Palms, north of Palm Springs, is getting set for its annual Baton Twirling contest next Sunday. Festivities start with a parade at 9 a.m. and wind up with the pageant "The Twentynine Palms Story" from 8 to 10 p.m. from 8 to 10 p.m. Baton experts from other states - some of them champions-will compete to the tune of a Marine band. Go out through Redlands and Banning and turn left off Hwy. 99 on Hwy. 187, just east of Whitewater.

ANOTHER EXCUSE to get out on the desert is the 27th Mardi Gras at Barstow on Oct. 31. There will be floats, mounted units, military, high school and elementary bands, and even clowns. Animals, decorated wagons and cos-turned children will carry out the "Disneyland on Parade" theme, representing features at nearby Disneyland. Do not underestimate this event: It is one of the major shindigs of this kind in California with 70 floats in the parade last year.

THERE'S ALWAYS something doing down San Diego way and Oct. 31 that city will show off cultural art of 20 countries in its annual Fiesta of Nations, a pageantry of singing, dancing and cos-tumes. While you're in Balboa Park, say hello to the monkeys in the biggest zoo on the west coast.

AN EXTRA DAY or two, and less than an hour's drive from San Diego and you'll be in Tijuana for its variety of entertainment-horse racing, greyhound races, Jai Alai and what-have-you. Sixly seven miles below Tijuana on a paved highway is Ensenadaa mecca of fishermen-with its many fine tourist accommodations. Even if you have been in Mexico less then 24 hours, you can bring back $10 worth of duty-free merchandise. But no liquor!

HAWAII WILL attract its share of Southland travelers this month for Aloha Week, and next month for the gigantic Statehood Celebration. October is considered one of the best months to go to the Islands. Go to your travel agent for details.

AND WHILE WE'RE on the subject of travel agents, let your travel agent help arrange your trip wherever you go, whether it's for a weekend or a month. It's his business to know the answers to all travel problems, and the suggestions he will offer to make your trip more satisfying will surprise you pleasantly. You can be sure that he is dependable and get this-there is never a charge for his services.

LET'S RELAX: One of the most convenient ways to do just that is a drive to Gilman Springs, out Hwy, 79 a few miles this side of Hemet. In the beautiful Indian summer of this Ramona country you will find this resort buzzing with golf, tennis, horseback riding, hiking, dancing. Rates are nominal at this time of

Got Your Flying Fort?

By Herb Shannon Independent, Press-Telegram Aviation Editor

EVERYBODY ought to own a Flying Fortress, according to Elwin D. Sullens of Long Beach's Fast-Way Air

At least, that's the only reason he and his partner, Hub White, will give for their re-cent purchase of a surplus B-17, the World War II bomber which turned the tide in air warfare over Europe.
"There aren't many of them left," Sullens explained while left," Sumens explained supervising a reconditioning job on the four-engine plane Monicipal Airport, "We wanted to get one before they were all gone."

The government melted

SULLENS AND WHITE

found their plane in the Air Force's graveyard of obsolete airships at Tucson last month and flew the bomber here on a ferry license after mechanics checked out the engines.

It was really a homecoming day for the B-17. Although the craft is a Boeing design, papers for this one showed that it was built at the Long Beach Douglas plant under a wartime franchise.

Manufactured too late in the war for combat service, the plane was used as a command executive transport in the Far East. Along with the mahogany paneling, plush (Continued on Page 37.)

"The most inexpensive way to visit Mexico, please? By bus?"

Yes. But going around by bus is going to require a little Spanish, Not enough tourists travel that way for the bus drivers to learn English.

The easiest bus tour is by Greyhound. They give you 18 days for $200. Everything paid but your food. Leave from Phoenix, Ariz., and come back via El Paso and the central Mexican highway. Or vice versa.

(Continued from Page 35) seats and sleeping accommodations that came with the converted bomber are a series of general officer insignia plates for use in a rack near the entrance to the plane. The plates are decorated with one, two, three or four stars, suitable for display according to the rank of the passenger.

THE POSH INTERIOR has been removed and Sullens and White are now preparing to add the B-17 to their stable of planes which includes a 30-passenger DC-3 and a 12passenger Lockheed 10. The owners estimate they will have $20,000 in the bomber when they are finished with Considering its original cost of $200,000, the new Fast Way Air plane is a bargain. But how do you use a bomber in peacetime? Under FAA regulations it is strictly a military weapon and can only be operated otherwise as a private plane.

"I would be a foolhardy investment unless we had a use for the plane," admits White, "We've got a job for it, but I don't want to tip off our competition by telling what it is at this time."

Will the Spell Be Broken?

By Harry A. Squires

THE MAN who wins the presidential race in 1960 will be tempting the fates which have decreed that every candidate since 1840 who has won the election in a year ending with a zero has either died in office or has been the victim of an assassin.

In 1840, William Henry Harrison gained the first office in the land. One month later he was dead. Twenty years later Abraham Lincoln won the election. His brilliant career was cut short by the madman John Wilkes Booth.

Add another 20 years, and we come to 1880. This time the assassin's victim was James A. Garfield, In 1900 William McKinley was elected to the presidency. While attending the Buffalo exposition in 1901, he was shot in cold blood by an anarchist and died a few days

THE MAN WHO carried the nation in 1920 was Warren G. Harding. He didn't finish his term of office. Finally, in 1940, Franklin D. Roosevelt won his third term. He finished that term, but he did not leave the White House alive. The only other president to die in office was Zachary Taylor, who was elected in 1848 and died in 1850. Again that unlucky zero pops up.

The spell has continued for 100 years. Whether it will be broken in 1960 or keep going for another 20 years remains to be seen.

Gov. Albert B. Chandler. of Kentucky, who is a candidate for the Democratic nomination, was not deterred by this strange presidential procedent, declaring "that nothing but coincidence is involved. I have never placed any credence in the notion that numbers, as such, have any control over human events."

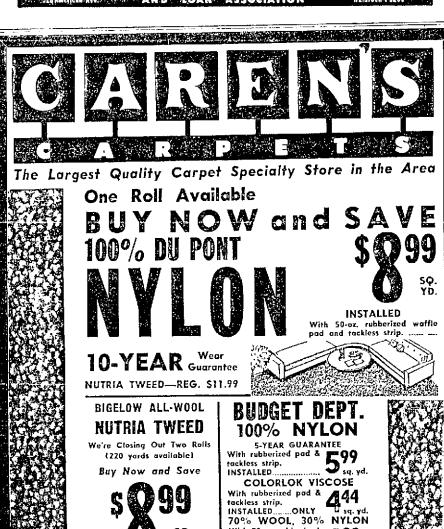

ABRAHAM LINCOLN Felled by Assassin

Gev. Edmund G. Brown, of California, said he has no special reaction to the strange historical quirk, be-cause he has "no presidential aspirations at this time." Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic nominee in 1952 and 1956, also made it clear that he will not be a candidate for his party's nomination for the presidency in

Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, of New York, through his secretary, William J. Ronan, sidestepped the issue, emphasizing that "the Governor has often stated that his job is to serve the people of New York State and to give them the best possible government he can. It is his intention to devote all his energies to this

SEN. JOHN F. KENNEDY, Massachusetts Democrat, de clared that "the future will have to necessarily answer this for itself—both as to my aspirations and my fate should I have the privilege of occupying the White House. On face value, I daresay, should anyone take this

One fact remains clearno candidate has expressed a fear of this precedent. It is apparent that a man who aspires to the highest office in the country must be an individual possessed of a strong, unswerving mind that will not bend before any strange wind of history.

Meanwhile, all Americans should pray that the year 1960 will see history's chain broken.

Little Guy With a Long Tail

A production of the proof of the

By Eleanor Avery Price

THE Beach Combing column of this newspaper recently concluded with a little episode about a new teacher at Poly High, Bob Barkley, looking out of a window onto the campus and seeing a small dinosaur crawling along the ground. The investigation disclosed that Barkley was gazing fascinated upon a two and one-half foot lizard, an Iguana, may have satisfied this scholar from Chicago, but certain readers are still puzzling because they have never seen an Iguanain fact, never even heard of one. And if they had seen the one Barkley did, they might have taken off for the

There are, in fact, several genera of these giant lizards (some grow to six feet!) that lead either an arboreal life or a terrestrial one. They are found in the extreme southwestern portions of the Unit-States and south into Mexico, Central America, tropical South America, and into the West Indies, as well as on the Fiji Islands, Friendly Islands, and the Galapagos Islands. This latter group even claims the only lizard in the world that frequents salt water, the Marine Iguana, Amblyrhuchus cristatus.

L. B. SEED DOG SCHOOL 2550 Long Beach Bivd. STILL TIME TO ENROLL JOE DE BECK, Troiner GA 4-0937 - ME 3-3930

The common iguana, an adjustable, mild-mannered giant lizard, is found in the southwest United States.

ALMOST ALL of these Iguanas have a high body surmounted by a crest of lancelike spines (a characteristic more pronounced in the male) plus a powerful flat tail. So they do indeed resemble prehistoric dinosaurs.

Dealers are finding markets for an increasing number of Iguanas in this country where they sell from a few dollars for the less showy Common Iguana (Iguana iguana) to considerable more for something like the Rhinoceros Iguana (Metopoceros cornutus), a vicious, but tameable lizard that inhabits only Haiti and Puerto Rico.

The Common Iguana has become well known throughout tropical America because it is a favorite article of food. And dealers like it because it can adjust to captivity.

This big fellow will eat meal worms, small rodents, lettuce, celery, clover, ba-nanas, and berries. The babies enjoy insect larvae and snap eagerly at flies. Since the Common Iguana is essentially a tree climber, it needs horizontal beams or branches upon which to sprawl. A good place to keep one is in a basement where sun shines through high windows.

Wisely, most reptile fanciers stick to less formidable and smaller members of the Family Iguanidae - the Chuckwallas, Swifts, Horned Lizards, etc.

CAMERA ANGLES

Lens With a Future

camera world and the one that can be tagged "Most Likely To Go Far" in the near future.

Basically, a single-lens reflex is one in which you see on a ground-glass screen the exact picture image coming through your lens. It's done by intercepting the image on a mirror which is tilted at a 45-degree angle. When the picture is shot, the mirror springs up out of the way before the camera shutter opens to record the image on the negative.

In early models of singlelens reflex cameras the ground-glass image was seen upside down and reversed from left to right, Focusing could be done only with a wide-open lens, otherwise the image was seen too dimly. After focusing, the lens had to be reset to whatever opening the exposure called for. And after shooting, the mirror had to be returned to position in order to see the next picture to be shot and the lens had to be opened wide again for refocusing.

ALL OF THESE disadvantages have been overcome in recent new models of the single-lens reflex.

The Heilands division of Minneapolis-Honeywell has taken over distribution of the Pentax single-lens reflex camera line of the Assahi Optical Co. of Japan.

The Assahi Company introduced the first 35mm singlelens reflex camera in Japan in 1951 and invented the instant-return mirror system in 1954-a feature that has been copied all over the world.

Heiland's first baby is the 27-ounce Heiland Pentax 112 with a 55mm f/2 eye, a pentaprism head and an automatic disposition. The pentaprism gives a same size, right side up, unreversed view of the image coming through the taking lens.

THE NEW CAMERA has a focal plane shutter with speeds from 1/5000th to 1 second set on a single nonrotating dial, A single stroke rapid rewind lever advances the film and cocks the shutter. A red signal in a small window by the speed dial reveals when the shutter is cocked.

A fairly complete line of accessories are available to make the new camera adaptable for use in many fields. Auxiliary lenses range from a wide-angle 35mm f 2.3 lens with automatic diaphragm up to a howitzer-sized 1,000mm

HOW TO Make Plaques of Medallions

I. MOUNT A GROUP of medallions for a highly decorative gift. You might choose profiles of presidents, military decora-tions, old coins, or athletic awards. Select a matting and frame that will dramatize the medals. These are mounted on black velvet. Simple frames are best for small items.

2. TO MAKE plaque, start with a ready-made picture frame. Discard glass. Use backing of ½ or ½-inch hardboard. Choose fairly heavy paper for mat surface. Cut hole in center of mat slightly smaller than medallion you want to mount. Stick mat directly to rough side of hard-board with all-purpose ad-

3. HERE'S THE finished plaque. A couple of daubs of plastic aluminum on back of the medallion fastens it to the hardboard. It was weighted until the adhesive set. You may wish to repaint the frame or give it antique look by rubbing on some gilt.

VIRGIL HECKELMANN Congratulations!

OR YEARS, Ricarts, 4363 Atlantic Ave., was known as one of the most beautiful restaurants in Long Beach.

patrons therefore Many were quite surprised when Owner Virgii Heckelmann announced a few months ago that he intended to redesign and redecorate the restaurant inside and out, "Why do that?" people said, "The place is very nice as it is."

Heckelmann went ahead anyway. Thousands and thousands of dollars were spent on major changes. And when the dining out public came to the new Ricarts recently and discovered that a beautiful restaurant had been made even more beautiful, congratulations were heaped by the bushel upon Heckelmann and his skilled staff.

The new Ricarts in no way resembles the old. There is a new red, white and blue exterior with a smart glassed entrance. A handsome, large foyer opens onto a dining room which is a triumph of warmth and beauty in decoration. The expensive booths are white and low, back-grounded by white walls, black and white shoji screens and trim golden chandeliers. The new cocktail lounge is handsomely curved and cleverly lighted.

The cuisine is as superior as always. Among the many gourmet dinners are abalone steak, saute almondine, $2.50; stroganoff of beef tenderloin with rice pilaf, $2.90; generous and tender grenadine of beef en casserole, $3.25; broiled northern halibut steak, maitre d' butter, $2.50, and glazed Long Island duckling, $2.95. All are accompanied by assorted chilled relishes, soup du jour, Ricart's famed tossed salad, potato, beverage and dessert. Also featured are a variety of charcoal-broiled steaks, including a fine New York cut for $4.60.

Ricarts serves dinners nightly from 5-p.m. to midnight: Sundays from 4 to 11.

Mr. and Mrs. America have been reading avidly—and sounding off about—PARADE's new series tracing the problems and dreams of married couples from youth to retirement.

"Congratulations," wrote Mrs. Norbert A. Meier of Mascoutah, Ill., after PARADE's first article. "Very seldom are today's young marrieds pictured as intelligent, economical and religious..." Mrs. Virginia Medlock of Grass Valley, Calif., reading that the husbands helped with housework, wrote: "No wonder people think American women are pampered."

And five Navy wives suggested: "It would be worthwhile to investigate the enlisted man's home life."

Today PARADE presents the third of these articles. For Mr. and Mrs. America, Age 40: Where Are They Now? turn to page 20.

HOW TO HANDLE A ROCKA BYE REBEL

If your bally goes through a night-owl stage, these suggestions may nudge him toward the land of nod:

- 1. Reasonable quiet, a dry bottom and a pleasantly full tummy help baby succumb to the
- 2. A split-supper feeding may encourage drowsiness. Serve the main part of baby's meal a hit before the regular time - save his bottle and a little fruit for a pre-crib snack.

For a pre-slumber treat...or a post-nap snack, Gerber Strained and Junior Fruits are great small-fry favorites. Made from choice fruits, selected for natural sweetness and flavor, they're specially processed to "lock in" the precious vitamins that help your haby thrive.

> Over-active toddlers may welcome the sandman more easily if you unwind them with some kind of pre-bed ritual . . . like fullahying, making a game of undressing, or saying goodnight to favorite toys.

Night-owls or sleepy-heads, lap-sitters or run-abouts need cereal for energy and strength. Gerber Cereals are enriched with strength-giving iron, bone-building calcium and B-vitamins. What's more, most babies take to them at first taste because the flavors are bland but distinctive, the texture creamy smooth. Rice, Barley, Oatmeal, Mixed Cereal, High Protein Cereal. Gerher Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

Cereal Note from Dan Gerber. You may be interested to know that Gerber Cereals receive a unique purity test. Before the cereals leave the processing line they must stand inspection from an electric eye. This magical device actually "fooks into" each package to make sure the cereal is absolutely pure. This is but one of many steps taken to guard the quality of your baby's food.

Betty Grable

A May Britt, star of the remake of The Blue Angel, candidly admits she is an apprentice actress-in the process of learning her trade.

Q Does President Eisenhower eat steak for breakfast? And please tell me, what sort of golf score does the President shoot?-R.L., Syracuse, N.Y.

A On a carefully watched fat-free diet, the President eats lean steak for breakfast. He shoots in the 80s when on his game.

Q Population experts claim that soon there will be too many people for the earth to support. When will this be? -- A.N., Boston, Mass.

A Dr. Harrison Matthews, famed London scientist, estimates "one person on every square yard of the earth's surface in 1,000 years."

Q Who are two women who toppled thrones of Europe in recent years? -O.L., Staten Island, N.Y.

A The Duchess of Windsor, for whom Edward VIII abdicated, and Princess de Rethy, who brought about the abdication of Belgium's King Leopold, father of the current king, Baudouin.

Q Can you tell me which cities in the world have the highest taxicab rates?-L.T., Miami, Fla.

A San Francisco, Los Angeles.

Q Now that Frank Lloyd Wright is dead, who is considered the greatest living American architect?-M.L.F., Augusta, Ga.

A Many authorities suggest Edward Durell Stone, who designed the American pavilion at the 1958 Brussels Fair.

A Brennan is 65.

Q Is the Yul Brynner marriage all wushed up? -R.P., Rochester, N.Y.

A Just about.

Q How come Betty Grable no longer makes any motion pictures?-R.F., Albuquerque, N.M.

A Hollywood believes that Betty, now in her forties, has lost much of her sex appeal, and consequently much of her box-office appeal.

Q Is Pablo Picasso French or Spanish? Can you name the women in his life? - L.S., Fort Worth, Tex.

A The great painter was born in Malaga, Spain, on October 25, 1881, has lived a life filled with a succession of women: Fernande Olivier, one of his first models; ballet dancer Olga Kokolova, whom he married; Dora Maar, a photographer, and Francoise Gillot, his current favorite, 42 years his junior.

THIS IS

Parade's editor presents intimate details of some of the highlights Ike will see during his forthcoming trip to the Soviet Union

by JESS GORKIN

I made my first trip to the U.S.S.R. shortly after the Geneva Conference in 1955. Then, as now, efforts were being made to defrost the cold war. I revisited the Soviet Union in 1957, and again a few weeks ago.

On these pages are everyday glimpses of life in the Soviet Union that may help you to understand better the day-to-day headlines.

Next week PARADE will bring you an on-the-spot survey of what the Russian people think about President Eisenhower's forthcoming visit.

AMERICAN TOURISTS. One of the Moscow guides of Intourist, the government tourist agency, commented good-naturedly on the 10,000 Americans visiting the Soviet Union this year. "The American tourist," she said, "has so much energy and enthusiasm he refuses to take it easy. He has accomplished what no foreign army has been able to do up to now. He has successfully invaded Moscow."

LEGALIZED GAMBLING. A new state lottery (see photos) is proving very popular. Tickets to win a house, vacation on the Black Sea, car, refrigerator, motor bike, and other lesser prizes cost 3 rubles. But the favorite form of legalized gambling is betting on the horses. A 10-ruble ticket can win 15 to 200 rubles. Moscow's 150-year-old Hippodrome is one of the largest of the 30 tracks in the U.S.S.B. It employs more than 30 jockeys, who ride the 600 state-owned horses. Newspapers regularly criticize the betting at the track as "low enterprise, which to be quite frank stinks of the bourgeois spirit." (10 rubles equals $1.)

BUYING A CAR. One of the busiest shops in the Soviet Union is at the corner of Spartakovsky and Bakuninskaya in Moscow. It is the only automobile salesroom for the 5 million people in the Soviet capital. No cars are on display, only spare parts. Hundreds of people queue up daily to pay in advance for a Volga, priced at 40,000 rubles, or a Moskvich, at 25,000 rubles. It is not unusual to wait as long as two years for a new car.

Many Russians are evincing a lively interest in small cars, although Soviet production is far behind

Aspect of Soviet life that never seems to change is mile-long line filing into Lenin-Stalin Mausoleum (center) in Red Square that of other countries. Small-car design is uninspired. At the end of the current seven-year plan in 1965, about 200,000 small cars will be riding Russian roads

A popular model is the Zaporozhets, headed for mass production in 1960- an air-cooled, semi-automatic four-seater with a speed of about 60 m.p.h. Another, the Ogonyok, will be specially built to take Russia's rough, unsurfaced roads,

AMERICAN MOVIES, War and Peace, starring Audrey Hepburn and Henry Fonda, is the first of 10 U.S. movies to be shown in the Soviet Union as part of the exchange program. It is a hig hit. A Siberian teacher, about 55, told me how much he liked War and Peace: The last U.S. films he had seen were oldtime flickers starring Norma Talmadge, William S. Hart, Harold Lloyd, Buster Keaton, Mary Pickfords Pola Negri, and Douglas Fairbanks, Sr.

THE 10 MOST POPULAR RUSSIANS, I polled a group of Russians to determine the 10 most popular living Soviet men and women. Here is the list, in the order of preference:

- 1 Nikita Khrushchev, Communist Party Chief and Premier.
- 2 Sergei Bondarchuk, actor and producer, who won first prize in the International Film Festival in Moscow this year.
- 3 Maya Plisetskaya, prima ballerina of the Bolshoi.
- 4 Andrei Tupoley, airplane designer.
- 5 Ivan Multsey, agricultural specialist who devised a deep-plowing technique that has increased Soviet crop vields.
- 6 Trotim Lysenko, the biologist who won Kremlin favor with his Marxist theories on heredity.
- 7 Frol Kozlov, First Deputy Premier.
- 8 Popov, the clown.
- 9 Mikhail Botvinnik, world chess champion.
- 10 Vassily Kuznetsov, decathlon record-holder.

INSTALLMENT BUYING got its start in the Soviet Union last spring in two cities, is now spreading to others. Buying on time is limited to radios, cameras, bikes, motor scooters, sewing machines, wrist watches, bunting rifles, and other "expensive" items. Customers make a down payment of 20 to 25 per cent. The balance is deducted from the customer's paycheck over six to 12 months. Nobody can open an account without a letter from his employer, stating how much RUSSIA AT RANDOM. Americans are finding it easier to visit relatives in the Soviet Union. Hundreds have done so during 1959... Three punches on the Soviet driver's license for various infractions results in license suspension for six months. Driving a dirty car is an infraction...Only newspapers in English on the newsstands: London Daily Worker, Moscow News... Ivan's greatest hardship is still overcrowded housing. By 1965, if the new housing program continues according to plan, there will be an average of two persons to a room instead of the present three.

Despite Soviet press criticisms, most cluthing and furniture are poorly designed. With few exceptions, Soviet men and women look as if they have been dumped into their suits and dresses... The majority of the pernoyals (beer halls with stand-up tables instead of bars) closed following Khrushchev's 1958 order to reduce drunkenness. Hotels and restaurants, though, continue to sell alcuholic beverages.

The No. 1 domestic propaganda theme is the 7-year plan, by which Khrushchev hopes to make a big leap toward catching up with the United States in farm and industrial production . . . Perhaps the biggest pressure on the Kremlin to thay out the cold war comes from the Soviet people, who yearn for a higher standard of living and friendly and peaceful relations with the American people . . . The menu of the Intourist restaurants has not changed in 4 years.

The pilots of the Tupoley jets are highly regarded in Soviet society. They earn 5,000 rubles a month. For purposes of comparison, an unskilled factory worker makes 800 to 900 rubles.

Looking over machinery on a Siberian collective farin, I commented on the modern Caterpillar tractor to our Intourist guide. "Oh," he said, "you call them Caterpillars, too.

Crowd gathers in Moscow auto salesroom to make payments and get their names on waiting list for new cars. Owning a car is one of the dreams of the average Soviet citizen taday.

MILES AND MILES. My trip to Irkutsk in Siberia dramatically underscored for me the vast expanse of the Soviet Union. The area of Siberia covers half the territory of the U.S.S.R., and is larger than either the United States or China. The jet flight from Moscow to Irkutsk is 7 hours (with one fuel stop). The trip by Trans-Siberian Railway is 41/2 days.

See the table below for comparative distances—as the jet flies-in statute miles:

STALIN. The Lenin-Stalin Mausoleum in Moscow still is the No. I tourist attraction . . . There are no new paintings or sculpture pieces of Stalin, but he is easy to find in museums, hotel lubbies, other public places. Present policy is not to talk him up-or down.

Khrushchev's grammar and jokes offend intellectuals, but he's popular with the masses

RUSSIANS ABROAD. Soviet citizens who can be trusted are allowed to travel out of the country in groups. The most unusual trip during the past summer was to Finland by car—a caravan of five cars.

CREATURE COMFORTS. On my recent visit I noticed more consumer goods available than in 1957 or 1955. But many people who live in the provinces must go to Moscow or other large cities for vacuum cleaners, electric irons, or even such items as a galvanized pail. I asked many Russians what they wanted most. The 1-2-3-4 list: automobile, cottage (dacha) in the country, refrigerator, television set.

KHRUSHCHEV'S POPULARITY. Our intelligence sources confirm my own research that Khrushchev is the first leader to bridge successfully the gulf between the Communist hierarchy and the people. By improving living conditions and curbing the secret police, he is winning his way into the hearts of the Russian people.

He is popular with the masses because of his peasant look, earthy language, and common touch. They see him as a leader made in their own image.

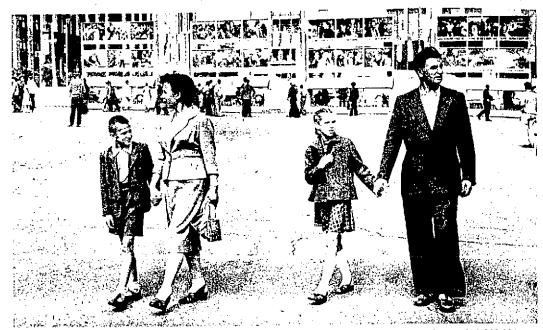

The intelligentsia is more inclined to look upon him as a low-brow who has contempt for finer points of Russian grammar and who makes crude jokes. They would prefer a leader with dignity and aloofness.

KHRUSHCHEV'S SUCCESSOR. Kozlov appears to be in the best position to step into the Premier's shoes. But Alexei Kirichenko will take over the reins of the all-powerful Communist Party. He is a top Khrushchev trouble' shooter. No. 2 in the Communist Party, a member of the Presidium. A Stalin-like Communist, Kirichenko would probably plot and purge his way into total power. He is said to have a silent, chilling personality. A little-known figure, he has limited experience outside the Soviet Union.

SOVIET TELEVISION. Approximately 1 million television sets were produced in the Soviet Union in 1958, bringing the total in the country to 4 to 5 million sets. The weakest part is the picture tube. It is extremely difficult to get spare parts and servicing for TV sets, as well as for cars. Stage shows, concerts, movies, and official news are the chief ingredients of Soviet TV. Two children's classics are a Russian version of Little Red Riding Hood and the story of the youngest and bravest goat who saves all the other goats. The usual viewing hours during the week are from 6:30 p.m. to 11:30 p.m.

TAXIS AT MIDNIGHT. It is difficult to get a taxi at midnight or later in most Soviet cities. Taxi drivers usually are polite, and appreciate a tip. Each driver must make a quota in fares of 260 rubles a day—or be docked.

The following incident is indicative of the friendly feelings the Russians have today for Americans. An American couple frantically hailed a cab in Red Square after midnight, finally were picked up and driven to their hotel. When the husband wanted to pay, the driver refused to accept any money. He was a private citizen driving his own car.

Average Russian family in the city includes two children, three in the country. U.S.S.R. population: 210,000,000.

New housing construction continues at full speed. But materials are shoddy; wooden window frames often warp

Most Russian autos, like these Moscow taxis, are state-owned. Only 30,000 privately owned cars are in capital.

GOOD THINGS BEGIN TO HAPPEN when...

...schoolday lunch is a soup-plate lunch

Good things begin to happen when you give your children a soup-plate lunch. Soup, a sandwich, fruit for dessert, milk.

Ease happens, Just heat and eat, Speed happens. A big warming bowlful of Campbell's is ready 4 minutes after you open a can.

And soup's so right for young appetites. Soup smells so good . . . tastes so good . . . you know every drop will disappear. Take Campbell's Vegetable Beef Soup

... it's so good-tasting even picky eaters perk up. And it contains the good things children need-green and yellow vegetables, and fine lean beef, and broth that's made with meat and vegetable juices.

Yes...good nutrition happens... for some gives you proteins, vitamins and minerals—the kind of good nourishment school-agers need to get them through an active afternoon.

And good dispositions come easy, when there's soup for lunch. That warming, soothing broth does such good things for everyone - just kind of makes folks feel good all over.

How about having a soup-plate lunch today? And every day. You can have a different one every day for almost a month of schooldays. There are 21 kinds of Campbell's.

Have you had your soup today?

Once a day...every day...enjoy Campbell's Soup

Doctors recommend Milk of Magnesia -the gentle laxative-antacid that gives complete but carefree relief

THOUSANDS OF doctors - general practitioners, pediatricians, obstetricians and surgeons, coast to coast - were asked: "Do you ever recommend Milk of Magnesia for your patients?" The overwhelming majority replied: "Yes!"

Yes, doctors consider Milk of Magnesia effective and gentle enough even for infants, maternity cases and surgical patients.

And no wonder!

As a laxative, Phillips' works leisurely, thoroughly but comfortably, never forces the system.

As an antacid, Phillips' relieves upset stomach, gas, heartburn and other acid distresses accompanying constipation.

No single-purpose laxative can give such complete, yet gentle re-lief!

Luckiest 16-year-old in the world

FABULOUS FABIAN

R VER SINCE ELVIS PRESLEY wiggled his way to stardom, talent agents have been searching for a similar gold mine.

Two years ago an enterprising pair of minor-league songwriters, Pete De Angelis and Bob Marcucci from Philadelphia, decided to operate on this premise: "Teenagers control the world of show business."

They set out to find an attraction that could arouse impressionable teen-age girls to squeal, shrick, swoon, and, above all, spend money.

"We figured," says De Angelis, "that if we could come across a nice, tall, good-looking kid, we could build him up into a big-time rock 'n' roll singer. Made no difference whether the kid could sing or not, because in today's market a singer's voice has nothing to do with success. It's his looks that count.'

A few nights later Bob Marcucci drove to visit a friend, John Palmieri in South Philadelphia. Outside he saw an ambulance rush up. He thought at first that the ambulance had come to take Mrs. Palmieri, an expectant mother, to the hospital. Later, he learned that Dominic Forte, a policeman neighbor, had suffered a heart attack.

Marcucci jumped out of his car to investigate, soon came face to face with Patrolman Forte's oldest son, a bespectacled, wavy-haired boy of 14, named Fabian.

"My first impression," Marcucci says, "was that this was the kid Pete and I had been talking about-a kid who could be made into another Presley."

Their conversation went something like this:

Marcucci asked, "How'd you like to be a singer?" Fabian shuddered. "You must be crazy."

Marcucci persisted, "You got some of that Ricky Nelson quality. You could be a big success. My partner and I-we manage Frankie Avalon. We could do the same for you."

Fabian shook his head. All he was interested in was playing football and basketball at South Philadelphia High School, and holding down his $6-a-week job at a neighborhood drugstore.

Marcucci refused to give up. A few days later he called on Fabian again. The youngster went in to his mother. "Ma," he said, "that crazy guy who wants to make me a singer is outside bothering me."

Calling the Tune

Mrs. Forte told her son to be polite. "Maybe he can do something for you.

"But I can't sing a note, Ma," wailed Fabian.

Mrs. Forte agreed, "After Mr. Marcucci hears you sing," she suggested, "he won't bother you."

Marcucci asked Fabian to sing. "The kid was just awful," he recalls. "Couldn't hold a tune for two bars."

Today Fabian-his family name was dropped in the build-up process—is the teenagers' rock 'n' roll delight. He gets $10,000 for a one-night stand. His recordings sell by the carload. His TV appearances are awaited by millions of swing-happy bobby-soxers. His yearly income approximates $350,000. Twentieth Century-Fox is starring him in The Hound Dog Man, for which he was paid $35,000. The studio signed him to do a picture a year for the next six years. And to many he is a wholesome successor to Elvis Presley.

How come? What magic was employed to change this singularly simple, non-musical innocent into one of the hottest attractions in show business?

First, Fabian and his parents signed a contract giving De Angelis and Marcucci 30 per cent of Fabian's gross earnings. Then the boy was ushered off to a vocal coach, who heard the boy sing, quickly gave up on him. Fabian's second teacher was no more optimistic. "This young man," he announced, "is hopeless." The third instructor was halted by Marcucci before he could express an opinion. "Don't tell me the kid can't sing," ordered Marcucci. "Just keep him in tune."

Not quite knowing what it was all about, young Fabian took his singing lessons as seriously as he did his football. He listened patiently, rarely missed a lesson, practiced industriously. Within four months he cut his first record for Chancellor Records, a small company owned by his managers. It was a horror, even though engineers employed every gimmick in the book to mask his voice and soup up the background.

"Fabian is Coming"

Razor-sharp Marcucci, 29, then began escorting his new charge around to the all-important disc jockeys. A naturally pleasant and well-mannered boy, Fabian did everything he was told. He posed for pictures, gave interviews, signed autographs. Soon advertisements appeared in newspapers throughout the East: FABIAN IS COMING. FABIAN IS COMING.

People asked, "Who is Fabian?" Next time the boy cut a record, disc jockeys were eager to introduce it, no matter how it sounded.

Girls who watched the gray-eyed, six-foot, broadshouldered youngster found him cute. They shricked and stomped with pleasure, told friends about him, pronounced him a "real cool cat."

When Fabian cut a record titled I'm a Man, teenagers who knew of him bought it. By the time his fifth record, Turn Me Loose, was released, "Fabe" had become a staple in the juke-box diet, not because anyone understood what he was singing—most of the lyrics in his recordings are unintelligible—but because he'd been termed a "sexy doll" by the teen-age crowd.

As a result of Turn Me Loose, which sold 750,000 copies, Fabian was booked for TV last year by Perry Como, Ed Sullivan, and Dick Clark, Overnight bobby-soxers turned him into their new singing idol, giving proof to his discoverers' contention that what counts are a pop singer's looks and personality—not his voice.

Two months ago, when Fabian came here to star in The Hound Dog Mun, teenagers were urged by disc jockeys to meet his plane and create a publicizeable riot. They outdid themselves by smashing an airport limousine. A speck of glass flew into Fabian's eye. Fans overturned the car. The story made newspaper headlines, and Fabian was launched on the Hollyood phase of his career.

In filmland his behavior was beyond reproach. He reported on the set each day at 8 a.m., was back in his hotel room at the Bel Air Sands by 7 p.m., a model of decorum, obedience, and politeness. He lived with overseer Bob Marcucci, ate endlessly, studied his lines, rehearsed his songs with new vocal coach Carlo Menotti (no relation to the opera composer), refrained from dating girls.

When asked to account for his meteoric success, he

The year-old Brownlee power dam on the Snake River between Idaho and Oregon, built by the local independent electric company, the Idaho Power Company. This project embraces the Oxbow dam and the Hells Canyon dam down river from Brownlee.

How to save taxpayers a half-billion dollars

This big electric power dam offers a clear example of the difference between federal government electricity and electricity developed by independent electric light and power companies.

Brownlee dam is saving money for you and other U.S. taxpayers, because it was built by an independent power company instead of by the federal government. Brownlee and its two companion dams, in fact, will pay about $150,000,000 in federal taxes over a 25-year period, plus about $100,000,000 in taxes to states and local communities.

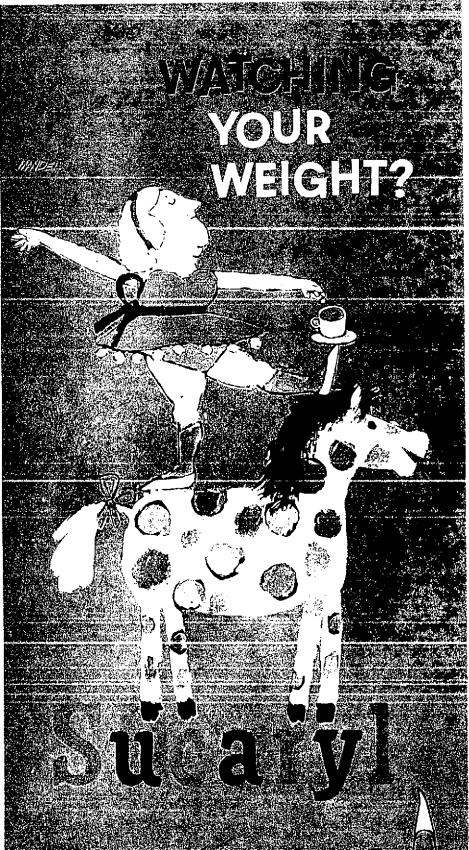

But this power project almost cost taxpayers a half-billion dollars because of the pressure groups that constantly promote federal government electricity. They tried for eight years to make the government build this project with a half-billion dollars of taxpayers' money.

This time, every taxpayer in the country got a break because the independent company built the dam. But sometimes the pressure groups win, and you and everybody else pay hidden taxes for their victory.

Remember this difference the next time you hear somebody beating the drums for more federal government power systems. When they win—you lose.

Teenagers, Fobian explains, see in him a reflection of themselves: average and ordinary. "Maybe that's why they go for me;" he reasons.

Police have a rough time when his teen-age fairs learn that father in town. The above scene occurred as Fabian arrived in Hollywood

Hollywood verdict: sensitive, with a natural acting talent

told interviewers: "Teenagers run the world. They're not sophisticated and they're not juvenile delinquents. They're just like me, average, ordinary. And maybe that's why they go for me. I know I can't sing, but I'm studying real hard. And maybe one day I'll make it. I'd like to be a movie star because acting is a lasting profession. A guy who sings -- well, he just goes in and out with the tide-he's hot only for a few years."

In The Hound Dog Man (he plays a 16-year-old singing farmboy) Fabian demonstrates a natural acting talent. "Matter of fact," says Director Don Siegal, "this boy never has to sing another note. He is more sensitive than he looks, and I think he has a poise and stage presence most youngsters lack."

At 20th Century-Fox, where Pat Boone, Elvis Presley, Tommy Sands, and Johnny Mathis all made their film debuts, personnel are unanimous in describing Fabian as "a nice, likeable, unaffected, down-toearth kid." Explains one script girl, "What I like about him is that the first time he walked on a sound stage, he said out loud, 'Gosh, I'm scared.' Other kids act real sophisticated to cover up their fright."

Says Allen Balter of the Studio Publicity Department: "Fabian is one of the nicest young men we've ever worked with. I'd say the chances of his ever suffering from a swelled head are remote.'

Since he is only 16, Fabian has no well-defined personality. He is all things to all teenagers. Having had only two years of high school, in which he maintained a "B" average in every subject-except chorus singing, which he flunked-his knowledge of the world is limited, and he's the first to admit it.

World Traveler

"I'd like to be a well-rounded fellow like Pat Boone," he says, "and get a college education, but people say I've got to strike while the iron is hot. Even so, I'm the luckiest I 6-year-old in the world.

"Two years ago, I was a nobody working in a drugstore for six bucks a week and happy to get it. Today I've made enough money to buy my parents a house in Haddonfield, N.J. I've also got my contract at 20th Century. And I'm booked for stage appearances all over the world. I owe all of this to teenagers, and, of course, to Bob Marcucci and Pete De Angelis. They found me and made me what I am.'

My favorite jokes

Jan Murray, now 42, began his career as an entertainer at his mother's knee, mimicking vaudeville routines for her while she was bedridden. This led to a resident-comedian's spot at a resort hotel, club work, Broadway, radio, and television. He owns and stars in NBC's weekday-morning Treasure Hunt, and keeps things going Thursday nights on Dollar-a-Second. But he's never lost his touch with a good joke, as can be seen from these favorites.

by JAN MURRAY

I was AT THE BEACH the other day, Miami Beach to be specific, and I bought my wife a two-piece beach outfit—a pail and a shovel.

A FEW WEEKS AGO, when I was playing the Flamingo in Las Vegas, I took my 5-year-old daughter for a drive. We passed Lake Mead, and she said, "How long is this lake, Daddy?" I said, "I don't know." Then she asked, "When did the first people settle in Las Vegas, Daddy?" I said, "I don't know." She said, "When was Hoover Dam built, Daddy?" I said, "I don't know." She said, "You don't mind my asking all these questions do you, Daddy?" And I said, "Of course not, honey, how else are you going to learn?"

EIGHT-YEAR-OLD Johnny returned to New York after a trip through the West and was telling his little friends all about it.

"There we were," he related, "Indians in front of us, Indians behind us, Indians on all sides."

Johnny's playmates became all excited and screamed in unison, "What did you do, what did you do?"

"What could we do?" replied Johnny, "We bought a blanket."

A FHIEND OF MINE OWNS a clothing store. He had a suit hanging in the store window for five years, the ugliest suit you ever saw. He couldn't hope to sell it. Finally, the other day be said to his salesman: "Listen, you. I'm going out to lunch. When I get back, if that suit isn't sold, you're fired."

My friend went out to lunch, came back later, looked in the window, and the suit was gone. He was overjoyed. "He sold it!" he exclaimed. "That lousy, ugly, horrible suit. He must have sold it." He rushed over to the cash register and noticed that $49.50 had been rung up. "Yep, he must have sold it. Well, I'll be darned."

He then strode to the rear of the store and found the poor salesman stretched out on the floor. He was a mess, all cut up and bleeding, with lumps on his head, scratches on his face. The boss looked down. "Did you sell the suit?"

The salesman nodded.

"Who did that to you?" my friend demanded, pointing to the salesman's wounds. "The guy you sold the suit to?"

"No," said the salesman, "he was a nice man, but his seeing eye dog sure kicked the heck out of me."

A FRIEND OF MINE just got a divorce, and his wife married again, but my friend was worried about his 10-year-old son. He was wondering whether the boy's stepfather was treating him well. When he saw his kid, he asked him about his stepfather. "Is he treating you well?" he asked.

Young Charlie said, "Oh, yes, he's a nice man. Every day he takes me out on the lake rowing and lets me swim back to shore. Yesterday he took me out rowing eight miles, and I swam all the way back to shore by myself."

Naturally the boy's father was concerned. "Son," he said, "swimming eight miles to shore—that's pretty difficult for a 10-year-old boy." The boy said, "No, that part's okay. The really tough part is getting out of the burlap bag."

Try these baby-size pizza pies

by BETH MERRIMAN

Parade food editor

A party for the youngsters is no trouble if refreshments are limited to a single food they really like, plus a cold soft drink. We know they go for pizza, and the novelty of Pizza Bambinos—so easy to eat, so hot, so crisp—will please them all. Just be sure to make a big enough supply to satisfy their incredible appetites.

You may want to try the same recipe to make hot appetizers. Cut tiny pastry circles for this—about 1½ inches in diameter—and serve with an icy cold vegetable or fruit juice as a pre-dinner treat.

Bake the pastry rounds ahead of time. Then, at the last moment, spread on the topping and pop them in the oven again.

PIZZA BAMBINOS

- 2 cups sifted enriched flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 34 cup shortening
- 1/4 cup water

Mix and sift flour and salt. Cut in shortening. Sprinkle with water; mix with fork. Halve. Roll each half about 1/4" thick on floured board. Cut into 4" circles. Place on foil-covered baking sheet; prick two or three times with fork. Bake in hot oven (475°) about 8 minutes, or until lightly browned. Makes about two dozen.

Pizza topping

- I can (6 oz.) tomato paste
- 1 teaspoon garlic salt
- 1/4 teaspoon oregano
- 1/4 pound mozzarella cheese
- ⅓s pound salami or pepperoni

Combine first three ingredients. Cut cheese and sausage into tiny cubes. Spread each pastry round with a little of the tomato mixture. Sprinkle with cheese and sausage cubes. Bake in hot oven (400°) about 3 to 5 minutes, or until cheese begins to melt. Serve piping hot.

MR. AND MRS. AMERICA-AGE 40

WHERE ARE WE NOW?

by SID ROSS and ED KIESTER

In the lives of U.S. married comples, each age—20, 30, 40, 50, 60, 70—has its own set of problems and dreams. This article, dealing with a husband and wife, both newly turned 40, is the third in a unique series of articles showing how American couples size up each stage of life as they progress from marriage to retirement. In their lives you may see reflected your own past, present, or future.

—THE EDITORS.

F ALL THE PROBLEMS facing Ralph and Alice Ginn, probably none mags them quite so much as the mere physical fact of being 40 years old.

"I always said that by the time I hit 40, I'd know where I was and where I was going," Ralph says. "But it seems to have crept up on mc. I think I've gotten somewhere. I like my job, and I think my cumpany likes me. I have a nice family. But what can I tell for sure about tomorrow? It's much too soon to know."

Typically among American married couples, age

40 seems to be a time for inventory. A couple has seen enough years, made enough progress, and half-raised enough children to tot up some small successes, list some small failures, and try to figure out where they stand and where they're heading.

They ask themselves: Am I in the right job? Dld I make a wrong move when I was 35? Is it too late to backtrack? Why have some of my friends done so much better? Have we been firm enough with the children? Should we have had more children? What could we have done differently? Is this really where we want to be, what we want to do, the way we want to live?

And sometimes: Have we been going in circles? Like the Ginns, most couples wind up not quite sure of the answers. But, fascinated, they sift the record again and again in search of a signpost.

As a group, today's two-million-plus 40-year-old couples have quite a record. Born in the aftermath of World War I, they toddled through the Boaring 20s, reached their teens in the Great Depression, bore the brunt of World War II, and clawed through the scramble of readjustment after the war's end.

By now, however, 40-year-olds are the best-paid age group in the U.S. The median income is $5,137 a year. For the college-trained, like Ralph Ginn, it is considerably higher.

Ralph carns $8,964 a year as supervisor of benefits for the Denver area operations of Shell Oil Co. Alice, like 13 million other wives, works too. She carns $3,900 a year as a secretary at Texota Oil Co., giving the Ginns a two-job income of $12,864 a year.

Top Problem: Money

To Americans earning a good deal less, it may be surprising that one of the Ginns' foremost problems is money. Yet when Ralph and Alice Ginn assess their situation, money is where they begin. After money, not necessarily in descending order of importance, come such problems as how to bring up 16-year-old Sherry and 13-year-old Denise, how (and whether) to keep up with the Joneses, how to run a household when both parents work, how to guarantee the girls' education, how many years Alice should work, how far Ralph might go in his job, and how to get up in the morning.

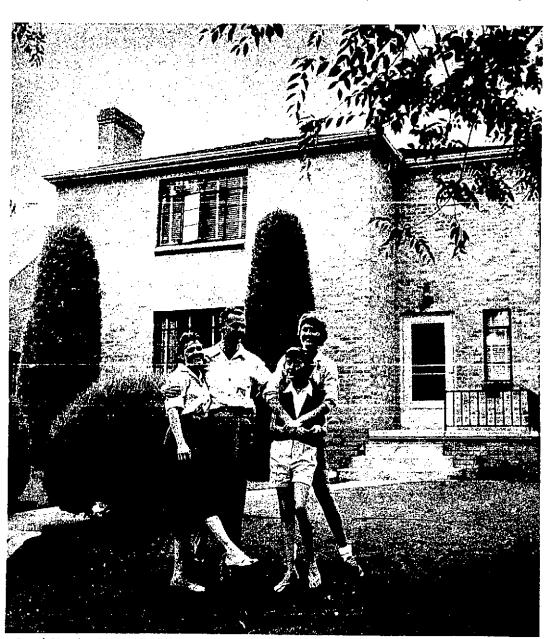

You start the story of Ralph and Alice Ginn with their house. Like more than half of America's families, the Ginns own their home: a six-room, one-and-a-halfbath, square-set brick in Denver's Park Hill section, which they bought last February 1.

The house is their $23,350 symbol of how far they've come in 17 years of marriage. "A lot of our friends ooh and ah over this house," Ralph says with pride.

"Maybe we've gone in over our heads," he adds in moments of doubt about the house. "Now the missus has to keep working, and still we live on a shoestring." As every homeowner knows, housing costs do not end with a $154-a-month mortgage payment.

The Ginns' great success: close ties with their two pretty young daughters

Boys' pal Ralph Ginn leads hikers from Byers Home for Boys. Brought up in home, he is first "alumnus" to be a director. Both Ginns stay active in community affairs.

Father and daughter cast for trout in the swift waters of Boulder Creek. Both Denny, right, and Sherry enjoy fishing and golf. Father also tries to teach them baseball.

and $20 for maintenance. Then there are installment payments: $22 for a loan on a washer-dryer and a hi-fi set; $61 for carpeting and a refrigerator; $15 for paint and wallpaper; $5.50 on a power mower; $9 for a new mattress; $9 on a bedroom set. And they must meet a $59 payment on the 1959 Chevrolet.

"We have a weakness for buying on time when we really ought to wait," Ralph says. Probably many Americans could echo him. Between installments and such regular expenses as $125 a month for food and an average $40 for the girls' clothing, $800 of the Ginns' $831 is committed before the checks come in. Out of the balance the Ginns must find a way to meet such items as Denny's ski club membership, which last winter cost $35 plus $6 a week tow fees. Sometimes Ralph wonders if he really is better off than when he earned $160 a month back in 1946.

On the credit side of the Ginns' balance sheet is a warm, closely knit family. The girls Ralph remembers as "little red bundles with dark eyes" have grown into pretty, leggy teenagers. "We bend over backwards to give our kids the best we can," Ralph says. "I swear that even if I have to sell the house, both my girls will get a college education." One reason, he says frankly, is the hope Sherry and Denny will meet and marry "young fellows with potential."

The Ginns do everything as a family: fish, swim, play golf, visit museums and art shows. "I know a lot of kids," says bubbly Sherry, "who think their parents are squares. Not mine! They're the most un-square adults I know." Often the whole family will sit around for hours thoroughly hashing out Sherry's dating questions. In return, both Mother and Daddy receive a full report on each date. "When a boy kisses me goodnight," Sherry says, "I always tell both my parents."

But to some extent, Ralph is shut out by the rules of "woman talk." Though he loves his daughters, one of his big regrets is that he never had a son.

Both Ralph and Alice place high priority on family life—possibly because both came from broken homes. Ralph's parents were divorced when he was 2. He and a brother were raised in the Byers Home for Boys. Alice's family, hard hit by the depression, moved around a lot in search of work; her parents separated when she was in her teens. Ralph and Alice met when both of them were working their way through Denver University.

They were married in July 1942, while Ralph, who enlisted a month after Pearl Harbor, was in advanced flight school. With the war's end, the scramble began. Ralph went back to work at the Rocky Mountain Motor Club, where he had worked before the war. For a time they lived in the unheated basement of a Methodist parsonage. Ralph's income climbed gradually, but outgo climbed faster. Meanwhile he watched some of his friends skyrocket financially.

The Whirl of "Keeping Up"

"Some people we know are in the $25,000-a-year class now," Ralph says. "We don't see much of them any more. We just can't keep up." Ralph Ginn is still uncertain as to what they should pay to keep up. When he first joined Shell in 1954, the Ginns found themselves plunged into a busy—and expensive—whirl of parties and social dances. After a few months, they had to scale down firmly.

Sometimes Ralph wonders if the extra income from Alice's job is used just so they can keep up. But Alice truly enjoys working. "I feel much more alive, much more in touch with things," she says. "As a housewife, I was harassed and had let myself go a little. Since I started to work again, Ralph says I'm a new woman."

Churchgoing Ginns fill front pow of Montview Blvd. Presbyterian Church, Left of Denny is Alice's mother, who often stays at the Ginns' house, shares a bedroom with Denny, helps with coaking.

Dressed-up daughter appears for family inspection before big date. Popular Sherry has dated for three years, generally comes in early without a strict parental curfew.

Mornings the two drive to work together, after a hectic hour of preparation in which even the number of slices of toast they eat is rationed by time. Both work in the Denver-U.S. National Bank Building, four floors apart. Ralph's job gives him minor-league executive status—"I don't have my name on the door or a carpet on the floor," he explains. He has responsibility for administering the company's hospitalization and insurance programs, its savings plan and Workmen's Compensation. He spends a good deal of time explaining the benefits to workers in the field.

His superior says, "There is no reason to consider Ginn as having reached his apex with this company." Ralph's hope is a job as a division personnel manager, at $12,000 a year.

"The sky's the limit in an outfit like Shell," he says.
"But as you go higher and higher, the triangle gets narrower and the competition fiercer. There are lots of other fellows with good potential."

Retirement is 25 years off, and in the meantime there are many things the Ginns would like to do: entertain more, take a more active part in community affairs, spend more time at cultural activities and in the outdoors, just enjoy each other more.

For the present, Ralph feels he is doing fairly well. On the plus side are an adoring family, the house that neighbors ooh and ah over, a solid if not spectacular job. On the minus side are Alice's working, the tightness of money, and the vague feeling that eventually the string will run out. Where does he stand today? Not too badly. Where will he be tomorrow? Who, as Ralph Ginn says, really knows?

Loving couple still finds time for affection. Of their 17 years together, Alice says: "The first year was the hardest. And every year since has been better than the last one."

LAXATIVE SLAVERY CAN BE DANGEROUS

Start breaking bad habits tomorrow with a safe, appetizing cereal food

Corrects constination caused by lack of bulk

Millions of people become addicted to laxative drugs without quite realizing it.

They begin by taking a pill or a dose of medicine whenever they miss a day. And soon, because they find themselves off schedule more and more often, they are taking harsher and harsher laxatives in larger and larger amounts.

They forget the warning of doctors that this slavery to laxatives can do serious damage to the digestive

It is welcome news to these "addicts" that there is a safe, natural way to break the chain luxative habit. Yes, it can usually be corrected the Kellogg's All-Bran way.

You see, one of the common causes of irregularity is lack of bulk in the diet. And Kellogg's Ali-Bran is whole bran—nature's best bulkforming food. Just a half-cup of Kellogg's All-Bran with milk gives you all the good bulk food needed each day for natural regularity.

Insist on the Original

If you'd like to free yourself from laxative slavery, try eating Kellogg's All-Bran for just 10 days. Just be sure you get the original All-Bran-Kellogg's All-Bran. It's America's favorite whole bran cereal by 3 to 1!

OUR OLD FOLKS

Let's stop treating them like children

U.S. Senator, Michigan

The scene was a "day center" in a large Midwestern city on a recent weekday morning. Most of the 35 present were seated at card tables, listlessly searching for numbers on their bingo cards. At a desk in the corner, the young woman in charge was on the telephone, completing arrangements for a picnic that afternoon, perhaps with a stop at the zoo.

Was this a summer nursery school for children? Hardly. The players ranged in age from 62 to 80. They were physically able, intelligent men and women. Yet the "fun-and-games" approach was the best many of them, eager for companionship and stimulation, could find.

This scene is duplicated far too often. Let me emphasize quickly that there are many excellent programs for "oldsters" that capitalize on their intelligence and abilities; happily, the number is increasing. Even those that adopt the "nursery-school" approach mean well, and it can be argued that, for our 15 million hard-pressed oldsters, it is better than nothing.

But all too many of us insist on treating our 65-year-olds as though they were 5-year-olds. The attitude is not confined to day centers. And just as babying keeps the young child from gaining his independence, it causes "oldsters" to lose theirs.

In Boston on Tuesday, the Senate Subcommittee on Problems of the Aged and Aging, of which I am chairman, will hold hearings on how older people are treated. At similar hearings all summer, we have heard testimony on the same subject.

We were told that, in many shattering ways, we actually punish our parents. All too often, for instance, we insist upon chauffeuring the old folks around for their social visits, checkups, movie-going. In a surprisingly short time, the oldster gets the idea that, like a child, he isn't up to traveling on his own steam.

And how many of us include older parents, relatives, and associates in social activities? How many make it clear, in subtle ways, that when friends visit, the grandparent "living" in the same house should retire to his room? "Old folks should neither be seen nor heard" seems to be the maxim.

Financial dependency is another form of punishment. Many senior Americans have to get along on small "weekly allowances"—often less than is given the children in the family for pocket money.

Even our national policy tends to reflect this attitude. The average Social Security check — about $72 a month — is one-fourth of the average take-home pay. As if the living expenses of a person who stops working were reduced 75 per cent!

To be effective, a program for oldsters must be as meaningful as is a regular job for a man or raising a family for a woman. Games, picnics, "keep-busy" activities of the kindergarten kind simply will not work on a full-time basis.

One young woman told our committee that her mother-in-law had little enthusiasm for a Golden Age club at which bingo was the mainstay of the program. Then a community drama group requested women to sew costumes. It was a labor of love—what they were doing was important. "Never do I recall seeing her so happy," the daughter-in-law related.

Angry Old Men

Another correspondent indignantly reported that a group of older people in a day center asked to form a council to help in planning the Center's activities. The leader, a woman in her 30s, didn't exactly cotton to the idea. She felt that her charges didn't really know what was best. "After all," she said, "I was trained to plan activities for such groups."

Behind our "treat-'em-like-children" attitude are two factors. Psychiatrists told our subcommittee that many of us get an unconscious satisfaction out of showing parents that now they must lean on us. And, additionally, in our society people are stripped of their adult status when they no longer work for a living. A retired corporation president has less status in his home community than a busy junior executive working for the same firm. Unlike babies and children, people over 65 already have enjoyed the equality and dignity of adult status. They can tell the difference between that status and the "reverse paternalism" that we try to impose on them. And they are beginning to resent the treatment they're getting.

What can be done to restore the rights of adulthood to our elders? Here are a few of my thoughts:

- 1 Let's put a stop to thinking of 65 as the black magic figure when a person automatically becomes "old"—a false assumption that is morale-shattering.
- 2 Let's change our overemphasis on work and start arranging for a decent level of retirement income.
- 3 Programs of "gradual retirement" should be developed to ease the search for a new role of usefulness.
- 4 Housing developments for the elderly should be made part of the community so that residents do not feel they are in an institution.
- 5 More meaningful use must be made of the accumulated wisdom and experience of retired citizens. This means asking the pensioned tool-and-die maker to help in the training programs; calling on the retired administrator in an advisory capacity; enrolling the time and energies of older voters in political party work.

Of course, any change can't depend on youngsters alone. The 65-plus citizens must speak up for themselves. Some already do. But many more groups and thousands of individuals must put in their two-cents' worth, so that older citizens no longer are treated like children, but instead are accorded dignity and respect.

Although he emphasized that his engineering analysis has not been completed, Branson said that if present plans are carried out "I feel sure they will succeed in stopping the subsidence well within the limits which the Navy has stipulated."

THE NEW SCHEDULE, prepared by the city in cooperation with other major producers in the shipyard area, programs the drilling of injection wells and the injection of salt water into the upper four oil zones under and surrounding the shipyard.

Actual flooding operations already have been started in the shipyard area, and the schedule calls for expanding the flood to 136,000 barrels of water per day in October; 189,200 in November; 213,400

L.a.C. Says: Is It a Slave Law?

The Taft-Hartley law is called a slave bill by some labor leaders. Walter Reuther has accused the President of strike-breaking because the law has been invoked to delay the waterfront and steel strikes.

It is doubtful many of the steel workers will feel as bitter about it as do the labor leaders. It means the President will appoint a board of inquiry and that president of the striking steelthe attorney general will ask for an 80-day injunction to send the workers back to their jobs. Sixty days later if an agreement has not been reached, the two sides must put their positions in writing. These statements will be made public.

If no agreement is reached the NLRB calls for a secret ballot of workers in each company as to wheth- but that the union would obey er they wish to accept the last company offer. This the law and go back to work President must certify the results of this election to to do so. the Attorney General. If no agreement is reached the injunction will be dissolved and the strike can be Automobile Workers, holding Eisenhower would do so administration to say Merry skull he dug up and represented.

Union leaders call this-the Taft-Hartley law-a slave law. But when a deadlock occurs which is endangering the whole economy and the welfare of the union members, it is clear it is needed. It provides a cooling off period and above all, it permits the members to express themselves through a secret ballot. It takes the decision out of the hands of a few union leaders and places the decision where it belongs.

Many other union-management contracts are being held up awaiting settlement of the steel strike. The nation is facing a critical period when millions of other workers will be unemployed. The steel shortage is showing up in construction projects, appliances, and automobiles. Any product that uses a piece of steel may be put out of production at any time.

Use of the Taft-Hartley law is a test. If it does not work in these strikes it is evident some much more drastic law must be enacted. The whole free enterprise system is at stake. This applies to unions as well as management. If it is found necessary for government to step in and set the terms of settlement it will be the end of our system. It has been done during war periods as a temporary measure. But if it is adopted as policy during a peace period it will never be relaxed.

The American people are facing one of the most serious economic crises in history. Unless management and unions settle the present strike without government making the settlement, we may be faced with a serious recession. If government makes the settlement we are faced with government operation of unions and industry. The T-H law is the last hope of workers and industry to settle their issues without one or both of these disasters.-L.A.C.

Plaguing Boston Airport

BOSTON (AP)—Hope was abandoned Saturday night for the early capture of an egg-throwing monkey that fled from the nose of a DC6 air-freight plane into the steel framework of a huge hangar at Logan International Airport officials said the sprightly little critter has quieted down some but still is taking an occasional pot shot at hangar employes with pigeon eggs. It bombarded everyone who came in range Friday night.

The monkey was discovered Friday in the nose of the air-freighter from Los Angeles. It fled into the hangar after evading capture in the plane.

Efforts were made to lure it down from its lofty perch with bananas and other choice tidbits, but the little beast seemed satisfied with its diet of eggs stolen from pigeon nests in the hangar.

Hunters finally gave up the quest and placed a baited cage in the hangar hoping the visitor would walk in. Ronald Lee

James Palmer, 21, was beaten into submission by the men he had held captive at riflepoint for an hour. The men captured him after knocking the rifle from his hands.

St. Louis, Mo., police captain F. J. (Pete) Vasel said the slender rifleman confessed under questioning that he murdered Mrs. Hazel Riley, a red-haired Wood River. Ill., waitress, and Thomas Nelson, a St. Louis County tackle shop owner, last month.

Palmer also confessed shooting one man and wounding another as he fled a 100man police posse through southern Illinois woodlands Friday, police said.

By JIM McCAULEY

State parole officers, using a drug to fight a drug, last week ordered Nalline shots for 100 Southland narcotics parolees. Nalline injections expose heroin users.

Officers singled out parolees from Los Angeles County to serve in an experimental test group. They thus launched the first phase of Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown's pilotmodel program to prevent the re-addiction of former drug

The injections, first of a series to be given by doctors to narcotics parolees, brought immediate results, including: -A tipoff as to which of the parolees were using heroin again. Two of the tested parolees were being hooked again, and confessed taking heroin when confronted with "positive" Nalline test results.

—Sent sickly shivers down the spines of the South-land's needle-and-dope set. Nalline can make an addict violently ill. Nonaddicts are not harmed.

-Spurred hopes that the injections may be the key and prelude to a breakthrough to an effective statewide narcotics addiction control program.

LONG BEACH POLICE and other law enforcement agencies in the past have ordered Nalline injections for narcotics suspects. But this marks the first time state parole officers have used the drug.

The two parolees who flunked the injection test were exposed when Nalline caused their eye pupils to grow wider. The pupils should contract if no heroin has been have waned, then placed in a special narcotics therapy section under counselors and a psychologist. Psychiatric help also will be summoned if needed.

A 40-bed section of the Chino layout has been reserved for narcotics parolees who flunk the Nalline shots tests. The parolees will get treatment for up to 90 days

WHY THE EMPHASIS on parolees?

The governor's plan assumes the crucial time for rehabilitation of an addict is right after his release from prison. If he can be watched closely, given psychiatric belp and Nalline treatment he is less likely to resume the

Before earmarking $125,000 for the experimental program, state lawmakers studied the operation of an Alameda County program of Nalline shots in Northern Cali-fornia. Only 5 per cent of the Alameda patients violated parole, compared to a statewide rate of 33 per cent.

One other obstacle to strict supervision of addicts in-California has been the heavy caseload of parole officers. Most parole officers are assigned 70 to 75 active cases, and have to budget their time carefully to give extra attention to former narcotics addicts and other problem

Under legislative provisions for the experimental narcotics parolee control program, specially-trained officers handle only 30 narcotics parolees.

Robert E. Seabridge, narcotics project administrator, said the first control unit was set up Monday in East Los Angeles, and 100 cases assigned to it. A second control unit later will be based at Huntington Park.

THE GOAL BEFORE the end of 1960: Four hundred parolees enrolled in the special control program in the Los Angeles County area.

Ten parole officers completed a special one-month training course before being assigned to launch the new program in East Los Angeles. "It will be some time before we can appraise the full effectiveness of the new program, but frankly we are optimistic," said Seabridge.

"No other state to my knowledge has tried such an extensive program with Nalline injections," added Sea-

Heat Hits 600 Degs. on Venus

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) Scientists who trained special telescopes on a space rendezyous between two heavenly bodies a few months ago reported Saturday night they've learned how warm Venus is.

About 60 to 100 miles above the planet's surface, the temperature averages around 30 degrees fahrenheit while it may be as warm as 600 degres at the surface.

Harvard University astron omers and other scientists figured this out after recording the second eclipse of a star by a planet in the 350 year history of the telescope.

THE ASTRONOMERS scattered throughout the world in special teams last July 7 to watch the eclipse of the bright star Regulms by the planet Venus. It gave man his first direct look at what the upper atmosphere around Verms is like.

They used special telescopes to observe the rare event from points in Europe, Africa and the Middle East. The eclipse lasted about 11 minutes and observations made at the Peridier Observatory in France were espe cially helpful.

The scientists, led by Prof. Donald H. Menzel, also made some discoveries about the density of the atmosphere surrounding Venus. They learned that the density—beginning about 60 to 100 miles above the surface-decreases outward about 10-fold every 9 miles, as compared to earth where the atmosphere dimin ishes 10-fold about every 12 miles.

Oxygen Drop Aging Cause?

By BEN ZINSER

What causes aging? The underlying factor, one researcher believes, is that less oxygen reaches tissues later

The theory is that of Dr. Ross A. McFarland, professor of environmental health and safety of Harvard School of Public Health. He says studies of mountaineers and highaltitude fliers show many similarities between behavior of healthy individuals suffering from temporary oxygen lack and those who are experiencing senility.

The similarities include slowing of muscular responses and reaction times, impairment of sensation and the loss of memory and insight.

WHEN AN ATHLETE grunts or groans, he may be improving his performance, says Dr. Michio Ikai, professor, of physiology at Tokyo University. Explanation: the athlete cracks the psychological barrier.

Reporting to the Pan American Congress of Sports Medicine, Dr. Ikai said performance of strength may be restrained by psychologically conditioned inhibitions. These inhibitions, he says, result from an association of pain with the expression of strength. One example: warnings of danger imposed by overprotective parents in

A shout or grunt sometimes may relieve the athlete's Inhibitions and thus improve his performance.

ECLAMPSIA IS A CONDITION marked by convulsions and come and occurs in some women who are pregnant or who have just delivered. Its cause: unknown.

Migraine is a severe periodic headache, accompanied by nausea, chill and disordered vision. Cause: unknown. It appears now that among women patients there may be a connection between the two conditions.

A team of researchers reports in Obstetrics and Gynecology that among 221 women patients with migraine, almost 7 per cent experienced eclampsia.

In another study of 88 women with eclampsia, 17 per cent were found to be migraine sufferers.

Conclusion: Women with migraine may be predisposed to eclampsia if they become pregnant.

AVAILABLE SOON: A "party line" stethoscope. It will permit as many as four doctors to listen in on a patient's chest sounds at the same time.

UNUSUAL GRANT: $200,000 from National Institute of Mental Health to California Department of Public Health to develop scientific methods of determining the drinking habits of Californians. The study is the first of its kind in the nation.

WHEN A LITTLE ALCOHOL is added to the drinking water of laboratory rats, the level of cholesterol (fatty substance) in the blood decreases significantly, the American College of Physicians has been told. Does this mean that a nip a day might keep the heart doctor away? (High cholesterol is believed to play a role in the onset of heart attack.) Unfortunately the study has been restricted so far to animals; results in man may be different.

SMOKE-SMOKE-SMOKE that cigarette, and you'll reduce your lung capacity, lock in more stale air. That's the finding of University of Minnesota physicians who checked 221 middle-aged men, 47 to 57 years old, in Minneapolis and St. Paul. Annals of Internal Medicine reports details of the research project.

SO YOUR BABY eats like a pig. Think nothing of it. The Journal of Nutrition reports that baby pigs eat like

Researchers conducted experiments with 136 little pigs to evaluate commercially available human infant milk formulas in comparison with previously tested babypig diets. Upshot of study, baby pigs show promise as test animals to evaluate human infant diets.

YOUR CHILD has asthma. Statistically speaking, what's his outlook? Excellent, says Dr. Francis M. Rackemann, Boston, in Pediatrics Clinics of North America.

Dr. Rackemann and a colleague followed 449 asthmatic children for a period of 20 years or more. Findings: Seventy per cent are now free of symptoms.

Dr. Rackemann said many of the youngsters tended to develop hay fever later in life, but the hay fever was not severe.

NEW DEAL FOR WHEELS

How About Bikeway?

WASHINGTON (UPI)-Sen. Strom Thurmond, somewhat of a fanatic on physical conditioning, would like to impart some of his robust health to the rest of the country.

The South Carolina Democrat likes the fact that the United States is a nation on wheels. Only he would prefer to see more two-wheel bikes.

"I might introduce a bill in the next session." Thurmond said, "to recommend that states establish bicycle paths next to the highways to encourage exercise."

The 56-year-old senator likes to bike himself but the present considers it a hazardous undertaking. "People get killed now riding on the highways,"

Riding a bike is only one form of exercise for Thurmond, who goes all out to keep in shape and looks it.

For instance, the senator walks to work every day, a distance of three miles.

"Recently," he said, "I decided to see how far I could jog. I wound up jogging the whole distance."

Solons Call for Shakeup in Zip Fuels

WASHINGTON LAD - The House Space Committee called on the Defense Department Saturday to reorganize its programs for developing superpowerful airplane and rocket fuels.

It said the cost of an abor-tive attempt to develop one such fuel from boron was increased substantially by "the whole cumbersome process of decision-making in the department."

This indicates a need for reorganization which will provide better management of programs of interest to more than one service," the committee said.

Birth control and legalized abortions are turning the tide. Abortions cost only 80 ents to $3, or sometimes $5. More than a million are performed each year. Last year, for every three infants born two wives had abortions.

.Many Japanese are not happy about the high abortion rate, says Minoru Tachi, director of the Institute of Population Problems in the welfare ministry. It's hoped many abortions can be avoid ed through greater spread of birth control information,

TODAY JAPAN is the only nation in Asia, and one of the few anywhere, which has checked its fast-rising birth rate. Worldwide, population still is increasing by about 100,000 daily. Zooming population created particularly serious problems for Japan, a nation of already crowded islands hard hit by war devastation and unemployment.

In 1945, Japan had 72 mil-lion people. Today it is 92 million, a 30 per cent increase. Total population would perhaps be 100 million or more if it were not for birth control measures adopted seven to eight years ago, Fachi explains. Now Japan's population is

please accept ours...

We recently asked you to write for an invitation to the opening of our new bookshop on Saturday, October 21th. Frankly, we're just astonished at your response. Although we had decided to open our second bookshop, THE BIXBY KNOLLS BOOK FAIR anyway . . . we simply never dreamed that your interest would be so wonderfully satisfying and exciting.

We're delighted, of course.

We consider this response a bonz fide community invitation, a warm way of saying "Glad to have you with us." We are very happy to accept this invitation. -

In good neighborly fashion we want to invite you, all the residents of Long Beach, Lakewood, Artesia, Los Alamitos, Bellflower and other surrounding communities to our shop-warming on Saturday, October 24. We'll he open all day, from 9 A.M. to 6 P.M. at 4228 Atlantic Avenue in Long Beach.

Come visit with us for a little while . . . we want to meet each one of you personally . . . come and see our new store (and our intriguing stock) ... have a refreshing drink with us ... meet our visiting guest authors . . . browse awhile, visit with old friends . . . but above all, COME IN and let us thank you for "inviting us into your community."

There will be books by the thousands, big and little books ... hardbacks and paperbacks ... picture books and books without. Children's books and books for adults. Serious books and ones to laugh with ... you'll find books here for every taste and at

And finally, there'll be us. We are pretty nice folks with an especially warm feeling for books (and people who love books). When you feel like a friendly browse session, come have it with us . . . you'll be very WELCOME.

OUR ERIN

Pretty Pixie Clicks

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) -The luck of the Irish is smiling again on gorgeous Erin. O'Brien. "The little people," she said, "must have decided I'd had it.

Now I guess I've arrived. At least for four years I've arrived," the TV-hatched pride of Long Beach added.

She meant she had been sued (par on the "arriving" course), by a trio of agents for walking out on a con-tract, and that she will be paying them 5 per cent of her earnings for the next four years,

"Which means," she winced, "I'll have to work twice as hard now because 5 per cent to them, 10 per rent to my new agents and what Uncle Sam gets leaves me not much."

The pixie singer-turned-actress in the currently playing "John Paul Jones" has arrived, you might say, in another way.

HER RUSH to stardom in three years put her marriage on the rocks.

This, along with lawsuits, so often is part of the Z"arriving" process. ·-But now she and hubby, James ERIN Fitzgerald, have had their tearful goodbye and happy reconciliation "and," says Erin, "everything worked out just fine." Ask the frank lass how they worked things out and she will tell you:

"I went away for eight months."

While she was away, Erin did the "Jones" movie. starred in a big, summer New York TV show, and played "Kiss Me Kate" and "Pal Joey" in summer stock. Now she will be Jerry Lewis' dream princess in "Cinder-

"It's a scream," she said, "HE loses his slipper."

IN THE FILM she will be singing again, too. She didn't prefer a singing role, she said, but it is as simple as ABC. "The film is a musical," she straight-faced it. She needs the money, left, you see, after those four agents and Uncle Sam cut up the loot.

About her role as Jerry's dréam princess, she's Miss Blank. The film starts Oct. 19 and ...

And if you can get a script," she wide-eyed, "will you get one for me?"

I didn't have the heart to tell her that sometimes Jerry Lewis has a completed movie before he has a completed

With her new-career outlook, Erin says:

City Leaders Think Threat Not Critical

By GEORGE WEEKS

Flooding of back-beach areas along the city's recreational strand is more an occasional nuisance than a critical

Its solution will require some long-term planning and probably a vote of the electorate as well as approval of the state.

These are the conclusions of city officials responding to a Chamber of Commerce proposal that the beach level be elevated prior to construction of parking lots and other shoreline improvements.

Some flooding occurred as recently as Oct. 2, particularly in the section east of Rainbow Pier, including the parking lot between Linden, and Alamitos Aves. The damage was small, City Engineer Jess D. Gilkerson reported.

Generally, the east beach is filled near the shoreline to an elevation of plus-9, which means nine feet above the average of low water over a 10-year period.

THE BACK-BEACH area is some two or three feet lower, but under normal tidal conditions it is protected by the shoreline embankment.

Occasional flooding occurs from a combination of extremely high tide and heavy ground swells. Along the back beach the water rapidly soaks away.

A tremendous amount of sand would be required to fill all the back beach-reaching at many points as far as 500 feet from shoreline — to the plus-9 elevation, Gilkerson said. He could not immediately estimate the cost because it is not now known where suitable material could be found.

"It is oblivious that this project would involve considerable cost both from the Tideland Oil Fund and the General Purpose Fund," said a report by City Manager Sam E. Vickers.

"Furthermore, the project would no doubt require a vote of the people authorizing the expenditure of tideland funds for this purpose, as well as approval by the State Lands Commission."

AS FOR the immediate installation of a parking lot east of Cherry Ave., Vickers pointed out that the plan contemplates a plus-10 elevation, along with the construction of a sheetoile barrier to protect against erosion.

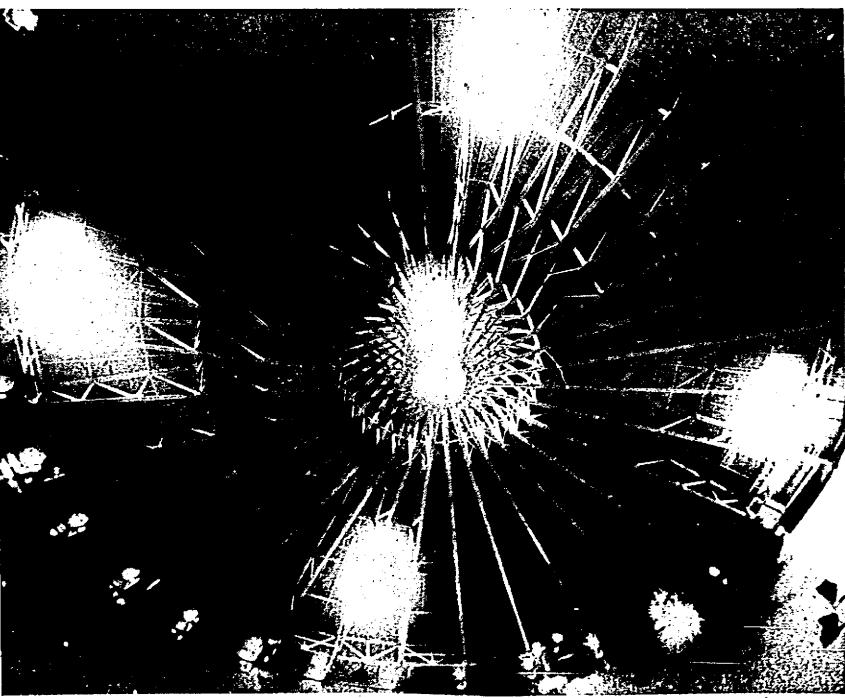

The Cherry Ave. lot is the subject of a public hearing set for 9 a.m. Thursday before the City Planning Commis-STOIL.

The city manager's report also commented on another chamber recommendation that arrangements be made for proper disposal of surface water from streets bordering the beach

Wheel of Steel Will Help Your Wife's Cooking

A giant wheel of steel which will help to compress gas in a record-sized holder under construction by Long Beach Gas Department provided this unusual camera angle for Staff Photographer Chuck Sundquist. The holder-214 feet in diameter and 171 feet high-will have a capacity of 5 million cubic feet ofgas. With an accompanying compressor plant, the project south of Carson St. near the Honor Farm will cost $2,500,000, with completion scheduled at year's end. A control panel will open and close gas raives up to two miles from the plant as an operator duals revied signals.

Triumph for Moderation

THEIR POST-WAR taste of socialism was enough, apparently, to last Britons indefinitely.

For the third straight election, they have affirmed their confidence in the Conservative government and turned aside the ultra-liberal Labor party.

This week's election was, in fact, an overwhelming victory for Harold Macmillan in the tradition of the landslide victories for moderate Republican Dwight Eisenhower in this country in 1952 and 1956.

THE CONSERVATIVE victory is significant to America because it means that the government of 'America's chief ally in the cold war remains a friendly and agreeable one with aims and methods similar to in ... In the grand design of world politics, it is a friumph for moderation and a defeat for radical concepts that lead down the road to communism and into the hands of Nikita Khrushchev.

BRITAIN SINCE THE WAR has given a fair test -to two opposing philosophies of government. The Labor party's Socialists were allowed to show what could be accomplished through nationalized industries and generous welfare programs. The nation grew hard -up and went on the financial rocks. The Conservatives took over and brought back stability and good times. Since the Conservatives came into power, Britain has built 2,000,000 new homes and increased its flow of TV sets, refrigerators, and other consumer goods. The : Macmillan government in the recent campaign prom-Fised further industrial expansion and prosperity but not at the cost of inflation.

IT WAS HARDLY an exciting program, but it made more sense to British voters than Labor's promrises to renationalize the steel industry, nationalize other industry, take over key industries which fail to perform satisfactorily, and provide more pensions, 'more free medical treatment and, believe it or not, free prescriptions. All of this with a reduction in taxes, of course!

But the voters were having no more of the pie in the sky.

A LABOR VICTORY would have meant some radical changes in foreign policy. Laborites favor military withdrawal from Central Europe and, consequently, a weakened North Atlantic Treaty Organization. They want Red China in the United Nations. They advocate a "give and take" attitude toward the

. . . British voters apparently thought that the Labor -party put a bit too much stress on the "give."

Politicos Sounding Out Potential V-P's

By ROBERT E. LEE

WASHINGTON - Kocha Popovich, Yugoslavia's Foreign Secretary, who is visiting Washington, has been the it of some good-natured kidding about both his surname and his early career as a poet in Paris. As for the name, Swhich is far more common than Smith is in Anglo-Saxon countries, he only smiles at estimates that there are 16,000 Popovichs in Belgrade alone - quite a fair-sized family constituency for a political figure. As for the poetry, he sadmits he was "avant-garde" but denies he was "far out avant-garde," as one American acquaintance described him.

NOW THAT THE IDENTITY of each party's presidential nominee is apparently all settled (it'll be Brown, Humphrey, Johnson, Kennedy, Meyner, Stevenson, Symington or a dark horse for the Democrats; Nixon, Rockefeller for a dark horse for the Republicans) the vice presidential soundings are being taken. The Kennedy forces are looking admiringly at such liberal midwestern governors as Freeman of Minnesota, Loveless of Iowa and Docking of Kany sas. All the other Democrats are looking longingly at Brown, who doesn't seem to be interested. Californian Nixon and New Yorker Rockefeller are looking inland, where Republican Rep. Charlie Halleck (Ind.) has declared himself available and Republican Rep. Jerry Ford (Mich.)

has friends who say he is, too.

Many self-styled experts think able, young Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon would fill second place on the GOP ticket nicely. But Hatfield's geography is against him if Nixon is nominated and his liberalism would appear to rule Thim out if the equally liberal Rockefeller comes through.
However, at 37, Hatfield can afford to sit out next year's election and wait for the future.

THE NAVY IS STILL SCRAPPING quietly with the Army and the Air Force over roles and missions in defense strategy but its Secretary, William B. Franke, staged an imprecedented display of bi-partisan political teamwork

Franke invited all the living former secretaries and essistant secretaries of the Navy to'a meeting to discuss his own plans for the service and solicit their advice. He sent out 23 invitations and received 15 acceptances—from Democrats as well as Republicans. Six men had served in the Truman administration and two in the Hoover administration. The remainder had been in and out under

The Hoover assistant secretaries were Ernest L. Jahnske of Mississippi and David S. Ingalls of Ohio. Ingalls, ferner publisher of the Cincinnati Times-Star, doubtless would have had a much bigger job than an assistant secre-teryship had the late Sen. Robert A. Taft ever become President. He was a cousin of Taft and his chief political adviser. The assumption was that he'd have been the Sherman Adams of a Bob Taft administration.

Nobody seems to know how the committee can and will relate all these juicy morsels to the problem of improving the Federal Communications Commission, whose job it is to regulate the radio-television industry. That it can stand improvement is generally recognized

It does appear somewhat strange that none of the commissioners ever seemed to hear what was widely rumored in one of the world's most gossipy trades. The FCC's police powers are subject to limitation, but its power to grant, withhhold and renew radio and TV licenses is formidable enough to insure its members a hearing when they suspect fraud on the Air Pacific. ## Water Fight in Legislature Mere Prelude to Big Bout?

SACRAMENTO (CNS) - From all indications, legislative battles over California Water conservation and distribution were merely a warming up series of struggles for the real fight, which will come at the general election in Novem-

the conservation program under way. The bond issue must be voted on by the people in November, 1960. Although more than a year away from the date, lines already are being drawn for campaigns to defeat the program, or change it materially from what the Governor sub-

From a statement issued recently by the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California, it is indicated that unless certain changes are made in the Gov-ernor's program, this powerful district, which controls distribution in the South, will exercise the prerogative of opposing the Brown program.

The district has revived the controversial issue of a constitutional amendment, but in its policy statement, indi-cated it might go along without the amendment, provided the area is given contract assurances for a continuing supply of water.

THE POLICY STATEMENT contained a request for a "thorough engineering, legal and financial appraisal;" specific projects to be outlined in the bond issue; determination of the potential ability of the water users to pay for the operation, maintenance and bond servicing costs during the life of the bonds; creation of a California Water Authority to direct construction and operation of the development system; firm contracts for delivery of water to Southern California and assurance of financing for completion of the project should the bond issue prove insufficient.

GOV. BROWN SAID the district is completely unrealistic, and not familiar with the things we can do without any legislative changes or anything else." He said firm contracts are being worked on at the present time, but he doesn't know yet whether he will put a special legislative session call on to revise the legislation calling for the bond issue to bring it more in line with Southern California requests.

Landrum-Griffin Bill Criticized

EDITOR:

Apparently W. D. Graff read some meanings I never intended in my recent letter. Perhaps this will clarify my viewpoint. (1) I didn't intend to imply the McClei-Ian Committee was sponsoring "right to work" forces. The committee disclosures merely set the stage for what the "right to work" forces thought was the ideal time to accomplish their ends! (2) While the Landrum - Griffin Bill will act as a check on the relatively few chiselers and grafters who hold a union office, and certainly this is a desirable effect, there is more to the bill than just GRAFF asked: "What is there in the bill that is punitive?" Here is a brief outline. The bill places new restrictions on picketing, particularly on the number of pickets in a given area. Generally, in a labor dispute the fewer pickets there are, the less effective a picket line. Harmful? Also the bill restricts, if not altogether prohibiting, any use of a secondary boycott. This is a rather unpublicized and involved side of labor negotiations. But it is important in some fields, such as new construction. The damage this section will do to labor organizations won't be accurately measurable for a time, but it will be considerable. And it is punitive.

Bar Assn. President Criticizes Editorial

The editorial "The Continued Story" on Oct. 6, starts out:

"A reader wants to know what happened on Sept. 17, the day Robert L McCarthy, director of the State Department of Motor Vehicles, was supposed to appear for a contempt of court hearing in Long Beach Munici-pal Court." and then answers the reader by saying, "Nothing happened." IT GOES on to say that Judge Charles T. Smith had signed an order for Director McCarthy to apear on Sept. 17 and To the surprise of nobody in the legal profession, the hearing was con-tinued to Oct. 8. This was to permit McCarthy to try to block any local court action." The editorial concludes. "Well, all of this is just getting started, of course. Some day something about the case may be settled, maybe. Meanwhile, if you want to put your son in a profession with a future, make him a lawyer."

THIS answer to the reader, we are afraid, puts him on the wrong track. We would like to try to set him straight. The legal problem which underlies the order which was issued by Judge Smith is the doubt which now exists about the power of the Director of Motor Ve-hicles to suspend the license of a person who has been convicted of drunk driving when the trial court recommends against the suspension. Until quite recently, the Director uniformly followed the court's recommendation. Now he does not. The doubt which has been mentioned arises out of an ambiguity in our drunk driving statutes. To date that doubt has not been resolved by our appellate courts and, until it is resolved, the judges of the municipal courts, as well as the Director of Motor Vehicles, are free to put their own interpretation upon the statutes.

The order to show cause which was issued by Judge Smith was conceived by the attorney who represents two persons whose driver's licenses were suspended by the Director, contrary to the recommen-dation of the judge before whom they pled guilty of drunk driving, as the quickest and least expensive way to get the problem before our appellate courts. What has happened was just what was contemplated: namely, that the Attorney General -acting for the Director, as the law requires—would get a writ from the Superior Court which would prohibit the Municipal Court from proceeding with the order to show cause. That writ was issued on Oct. 7. The effect of it is to take the problem from the Municipal Court to the Superior Court and open the way for an appeal through our highest appellate courts. These appellate courts are not open to direct appeals from the Municipal Court, where the drunk driving cases were heard. # Notre Dame Crushes Weak Cal

Dodgers to Repeat for Pennant! Stringers

With the pennant and World Series wrapped up and stored at least a year ahead of schedule, the Dodgers' next problem is to keep the moths out of the attic.

Difficult as it may be to improve on a winner, the Dodgers cannot afford to stand still. They must, and undoubtedly will, enter what promises to be the most active winter trade market in history.

The biggest hole to be patched in 1960 is the bullpen. The rest of the club is basically sound. It is well balanced between youngsters and veterans. Gil Hodges, at 35, is the oldest of the regulars. Duke Snider is next at 33.

If Hodges and Snider, plagued by injuries this year, can hold up for another season or two, their eventual successors will have time to mature in the farm system. In fact, the farm is so well stocked with future major leaguers that, if some outside bullpen help can be found for 1960, the Dodgers should rank 1-2-3 for the next 10

An inventory of each department:

Sherry, the Dodgers need another reliefer, preferably a "long man." The starting pitchers finished 43 games but 54 times they were belted out in the fifth inning or earlier.

The need is for a reliefer who can work about four or five middle innings until Sherry, the late man, can be brought in without much strain. If Sherry is used no more than an inning or two at a time, he will be able to work more often and thus become more valuable.

Given the proper amount of rest, Chuck Churn might be able to fill the bill. He was in 15 games and had only three bad ones, each time when he was overworked.

three innings during the September stretch drive. He won his last game on Aug. 1.

Klippstein, troubled by a bad back, didn't win a game

after May 19 and pitched only six innings in the last three

Now that Maury Wills has blossomed as a shortstop, there isn't a change in sight. Scouting director Al Campanis maintains that Wills can play in the majors from six to eight years if he is able to hit .250. He hit .260 after a slow start and even outplayed the White Sox' heralded Luis Aparicio in the World Series.

Utility infielder Don Zimmer, injured early in the year and in the doghouse later, expects to be traded. He may be offered to an American League club in exchange for a relief pitcher.

MEMORIAL COLISEUM, BERKELEY - Notre Dame's Fighting Irish, living up to their name during and after actual action on the field, crushed startingly weak California, 28-6, here Saturday before 68,500 qually-flattened fans.

Last year's Pacific Coast Conference champions were no match for the ferocious men from South Bend, whose new coach, Joe Kuharich, promised to inject some professional uggedness into the Irish this season.

He did. Notre Dame was penalized 15 times for a monstrous total of 158 yards, while two of the Irish, Patrick Heenan and Nicholas Buoinconti, were ejected.

Heenan was bounced on a unique play wherein Notre Dame was charged with both roughing the passer and interfering with the receiver. You won't find that one repeated even when the Rams and Bears collide today. The tariff was high, too-25 yards, the point where the receiver was mussed up.

TD for Izo on First Pass

Izo and Mack played only briefly. Izo's 1959 debut he was missing from Notre Dame's first two games because of injuries—was brilliant in that he threw a touchdown pass on his first attempt this season. Mack was no knife here Saturday as he was injured in the first quarter and saw any brief service thereafter.

Crotty, the bruising fullback, was hurt early, too, as was Notre Dame's best lineman, Myron Pottios, who's probably out for the season.

But the sophomores—and junior Bob Scarpitto, who de-mobilized SC's troops last season in the Coliseum—were something to behold.

The Irish scored so easily and so early-with only 7.07 gone in the second quarter they boasted a 21-0 edge that you had an idea they might run it up to 100-0. However, Kuharich used everybody on the Notre Dame bench even his fifth string quarterback—so the adding machines weren't

Notre Dame had its first points on the board in 1:42:01 the first period, thanks to a collossal Bear blunder. On Cal's first scrimmage play, quarterback Wayne Crow hurled a pitchout somewhere in the direction of downtown Oakland and Notre Dame recovered it on Cal's 22.

After one play lost four yards, Izo riffled a sizzler Scarpitto on the 13 and the New Jersey swiftie streaked into

Irish Drive for TD No. 2

Notre Dame's second touchdown was recorded after 2:32 of the next period. No. 2 quarterback Don White slithered into the end zone from one yard out after a 68-yard drive mounted on nine plays. Dabiero, a product of Stan Musial's home town of Donora, Pa, was the key in this drive with three runs totalling 26 yards.

The third touchdown was posted less than five minutes later, thanks again to another Golden Bear miscue. Aggressive Mr. Heenan pounced on a Bear fumble on the Cal 40 and eight plays later, Gray nudged into the promised land from nothing less than the one-inch line.

At that point, Kuharich began shooting every green shirt on his bench into the fray and the audience was kept yawning until midway through the last quarter.

Then the fun began. Heenan got the hook first, then was followed by two chaps wearing No. 64-Buoncionti and Cal's Doug Graham, who staged the best on-field brawl since Basilio met Robinson.

The blood-letting stirred the Golden Bear. The heretofore toothless Berkeley tabby rolled right through Notre Dame basking in the World Series spotlight today. After all, we had a comfortable lead with just a few weeks to go and needed only to play .500 ball to win the title. I place all the blame for the Giant's downfall on Horace Stoneham."

The sports editor claimed general manager Stoneham ordered field boss Billy Rigney to play Andre Rodgers and Willie McCovey, even though Rigney balked furiously.

"It was on Stoneham's order that Rodgers stayed in the lineup and lost so many games before July 4," raged the newsman. "When Eddie Bressoud came in at sportstop our whole defense

"McCovey gave the Giants a real lift his first two weeks at first base, but he outlived his usefulness. Mc-Covey will be great, but he hurt the Giants horribly on defease and his .250 batting average for the last month didn't compensate for his failings in the field.

"Righey may get canned," the sports editor stormed, but it'd be a crying shame. What do we need? A Larry Sherry in the bullpen—that's what we need."

I WASN'T AWARE OF IT, but San Francisco apparently is "in" as a member of the new American Pro Football League. The information was gleaned from Notre Dame radiocaster Harry Wismer, who owns 50 per cent of the New York club in the circuit.

"San Francisco is definitely in our planning." said "Witmer, "We'd also like to play our games in the Giants' Inew Candlestick Park, It's beautiful and ideal for football. We might even play here in Berkeley at Cal's stadium, but we'd rather not go to Kezar. We want to give the fans something new and Kezar is old hat."

Wismer touched another interesting point: "Our new a football league isn't worried about players. We're dealing all the time. In fact, you'd be surprised at the Ram players we've talked to so far and the interest they've shown."

THE RAMS' PITIFUL SHOWING against the 49ers last weekend actually shocked some old-line newsmen around here. "I've seen some miserable games by the 49ers and the college clubs," declared one, "but the Rams' showing last Sunday was the worst. They all played as if they owned the world's biggest hangovers."

"It looks as if Cal is in for another tough game today," one scribe said before the Bears' brush with Notre Dame, "but who knows? Even Bert Bell couldn't believe the Rams were losing last Sunday,"

Wismer claims also that his New York pro club already has a coach, but he won't reveal the name until-alter the season because "he's now coaching a college team. He's big." The names of 15U's Paul Dietzel and Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson immediately popped up-they're BIG and also excellent friends of Wismer.

Some Notre Damers claim their ousted young coach, Terry Brennan, is set for a major college post next season. liot et Illinois.

This is being written before the Stanford-Washington outcome, but one press box nester said if it rains in Seattle, the Indians will triumph. Why? "Because Stanford's coach, Jack Curtice, says so, that's why," the man re-plied. "Curtice said the 16-14 Stanford loss in a driving rainstorm at Wisconsin was the greatest game a Stanford team's played since he's been there. Jack said also that Dick Norman's pass receivers, Chris Burford and Ben Robinson, caught the ball better when it was soggy as a fraternity house bath towel." And that's pretty soggy.

Hawkeyes Roll Over Michigan State, 37-8

IOWA CITY (P)-lows bounced back into the Big Ten title picture Saturday with quarterback Olen Treadway's passes providing the punch in a 37-8 victory over Michigan State before a record crowd of 59,200.

The defending champions atumned the Spartans with a 23-0 halftime lead based on a flurry of passes from Treadway to end Don Norton. The combination accounted for two first-half touchdowns on 31 and 17-yard plays.

Interceptions and penalties hobbled the Spartans and they never seriously threatened. Quarterback Dean Look capped a 64-yard drive with a 13-yard touchdown toss to fullback Carl Charon late in the third period for their only scoring gesture.

A 95-yard runback by Bob Jeter with the ensuing kickoff permanently erased any threat. Although Jeter was pulled down on the one, Wilburn Hollis got the touchdown a couple of plays later.

"And that Halas does not confine his tricks to the field of play either.

*I remember one year Hamp Pool gave us a really fiery pen talk. He cussed the Bears up one side and down the other. But just as he was winding up his blast, one of our players yelled for him to stop.

"Hey, coach," the guy said, 'there's a microphone taped Sure enough, that Halas had bugged our room and siped Hamp's pep talk into the Bears' dressing room. Man, those Bears came out fighting mad that day. But Papa Bear saves his best shots for the field.

"Wrigley Field, you know, is primarily for baseball and it has a gentle, but definite slope. If you don't know which team always travels uphill in the first quarter, you haven't been listening to me at all.

"After you warm up, you have to fight for a seat on the bench. You see, Halas sells seats to rabid Bear fans right on the visitors' bench. These customers amuse themselves by throwing snowballs or popping peanut and popcorn sacks behind our backs.

"But the real crusher is the one official who always seems to work our games in Chicago, a thap named Fred Downs. I have heard that Downs is, by marriage, a relative of Halas'. I believe it. "Somehow the Bears always seem to win the coin flip and on their first scrimmage play they invariably throw down and out to Harlon Hill. "Hill always manages to make the sidelines and keep his feet until some Ram clobbers him. But Downs always blows his whistle as our tackler is flying through the air. It's an immediate 'unnecessary roughness' penalty and if we gripe about it, it's 15 more for delaying the game. "Usually, by halftime, we're

his speedy Ole Miss teammates ran and passed the Rebels to a smashing 33-0 victory over Vanderbilt in a Southeastern Conference football game Saturday night.

The victory retained the undefeated-unscored on status of fifth-ranked Mississippi, which now has won four games in a row this fall and compiled 108 points. The Rebels scored in every quarter.

Vanderbilt came within three yards of scoring late in the fourth period, but the rugged Rebel line rose up and took the ball on downs at the three.

Fullback Charlie Flowers, Gibbs and George Blair ripped the Vanderbilt line and flanks consistently, while the stubborn Rebel defense kept Vanderbilt on its own ide of the 50-vard-line until late in the same.

Wills Is Real Loner Among Dodgers CHICAGO-On arrival here, I was told that Maury

Wills had not stayed around for the Dodgers' victory party Thursday night. Instead, he had grabbed the first plane in the direction of Spokane.

There is something baffling about this very key Dodger being a loner. On the road, I'm told, he never takes the recovered a fumble in the bus to the ballpark with the rest of the players. He rides by fourth period Saturday which himself in a cab.

After Monday's game in the Coliseum, Wills was heard gish Wolverines to an 18-7 angrily threatening to beat Charlie Neal's brains out after the Series was over-or stone combination in baseball. Wills especially made Apaicio look like a 270-pound tackle. Earlier in the week at the Coliseum, Wills had three unbelievable plays behind the mound in a single game.

Whether Maury's feed issolely with Neal, I don't as yet know. However, the fact that he prefers riding alone would seem to indicate he is somewhat of an outsider, in general.

MAURY WILLS

Feuding With Neal

You can talk about Wills and Sherry and Neal and the steady Gilliam, or the comeback of old pros Hodges and Shider, or the sometimes brilliant Drysdale, or the clutch guy Craig—a lot of them. But if you had to pick one Dodger who contributed something, consistently, every single day to make him most valuable, who would your choice be? Driving much the same way It's not tough. His last name rhymes with "spoon."

WHAT IS TOUGH TO UNDERSTAND is the decision march, the Wolverines of the Legion Board to ruin their wonderful boxing club, and shell out a couple of hundred Gs to convert it to a bowling alley. Where the Legion is located, you don't exactly have a flow of traffic, either on foot or by car.

Interest in Football Dwindling

In past years, the Southern California sports public was regarded as the most football-minded group of fans in the country.

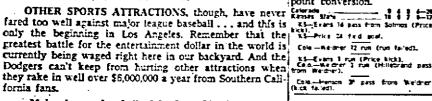

No other stadium in the country presents more major football attractions each year than the Coliseum, but the interest of previous seasons has been lacking.

It was the large crowds that first attracted the attention of baseball's Walter O'Malley, and now it's O'Malley's Dodgers who are cutting in

Of course, this is an exceptional year due to the Dodgers' sweep to the world championship . . . but there will be others just like it. SC and UCLA got a taste of what was in store for them in the future by the slim attendance at the three intersectional struggles in the Coliseum during the past three weeks.
